Administration, submitted the following

R E P O R T

[To accompany H. Res. 989]

The Committee on House Administration, having had under consideration an original resolution dismissing the election contest relating to the office of Representative from the Thirteenth Congressional District of Florida, reports the same to the House of the recommendation that the resolution be agreed to.

COMMITTEE ACTION

On February 12, 2008, by unanimous voice vote, a quorum being present, the Committee agreed to a motion to report the resolution favorably to the House.

COMMITTEE OVERSIGHT FINDINGS

In compliance with clause 3(c)(1) of rule XIII of the Rules of the House of Representatives, the Committee states that the findings and recommendations of the Committee, based on oversight activities under clause 2(b)(1) of rule X of the Rules of the House of Representatives, are incorporated in the descriptive portions of this report.

STATEMENT ON BUDGET AUTHORITY AND RELATED ITEMS

The resolution does not provide new budget authority, new spending authority, new credit authority or an increase or decrease in revenues or tax expenditures. Thus, clause 3(c)(2) of rule XIII of the Rules of the House of Representatives and the provisions of section 308(a)(1) of the Congressional Budget Act of 1974 are not applicable.

TASK FORCE ON THE CONTESTED ELECTION

Pursuant to Rule 16(b) of the Rules of Procedure of the Committee on House Administration, the Honorable Juanita Millender-McDonald, Chairwoman of the Committee, established a task Force on March 22, 2007 to oversee matters related to the election of a Representative from the 13th Congressional District of Florida to the House of Representatives and to recommend to the Committee the final disposition of the election contest filed by Christine Jennings (“Contestant” against Vern Buchanan (“Contestee”) pursuant to the Federal Contested Elections Act (FCEA), 2 U.S.C. §§ 381–396.

STATEMENT OF FACTS

Introduction

This report relates to the election contest concerning the 2006 general election for the House of Representatives seat for the 13th Congressional District of Florida. This election contest arises under the United States Constitution, Article I, § 5, and is brought pursuant to the FCEA, 2 U.S.C. §§ 381–396. The House of Representatives has the express and final authority to judge the elections and returns of its own Members.¹

2006 General Election for the 13th Congressional District of Florida

On November 7, 2006, Republican Vern Buchanan and Democrat Christine Jennings competed in the general election to represent the open seat for the 13th Congressional District of Florida (“District-13”).² Of the 238,249 votes cast, Contestant received 118,737 votes and Contestee received 119,105, a 368-vote margin of victory.³ Pursuant to Florida law, the Florida Elections Canvassing Commission ordered a recount to verify the small margin of victory.⁴ Following the recount, on November 20, 2006, the Elections Canvassing Commission certified 119,309 votes for Contestee and 118,940 votes for Contestant, with Contestee prevailing by 369 votes.⁵

The election results, however, were controversial, as Sarasota County reported an almost 15% undervote, an unusually high number of undervotes compared to other counties in the District. Of the 123,901 ballots cast in Sarasota County, 18,000 did not show a vote cast for the District-13 race.

Proceedings Involving Florida Secretary of State’s Office

On November 9, 2006, the Florida Secretary of State directed the Florida Division of Elections, Bureau of Voting Systems Certification to conduct an audit of Sarasota County’s voting system and election procedures to assure that the voting system used in Sarasota County was not responsible for the unusually high number in the Congressional race in the county. On November 28, 2006, Florida's audit team commenced two parallel tests on the Election Systems & Software (ES&S) iVotronic touch screen voting systems. These parallel tests were designed to simulate mini-elections on five voting systems to test Election Day vote totals cast on the machines and assess whether the undervote count observed during the District-13 race could be replicated. On December 15, 2007, pursuant to the Florida Secretary of State's request, Florida State University's Security Analysis in Information Technology (SAIT) Laboratory conducted a software review and security analysis of the ES&S iVotronic firmware. The final audit report released by the Florida Department of State on February 23, 2007 found no evidence to suggest or conclude that the official certified election results did not reflect the actual votes cast.⁶

Proceedings Involving Florida's Courts

On November 20, 2006, Contestant filed a contested election suit in Florida's Circuit Court for the Second Judicial Circuit.⁷ Contestant argued that Florida's certified vote totals excluded thousands of legal votes that were cast in Sarasota County due to malfunctioning electronic voting machines.⁸ Contestant subsequently requested access to the ES&S hardware and software in possession of the state and county to test whether the iVotronic voting system in fact malfunctioned and caused the undervotes.⁹ The state, county, and ES&S defendants jointly objected to Contestant's production request, arguing that these materials were trade secrets belonging to ES&S.¹⁰ In addition to the defendants' objections, ES&S requested an evidentiary hearing to determine the necessity of Contestant's request for the hardware, software, and source code. Judge William Gary granted ES&S's request and held an evidentiary hearing on December 19 and 20, 2006. On December 29, 2006, Judge Gary issued an order denying Jennings access to the ES&S hardware and software.

On January 3, 2007, Contestant filed an emergency motion in Florida's First District Court of Appeal to expedite proceedings and appeal of the trial court's ruling. On January 24, 2007, the appellate court granted Contestant's motion to expedite. On June 18, 2007, the First District of Appeal denied the Contestant's motion to compel discovery and access to proprietary information, including voting machine source code technology. No further action was taken by the courts or the parties over the following five months, and the Contestant withdrew her challenge in the Florida courts on November 26, 2007.

Proceedings before the Committee on House Administration

On December 20, 2006, in addition to her state court suit, Contestant filed a Notice of Contest with the House of Representatives under the FCEA¹¹ and pursuant to the authority vested in the House by the U.S. Constitution.¹² On January 4, 2007, the late Committee on House Administration Chairwoman Millender-McDonald wrote to the appellate court to express concern whether the State's proceedings regarding access to evidence that could resolve the contested election matter at the State level would facilitate resolution of the election contest proceedings pending before the House.¹³ A complete record, she opined, would facilitate the House's consideration of the pending contest.

On January 4, 2007, Contestee was sworn in as a Member of the One Hundred and Tenth Congress. On January 19, 2007, Contestee filed a Motion to Dismiss in which he argued that the Contestant's case was based upon nothing more than conjecture and speculation. In support of his characterization of the contest, Contestee pointed out that the State of Florida conducted an audit of the voting systems in Sarasota County and found that they operated properly.¹⁴

On January 22, 2007, Chairwoman Millender-McDonald requested that Sarasota County Supervisor of Elections Kathy Dent preserve all materials utilized in conjunction with the Federal general election held on November 7, 2006.¹⁵ On January 26, 2007, Sarasota County replied that it needed to deploy approximately 800 of the 1,600 voting machines used in the November 2006 general election for its March 2007 municipal election.¹⁶ On February 7, 2007, Chairwoman Millender-McDonald, relying on expert advice that testing all the machines would be unnecessary in determining whether the machines were responsible for the undervote, and the County reached a compromise wherein the county could deploy 800 voting machines for use in the March election.¹⁷

On March 23, 2007, Chairwoman Millender-McDonald established a three member Task Force to oversee matters relating to the District-13 election contest. For the Majority, Chairwoman Millender-McDonald appointed Representative Charles Gonzalez as Chair and Representative Zoe Lofgren as a member of the Task Force. On April 16, 2007, Ranking Member Vernon Ehlers recommended Representative Kevin McCarthy to serve as the Minority member of the Task Force. Shortly after Chairwoman Millender-McDonald's passing on April 22, 2007, the then-acting Chairman, Representative Robert Brady, appointed Representative Kevin McCarthy to serve as the Minority Task Force member on April 25, 2007.

The Task Force first met on May 2, 2007, when it unanimously voted to retain the Government Accountability Office (GAO) to investigate whether the voting machines used in Sarasota County contributed to the unusually high number of undervotes. The GAO was also asked to evaluate and recommend whether additional testing was needed to establish whether the voting machines contributed to the undervote.¹⁸

On June 14, 2007, the Task Force unanimously approved the GAO's Engagement Plan, which detailed its scope of work and approach to determine to what extent the voting machines used in Sarasota County could have contributed to the large undervote and ascertain whether additional testing was needed to determine whether machine malfunction contributed to the undervote.¹⁹ The Task Force also agreed that Chairman Gonzalez would transmit the GAO Engagement Plan to both parties to the contest and provide them seven days to comment on the plan. The parties were asked to address central questions relating to the adequacy or inadequacy of prior testing of the electronic voting machines, whether additional tests were needed, and provide suggested testing protocols in the event that additional testing was required.²⁰ Further, the Task Force agreed that Chairman Gonzalez should notify all individuals, offices, and entities identified in the GAO plan that the Task Force sought their full, prompt, and voluntary cooperation with the GAO.²¹

On June 27, 2007, before the GAO completed its Engagement Plan, Representative Kevin McCarthy wrote to Chairman Gonzalez regarding media reports, one of which urged Contestant to consider conceding the election.²² Representative McCarthy requested that the Task Force prepare a contingency plan to resolve the election contest in the event that Contestant opted to concede the race to Contestee. On June 28, 2007, Chairman Gonzalez informed Representative McCarthy that the Task Force would not entertain a contingency plan to end the contested election proceedings based bare speculation regarding the Contestant's future intentions.²³

On August 3, 2007, at a public meeting of the Task Force, the GAO provided a status report on the progress of its Engagement Plan. The GAO testified that it had been analyzing ballot results and reviewing existing testing efforts such as the Florida election audit. The GAO also offered its preliminary observations of the Florida parallel test, source code review, and audit of the Sarasota County voting systems.²⁴

On October 2, 2007, the GAO stated that further testing could provide increased assurance that the voting systems did not cause the undervotes in Florida's Thirteenth Congressional District.²⁵ During its analysis, GAO found that, while prior testing and reviews by the State of Florida and Sarasota County provided some degree of assurance that certain components of the voting systems in Sarasota County functioned correctly, such testing and reviews were not sufficient to provide adequate assurance that the voting systems did not contribute to the undervotes. Following GAO's testimony, the Task Force unanimously authorized GAO to conduct its recommended testing on the Sarasota County voting systems.

On February 8, 2008, GAO provided the Task Force with the results from the additional testing it conducted on the firmware, ballot, and calibration of the iVotronic touch screen voting machines.²⁶ GAO concluded that the voting systems used in Sarasota County did not contribute to the undervote and further testing was not necessary. GAO also acknowledged that ballot design or voter confusion or apathy in the race could have contributed to the 18,000 undervotes. Following the GAO testimony the Task Force unanimously moved to report to the Committee on House Administration that the election contest in District-13 be dismissed.

On February 12, 2008, the Committee on House Administration met to consider the recommendation of the Task Force for the District-13 election contest. During this meeting, the Committee unanimously voted to report favorably to the House an original resolution to dismiss the election contest.²⁷

BASIS OF CONTEST

In support of her Notice of Contest, the contestant alleged the following grounds for contesting the election: first, she dismissed the reliability of Florida's recount audit, arguing that merely "recounting" electronic ballots (unlike paper ballots) is inevitably a meaningless exercise because the manual "recount" consists simply of printing out the ballot-image reports from the alleged malfunctioning iVotronic systems and counting by hand the ballot images that recorded no choice for the congressional race in question.²⁸ As anticipated, neither the machine nor the manual recount altered or explained the number of congressional undervotes recorded on the iVotronic touch screen voting system in Sarasota County.

Contestant also argued that the undervote total for the congressional race in Sarasota County was abnormal in several respects. The undervote rate on Election Day was 13.9% of the ballots cast on electronic voting machines, and the undervote rate during the early-voting process was 17.6% of the ballots cast on electronic machines. By contrast, of the 22,613 votes cast in this race by paper absentee ballot in Sarasota County, there were just 566 undervotes recorded—an undervote rate of only 2.5%. In addition, the percentage of undervotes for the District-13 race in Sarasota County was disproportionately higher than other counties within District-13. The undervote rate for the race was 2.5% in Charlotte County, 2.1% in DeSoto County, 5.8% in Hardee County, and 2.4% in Manatee County. Finally, the percentage of undervotes recorded on electronic voting machines in Sarasota County in 2006 for the congressional race was almost seven times the rate of undervotes for District-13 in the last midterm election (2002), which was 2.2%. Contestant argued that this statistical evidence alone indicated that the large number of undervotes in Sarasota must be attributable to a malfunction of the iVotronic touch screen voting system.

In addition to this statistical evidence, Contestant also submitted as evidence in support of her Notice of Contest affidavits memorializing the eyewitness accounts of hundreds of Sarasota County voters attesting to their difficulties in attempting to cast a vote for Contestant during early voting and on Election Day on the iVotronic touch screen voting system in Sarasota County.²⁹ She also cited numerous contemporaneous official “Incident Report Forms” filed with the Sarasota County Supervisor of Elections documenting widespread occurrences of voters having difficulty getting the iVotronic machines to record votes in the District-13 race.

Finally, Contestant cited a statistical analysis conducted by Professor Charles Stewart III, the chair of the Political Science Department at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology (MIT), to argue that failure of the iVotronic touch screen voting system adversely affected the outcome of the District-13 race. Based on his study of patterns in the undervote rates for other statewide or countywide races in Sarasota County, Professor Stewart estimated that the number of “excess” undervotes caused by the use of the iVotronic machines in Sarasota County was approximately 14,000.³⁰ Using the ballot-image logs for every individual ballot cast electronically in the Sarasota County November 2006 general election—and studying voters’ preferences not only for the congressional race but also for the statewide races for U.S. Senator, Governor, Attorney General, Chief Financial Officer, and Agriculture Commissioner—Professor Stewart estimated that the voters whose congressional ballots were recorded as undervotes likely supported Contestant over Contestee by a margin of approximately 63% to 37%. Accordingly, Professor Stewart postulated that if the 14,000 congressional undervotes had actually been properly recorded and tallied, Contestant would have won the election by more than 3,000 votes—well in excess of the race’s 369-vote margin of victory. Professor Stewart also postulated that even if the machine malfunction caused only 1,500 “excess” undervotes—or less than 10% of the total congressional undervotes reported—proper tabulation of those 1,500 congressional ballots could have reversed the outcome of the election.

STANDING, TIMING, AND NOTICE

To have standing under the FCEA, a contestant must have been a candidate for election to the House of Representatives in the last preceding election and claim a right to the contestant's seat.³¹ Jennings was the Democratic nominee and her name appeared as a candidate for the District-13 of the official ballot for the November 7, 2006 election, thereby satisfying the standing requirement. The Notice of Contest was served upon Contestee and filed within the prescribed time periods of the FCEA.

RESPONSE BY CONTESTEE

On January 19, 2007, Contestee filed a Motion to Dismiss with the Clerk of the House, in which Contestee argued that the Contestant's contest be dismissed because Contestant: (1) failed to provide credible evidence sufficient to alter the result of the election; and (2) failed to credibly make a claim of right to Contestee's congressional seat.

In support of his Motion to Dismiss, Contestee argued that his certification by the State of Florida as the winner of the District-13 election constitutes prima facie evidence that the election was conducted correctly and must be afforded a strong presumption of legality and correctness. He argued that the iVotronic touch-screen voting system challenged by Contestant and her experts was tested as required by Florida law prior to the early voting period and Election Day and was found by the State to be working properly. He noted that the State of Florida conducted post-election parallel testing, which concluded that the iVotronic touch screen machines demonstrated 100% accuracy in recording vote selections and "there is no evidence to support the position that the iVotronic touch screens caused votes to be lost."³² Contestee also noted that during post-election litigation a Florida circuit court conducted a thorough review of Contestant's evidence and experts' opinions and concluded that the "testimony of [Jennings'] experts was nothing more than conjecture and not supported by credible evidence."³³

Contestee also argued that Contestant, in her Notice of Contest, failed to provide necessary evidence that: (1) the intent of any single voter was frustrated; (2) any individual voter was unable to cast a vote for her; or (3) a single vote was cast for her but not counted. Contestee argued that the lack of such evidence demonstrated that Contestant could not meet the high burden required to proceed with the Contest or invalidate a certified election.

STANDARD FOR GRANTING MOTION TO DISMISS

The House of Representatives has the Constitutionally vested power to judge its own elections.³⁴ The FCEA sets forth procedures under which a contestant may bring a contest to the House of Representatives. Under the FCEA, it is not sufficient for a contestant merely to allege irregularities or fraud in an election. The contestant must claim a right to the office.³⁵ The contestant must support the claim with specific credible allegations of irregularity or fraud that, if proven true, would entitle the contestant to the office.³⁶ Unless a contestant credibly claims in his or her Notice of Contest a right to the office, the House of Representatives will dismiss the contest.³⁷

ANALYSIS

At its first meeting on May 2, 2007, the Task Force had before it the pleadings filed by Contestant, her Notice of Contest Regarding the Election for Representative in the One Hundred Tenth Congress from Florida's Thirteenth Congressional District ("District"), and Contestee's Motion to Dismiss Election Contest. By voice vote, the Task Force initiated an investigation of the District-13 election.³⁸

Under the Committee on House Administration's investigative authority to develop evidence needed to consider a contested election,³⁹ Task Force Chairman Charles Gonzalez secured the assistance of the GAO in connection with the technical analysis of the voting equipment used in Sarasota County. Specifically, the Task Force asked the GAO to review the existing testing and evaluation conducted by Sarasota County, the State of Florida, and the manufacturers of the voting equipment. The review was to include opinions and recommendations of Contestant and Contestee as to the adequacy or inadequacy of the testing performed to date.⁴⁰ Additionally, the GAO was to review the pleadings and supporting documents filed in the contest, and if needed, design, propose, and implement testing protocols to determine the reliability of the voting equipment used.

On June 14, 2007, the GAO presented its plan to review the voting equipment used in the District during the 2006 general election.⁴¹ The high-level objective of the plan, as unanimously approved by the Task Force, was to determine the extent to which the iVotronic voting machines could have contributed to the large undervote in Sarasota County, and to ascertain whether additional testing might be needed. Though the District includes five counties, because Contestant's claims and the Florida State audit focused solely on Sarasota County, the Task Force limited GAO's scope of review to Sarasota County.

During the period June 14, 2007–October 2, 2007, the GAO met with officials from the Office of the Sarasota County Supervisor of Elections, the Florida Department of State and Division of Elections, and ES&S. From its analysis of the prior tests and reviews conducted by the State of Florida and Sarasota County, the GAO found that certain components of the iVotronic touch screen voting systems in Sarasota functioned correctly and that reasonable assurance of some voting system objectives had been achieved, but these tests and reviews were not enough to provide reasonable assurance that the iVotronic voting systems did not contribute to the undervote.

The GAO indicated that the prior tests and reviews of Sarasota County's iVotronic voting systems had some shortcomings. First, the GAO indicated that "reasonable assurance" that all the iVotronic voting systems used in the 2006 general election used software certified by the Florida Division of Elections was lacking. Second, the ability of voters to make selections in different ways on the iVotronic voting systems and ensure their votes were properly recorded had not been fully tested. Finally, the GAO indicated that prior testing did not provide a clear understanding of whether a miscalibrated machine would have contributed to the undervote. On the basis of GAO's analysis of all prior tests and audit activities conducted on the iVotronic touch screen voting systems in Sarasota County, the Task Force unanimously approved on October 2, 2007, that the GAO should conduct: (1) further firmware testing to verify that the firmware in the iVotronic voting systems used in the Sarasota County machines matched the certified version;(2) ballot testing of the iVotronic voting systems to confirm correct operation; and (3) calibration testing of the iVotronic to understand the effect on the undervote.

During the period November 27–December 4, 2007, the GAO conducted additional testing on the iVotronic touch screen voting system used in Sarasota County. The GAO delivered its report on the process and results of the additional testing to the Task Force at a public hearing on February 8, 2008.

To conduct its tests, the GAO developed test protocols and detailed test procedures, fully outlined in its report and appendices. The GAO met with officials from the Sarasota County Supervisor of Elections, the Florida Department of State and Division of Elections, and ES&S to obtain necessary details about the voting systems and prior tests to document the testing procedures. The GAO also reviewed voting system documentation to develop its testing approach and procedures. To ensure that the certified firmware held in escrow by the Florida Division of Elections corresponded to the source code that was reviewed by a team from Florida State University and the GAO, on November 19, 2007, the GAO visited the ES&S development facility in Rockford, Illinois, and witnessed the rebuild of the firmware from the escrowed source code.

In conducting its firmware verification test, GAO extracted the firmware from a random probability sample of 115 iVotronic touch screen voting systems out of the 1,499 used in Sarasota County's 2006 general election and found that each machine's firmware matched the certified version of firmware held in escrow by the Florida Division of Elections. Based on this statistical approach, the GAO was able to determine with a "99 percent confidence level" that at least 1,439 of the 1,499 machines used the same firmware that was certified by the Florida Division of Elections. Consequently, the GAO reported to the Task Force that it had more confidence in the results of previous source code reviews conducted by itself and Florida State University, which had indicated that the iVotronic touch screen voting system did not cause the recorded undervotes.

For the ballot test, the GAO cast predefined test ballots on 10 iVotronic machines and confirmed that each ballot was displayed and recorded accurately. The test ballots represented 112 common ways a voter may have interacted with the iVotronic system to select a candidate in the District-13 race and cast a ballot. These tests were performed on nine machines configured as election-day machines and then repeated on one machine configured as an early voting machine.

The GAO finally conducted the calibration test by miscalibrating two iVotronic touch-screen voting machines and casting ballots on them to validate that the machines recorded the information that was displayed on the touch screens. The GAO reported to the Task Force that its tests, involving a total of 10 different miscalibration patterns and capturing 39 ballots, indicated that the machines correctly displayed the selection in the District-13 race on the review screen and correctly recorded the ballot. The GAO further reported that, while the miscalibrated machines were more difficult to use, the selections shown on the screen were the same selections captured by the machine when the ballot was cast.

Based on the results of these tests, the GAO advised the Task Force that it has obtained increased assurance that the iVotronic touch screen voting system used in Sarasota's 2006 general election did not contribute to the large undervote in the District-13 contest. The GAO explained that although absolute assurance is not possible to achieve, since it is unable to completely recreate the conditions of the election during which the undervote occurred, it believes that these test results, combined with the other testing conducted by the State of Florida, statistically eliminate the possibility that the iVotronic touch-screen voting system was the cause of the undervote. The GAO further advised that adequate testing had been performed on the iVotronic system for it to have reached this conclusion, and the GAO did not recommend any additional testing. The GAO did acknowledge that, given the complex interaction of people, processes and technology that must work effectively together to achieve a successful election, there remains a possibility that the large undervote in District-13 could have been caused by either intentional or unintentional factors, such as voters intentionally declining to cast a vote, or voters having difficulty with the ballot layout. Additionally, statistical analysis and theories, including one that attempted to determine voter intent by reviewing other voter selections, failed to provide evidentiary support that would justify the Task Force overturning the election results in light of the machine testing results.

CONCLUSION

Contestant's contest was premised on the allegation that thousands of legal votes cast in Sarasota were not counted due to pervasive malfunctioning of the iVotronic touch screen voting system. On June 14, 2007, the Task Force unanimously authorized the GAO to proceed with its Engagement Plan to test whether these voting machines contributed to the undervote, and on February 8, 2008, the GAO reported that the results of these tests did not identify any problems that would indicate the iVotronic touch screen voting system was responsible for the undervote.

It is the Constitutional duty of the House of Representatives to investigate a valid election contest, yet only clear and convincing evidence can provide the basis to overcome the presumption of the regularity accorded a State's certified results. Absent such evidence, Florida's certification of the election results in the Thirteenth Congressional District must be confirmed by this House. For the foregoing reasons, and based on the recommendations of the Task Force, the Committee concludes that the contest should be dismissed.

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

The Committee acknowledges with appreciation the thorough effort of the GAO in helping to conduct the District-13 investigation and the House Recording Studio under the Chief Administrative Officer for providing assistance with the video recording of the GAO testing conducted in Florida.

Before me personally appeared, Margaret J. Jacobson, who after being duly sworn,
deposes, and says:

1. My name is Margaret J. Jacobson and I have personal knowledge of the matters set forth herein.
2. My date of birth is May 14, 1935. I am over eighteen (18) years of age and otherwise competent.
3. I am a qualified elector of the state of Florida residing at 4535 Citation Lane, Sarasota, Florida 34233.
4. I voted at Gulf Gate Library during the Early Voting period on or about the week of October 29, 2006.
5. My intent was to cast a ballot for Christine Jennings for United States Congress, Florida District 13.

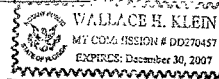

6. When I went to the voting booth, I did not receive any specific warnings about problems with the ballot. I went through the ballot on the touch screen voting machine using my finger to make my selections. After I went through the ballot and went to the review screen, the screen indicated that I had not cast a vote in the 13th Congressional District race between Vern Buchanan and Christine Jennings. I was surprised because I thought I had cast my vote for Christine Jennings. I then paged back to the screen with the Buchanan / Jennings race and made my selection for Christine Jennings. To the best of my recollection, her name then appeared on the review screen when I checked it a second time. I then cast my ballot. I mentioned this problem to my husband who was waiting for me outside the polling station.

AFFIDAVIT OF TOUCH SCREEN VOTING INCIDENT

STATE OF FLORIDA
COUNTY OF SARASOTA

BEFORE ME, the undersigned authority, this day personally appeared Dennis J. Plews, who, being first duly sworn, deposes and says:

1. That he is an attorney-at-law duly qualified to practice in all Courts of the State of Florida and that he maintains an office and practices law in Sarasota County, Florida.
2. That he is a duly qualified elector of the State of Florida,
3. I voted at the main Sarasota Supervisor of Elections office in the Terrace building late in the early voting period (Thursday or Friday). I was not given any notice that any problem was being encountered with the ballot. As I have worked vigorously to get Ms. Jennings elected, I was looking for her race in particular so as to be sure that I cast my ballot for her, as well as for the remaining Democrat candidates and the several ballot initiatives, particularly the SAFE initiative. I carefully read each ballot language for each race to be sure that the vote I cast was correctly displayed. When I got to the summary page a warning flashed on the screen advising that I had failed to cast a vote in the Congressional race! That struck me as odd as I was sure that I had in fact voted for the woman whom I have been supporting in the last two congressional elections. I went back to that race and again touched the screen to register my selection and saw that the Jennings box was duly marked. I then went on to review the summary sheet again, saw that it reflected my actual votes, and then pushed the red, flashing VOTE button. As I picked up my "I Voted" sticker one of the poll workers, a man, mentioned something about the process being secure to which I replied to the effect that I hoped so.

2. My date of birth is 12-17-38. I am over eighteen (18) years of age and otherwise competent.
3. I am a qualified elector of the state of Florida residing at 2604 Monterey St, Sarasota, FL 34231.
4. I voted at Precinct # 59 Incarnation Church, on or about November 7 – between 11:00 am and 2:00 pm
5. My intent was to cast a ballot for Christine Jennings for United States Congress, Florida District 13.

I voted with a punch book ballot. I noticed that some pages stuck together and I had to go back to the skipped pages. The page skipped was the Christine Jennings page. I then voted for Christine and everything appeared alright. I didn't think too much about it until I read about the voting problems in the Jennings/Buchanan race. I voted a straight Democratic ticket.

4. I voted early at Sarasota County Elections office on or about Sunday, November 5th.
5. My intent was to cast a ballot for Christine Jennings for United States Congress, Florida District 13.

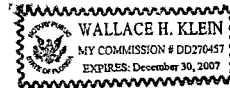

6. My husband and I went in to the polling place together to vote. I was told by an elections official to be careful that my vote registered on the screen. I went to vote on the iVotronics touch screen machine intending to vote for Christine Jennings. This race was especially important to me and I paid careful attention to mark my ballot for her. However when I reached the review screen the first time, my vote was not recorded. I went back to the Congressional race and voted again. The second time, the review page reflected my vote. I have worked with computers for years as a credit union employee. I did not report the malfunction to elections officials at the time because I thought it may have just been me.

4. I voted early at the corner of Ringling and Washington on or about October 30th or 31st.
5. My intent was to cast a ballot for Christine Jennings for United States Congress, Florida District 13.

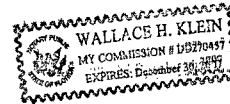

6. I voted early with my husband. It was quiet that day, I only had to wait for one person to finish voting before I was able to vote. I remember voting on the iVotronics touch screen voting machine and remember that it was a long ballot. I went through the races, voting for all the top ballot races. I did consciously skip over some of the down ballot races, for example the judges. When I left the polling place, I explained to my husband that I had not seen the congressional race on machine. That I had not seen the race was troubling because I was very conscious of the race and knew who I wanted to vote for going into the polling place. If the race had been on my machine, I am sure I would have seen it.

5. My intent was to cast a ballot for Christine Jennings for United States Congress, Florida District 13.
6. When I voted on the ivotronics touch screen voting machine I touched the screen for Christine Jennings and it showed I voted for Christine Jennings. But when I reviewed the summary page at the end of the ballot, it did not show a vote for Christine Jennings. I returned to the screen for Congressional race, revoted for Christine Jennings, again confirmed that the "X" appeared in the box; but when I scrolled to the Summary page, for a second time the vote did not register. I called a pollworker to ask how I should proceed with my vote for Jennings. He put an X by Jennings' name and said "There – not to worry, this has happened before". We then reviewed the ballot again and all was recorded and I had voted. I know that I voted for Christine Jennings on the original ballot – for sure. Florida District 13.

6. When I voted on the ivotronics touch screen voting machine, the following occurred: I arrived at my precinct around 6:45 pm, and began the voting process around 6:50 pm. I scrolled through a number of screens and finally reached the final review screen. A little red x started to flash indicating I had not cast a vote in the congressional race and asking me if I wanted to cast that vote. I was rather puzzled as that was the primary reason I had gone to the polls. Both names then came up on the screen and I voted for Christine Jennings, and pushed the vote button. My ballot was accepted. I am currently employed as a high school teacher at Sarasota Military Academy and have my own website at that school which I update daily. I am highly computer literate and am currently pursuing a master's degree.

Before me personally appeared JORGE F. HERNANDEZ who, after being duly sworn, deposes and states as follows:

1. My name is Jorge F. Hernandez, and I have personal knowledge of the facts set forth herein.

2. I am over the age of eighteen (18), and I am otherwise competent to testify.

3. I am employed in the customer service department at Publix supermarket. My job requires me to work with computer systems. I have a home computer and work on that one as well.

4. I am a qualified elector of the state of Florida, and my current residential address is: 3072 Eden Mills Drive, Sarasota, Florida 34237.

5. I went to vote on November 7, 2006 at my Precinct #37 located at the Fellowship of Believers.

6. I was particularly interested in the race for the 13th Congressional District because I was unhappy with the way in which Mr. Buchanan conducted himself during the campaign. This was the race that I cared most about. I discussed the matter with my wife. Both of us intended to vote for Christine Jennings.

7. I was taken to an iVotronic touch screen voting machine to cast my ballot. When the race for the 13th Congressional District appeared on the voting machine, I pressed the touch screen for my choice Christine Jennings.

8. When I selected Christine Jennings by pressing her name on the machine, an "X" appeared in the box beside of her name indicating the voting machine recognized my selection.

9. I was in a hurry to get to work, and after I completed making my selections on my touch-screen ballot, I quickly reviewed the summary review screen. I glanced at the machine and almost missed the error, but much to my dismay the voting machine indicated that there had been no selection made for the Jennings/Buchanan race, despite the fact that an "X" had appeared beside of Christine Jennings' name after I had selected her as my choice.

10. I was extremely alarmed that the voting machine did not accurately record my vote. I asked a poll worker to come over. The poll worker told me that I had to go back and select Christine Jennings again. I told the poll worker, that I had already selected Christine Jennings. She told me that I would have to do it a second time. I did go back and select Christine Jennings a second time. Once again an "X" was placed in the box beside of Christine Jennings' name on my electronic ballot. When I got to the review screen this second time, it reflected my selection for Christine Jennings for Congress.

11. During the day, I learned that the very same thing happened to my wife, Connie Hernandez, when she tried to vote for Christine Jennings at the same precinct.

12. I am shocked and upset about the failure of the electronic voting machine to accurately reflect my choice. I was in a hurry and could have missed the error on the voting machine summary. I am extremely concerned that others who selected Christine Jennings and saw that the machine reflected an "X" in the box beside of her name may have assumed the summary would also reflect the voter's choice. This experience has led me to conclude that the machine did not accept the vote for Christine Jennings on the first attempt even though an "X" had appeared in the box beside of her name at the time of my initial selection. Unfortunately, many other voters may not have noticed that their selections were not properly recorded by the voting machine the first time. Voters should not have to press the candidate of their choice more than once in order to have their ballots accurately reflect their choices. The votes should be accepted by the machine on the first attempt, especially where the "X" appears beside of the candidate's name indicating the machine has recognized the voter's selection.

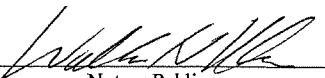

13. No poll worker warned me that there was a problem with the voting machines prior to voting. I am glad that I caught the error, but I am equally concerned that others would not have.

BEFORE ME, the undersigned authority, this day personally appeared Dennis J. Plews, who, being first duly sworn, deposes and says:

1. That he is an attorney-at-law duly qualified to practice in all Courts of the State of - Florida and that he maintains an office and practices law in Sarasota County, Florida.
2. That he is a duly qualified elector of the State of Florida,
3. I voted at the main Sarasota Supervisor of Elections office in the Terrace building late in the early voting period (Thursday or Friday). I was not given any notice that any problem was being encountered with the ballot. As I have worked vigorously to get Ms. Jennings elected, I was looking for her race in particular so as to be sure that I cast my ballot for her, as well as for the remaining Democrat candidates and the several ballot initiatives, particularly the SAFE initiative. I carefully read each ballot language for each race to be sure that the vote I cast was correctly displayed. When I got to the summary page a warning flashed on the screen advising that I had failed to cast a vote in the Congressional race! That struck me as odd as I was sure that I had in fact voted for the woman whom I have been supporting in the last two congressional elections. I went back to that race and again touched the screen to register my selection and saw that the Jennings box was duly marked. I then went on to review the summary sheet again, saw that it reflected my actual votes, and then pushed the red, flashing VOTE button. As I picked up my "I Voted" sticker one of the poll workers, a man, mentioned something about the process being secure to which I replied to the effect that I hoped so.

4. I voted at Precinct # 59 Incarnation Church, on or about November 7 – between 11:00 am and 2:00 pm
5. My intent was to cast a ballot for Christine Jennings for United States Congress, Florida District 13.

I voted with a punch book ballot. I noticed that some pages stuck together and I had to go back to the skipped pages. The page skipped was the Christine Jennings page. I then voted for Christine and everything appeared alright. I didn't think too much about it until I read about the voting problems in the Jennings/Buchanan race. I voted a straight Democratic ticket.

5. My intent was to cast a ballot for Christine Jennings for United States Congress, Florida District 13.
6. My husband and I went in to the polling place together to vote. I was told by an elections official to be careful that my vote registered on the screen. I went to vote on the iVotronics touch screen machine intending to vote for Christine Jennings. This race was especially important to me and I paid careful attention to mark my ballot for her. However when I reached the review screen the first time, my vote was not recorded. I went back to the Congressional race and voted again. The second time, the review page reflected my vote. I have worked with computers for years as a credit union employee. I did not report the malfunction to elections officials at the time because I thought it may have just been me.

5. My intent was to cast a ballot for Christine Jennings for United States Congress, Florida District 13.
6. I voted early with my husband. It was quiet that day, I only had to wait for one person to finish voting before I was able to vote. I remember voting on the iVotronics touch screen voting machine and remember that it was a long ballot. I went through the races, voting for all the top ballot races. I did consciously skip over some of the down ballot races, for example the judges. When I left the polling place, I explained to my husband that I had not seen the congressional race on machine. That I had not seen the race was troubling because I was very conscious of the race and knew who I wanted to vote for going into the polling place. If the race had been on my machine, I am sure I would have seen it.

Before me personally appeared JORGE F. HERNANDEZ who, after being duly sworn, deposes and states as follows:

1. My name is Jorge F. Hernandez, and I have personal knowledge of the facts set forth herein.
2. I am over the age of eighteen (18), and I am otherwise competent to testify.
3. I am employed in the customer service department at Publix supermarket. My job requires me to work with computer systems. I have a home computer and work on that one as well.
4. I am a qualified elector of the state of Florida, and my current residential address is: 3072 Eden Mills Drive, Sarasota, Florida 34237.
5. I went to vote on November 7, 2006 at my Precinct #37 located at the Fellowship of Believers.
6. I was particularly interested in the race for the 13th Congressional District because I was unhappy with the way in which Mr. Buchanan conducted himself during the campaign. This was the race that I cared most about. I discussed the matter with my wife. Both of us intended to vote for Christine Jennings.
7. I was taken to an iVotronic touch screen voting machine to cast my ballot. When the race for the 13th Congressional District appeared on the voting machine, I pressed the touch screen for my choice Christine Jennings.
8. When I selected Christine Jennings by pressing her name on the machine, an "X" appeared in the box beside of her name indicating the voting machine recognized my selection.
9. I was in a hurry to get to work, and after I completed making my selections on my touch-screen ballot, I quickly reviewed the summary review screen. I glanced at the machine and almost missed the error, but much to my dismay the voting machine indicated that there had been no selection made for the Jennings/Buchanan race, despite the fact that an "X" had appeared beside of Christine Jennings' name after I had selected her as my choice.
10. I was extremely alarmed that the voting machine did not accurately record my vote. I asked a poll worker to come over. The poll worker told me that I had to go back and select Christine Jennings again. I told the poll worker, that I had already selected Christine Jennings. She told me that I would have to do it a second time. I did go back and select Christine Jennings a second time. Once again an "X" was placed in the box beside of Christine Jennings' name on my electronic ballot. When I got to the review screen this second time, it reflected my selection for Christine Jennings for Congress.

11. During the day, I learned that the very same thing happened to my wife, Connie Hernandez, when she tried to vote for Christine Jennings at the same precinct.

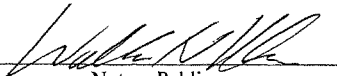

12. I am shocked and upset about the failure of the electronic voting machine to accurately reflect my choice. I was in a hurry and could have missed the error on the voting machine summary. I am extremely concerned that others who selected Christine Jennings and saw that the machine reflected an "X" in the box beside of her name may have assumed the summary would also reflect the voter's choice. This experience has led me to conclude that the machine did not accept the vote for Christine Jennings on the first attempt even though an "X" had appeared in the box beside of her name at the time of my initial selection. Unfortunately, many other voters may not have noticed that their selections were not properly recorded by the voting machine the first time. Voters should not have to press the candidate of their choice more than once in order to have their ballots accurately reflect their choices. The votes should be accepted by the machine on the first attempt, especially where the "X" appears beside of the candidate's name indicating the machine has recognized the voter's selection.

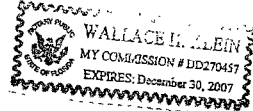

13. No poll worker warned me that there was a problem with the voting machines prior to voting. I am glad that I caught the error, but I am equally concerned that others would not have.

4. I voted at Precinct 132, Grace Baptist Church, 8000 Bee Ridge Road, Sarasota on or about November 7, 2006.
5. My intent was to cast a ballot for Christine Jennings for United States Congress, Florida District 13.
6. Before I voted on the ivotronics touch screen voting machine, the clerk of the precinct announced to all voters in line to register to pay close attention to the top of the ballot on page two. Once I was inside the polling place, waiting for a machine, I witnessed several voters having problems with their voting machines. Each of these voters had to request assistance from poll volunteers in order to cast their ballots. The poll volunteers inserted a card for a second time into the machines. Once the volunteers had inserted the cards, I did not witness additional problems. Had I not been warned to be careful on page two, I may have missed the Congressional race, as well.

I carefully entered my selections on the touch screen voting machine, using my finger tip and the sample ballot I carried with me. I am certain that I selected Christine Jennings name in the Congressional race. When I finished making my selections and went to the review screen, it indicated that I had not made a selection in the Congressional race, the Jennings / Buchanan race. I touched on that race and it returned me to a screen with the Jennings / Buchanan race. Some could not find Jennings on the ballot, and we assisted with that. Some voters said they could not find their votes for her on the review page. Some people had difficulty pushing the box hard enough to have the vote register the first time. I asked the clerk that there were some problems. His comment was that the voters would find it when they got to the review page. I gave three comment cards to voters who had complained. We were not instructed to notify voters that page 2 had any problems. At approximately 9:30 am, I told other workers to notify the voters. But when they were on the clerk did not notify the voters. I, Bernard F. Walsh, am a Sarasota County resident and have been an attorney in Florida for 28 years. On November 7, 2006 I attempted to vote for Christine Jennings for Congress. I voted by touch screen for Ms. Jennings, however the machine malfunctioned twice. When reviewing my votes before exiting the polling station, I saw that my vote for Ms. Jennings did not register and I was informed that I cast no vote for Congress. I attempted to vote again for Ms. Jennings, but the machine malfunctioned again stating that I cast no vote. On my third attempt my vote for Ms. Jennings did appear to register.

AFFIDAVIT CONCERNING FAILURE OF VOTING MACHINE AND INTENT TO VOTE FOR CHRISTINE JENNINGS
STATE OF FLORIDA
COUNTY OF SARASOTA

Before me personally appeared, Jerry David Dennis who after being duly sworn, deposes, and says:

1. My name is Jerry David Dennis and I have personal knowledge of the matters set forth herein.

2. My date of birth is February 1, 1941. I am over eighteen (18) years of age and otherwise competent.

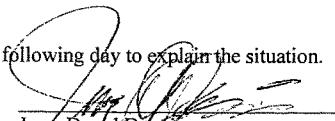

3. I am a qualified elector of the state of Florida residing 4533 Chimney Creek Drive, Sarasota, Florida, 34235.

4. I voted at Precinct 115 at the St Jude Catholic Church on 17th Street in Sarasota on Tuesday, November 7, 2006 at approximately 1:30 p.m.

5. My intent was to cast a ballot for Christine Jennings for United States Congress, Florida District 13.

6. I voted on the ivotronics touch screen voting machine. It was somewhat busy at the voting place and I waited about 15 minutes to vote. A poll worker escorted me to the voting machine and started the machine but I received no specific guidance or warning about the review screen or the Congressional vote. I was trained by the Supervisor of Elections office as a Zone Technician and worked all day in that capacity. I am therefore familiar with the machines. I specifically know who I was voting for in the Congressional race and was not intentionally skipping any votes. There is no question in my mind that I cast that vote for Christine Jennings. The race was in a poor ballot location, you really had to look to see it. It did not have a major heading above it like the race below it. But I did see it, and voted but it was not recorded on the summary screen. I have a high regard for these machines and it shocked to see the race was missing when I arrived at the review screen. I backed-spaced to the Congressional vote and re-cast my vote for Jennings. I then went forward, checked the remainder of the races and checked the review screen to confirm my vote.

I called into the Supervisor of Elections office the following day to explain the situation.

Before me personally appeared Kitty Fischer who after being duly sworn, deposes, and says:

1. My name is Kitty Fischer and I have personal knowledge of the matters set forth herein.
2. My date of birth is January 26, 1925 and I am otherwise competent.
3. I am a qualified elector of the state of Florida residing at 8305 Alexandria Court, Sarasota, FL 34238.
4. I voted in early November, 2006 at Gulf Gate Library on Curtis Avenue.
5. My intent was to cast a ballot for Christine Jennings for United States Congress, Florida District 13.
6. When I went to vote for Christine Jennings, my "X" came up as a vote for Vern Buchannan. I realized it. I went to correct it and I put my "X" by Christine Jennings' name. When I got to the review screen, it showed that I had not voted in that race. So I again voted for Christine Jennings but I have no way of knowing if that "X" registered for Christine Jennings. It seemed to me that the machine was pre-programmed for Vern Buchannan. I am wondering how many people that happened to and they did not notice it.

Before me personally appeared, David Frederick Strawser who after being duly sworn, deposes, and says:

1. My name is David Frederick Strawser and I have personal knowledge of the matters set forth herein.
2. My date of birth is 05-08-1952. I am over eighteen (18) years of age and otherwise competent.
3. I am a qualified elector of the state of Florida residing at 2838 Sterling Lane, Sarasota, FL 34231.
4. I voted at precinct 22, Temple Sinai on or about 11-7-06.
5. My intent was to cast a ballot for Christine Jennings for United States Congress, Florida District 13.
6. When I voted on the ivotronics touch screen voting machine:

I voted for Christine Jennings on the Congressional ballot. I pressed her name, saw it light up, and a X showed up. I finished voting and the review screen indicated I had not voted in the Congressional race. I called over a poll worker, scrolled back to the Congressional ballot, selected Christine's name a second time, scrolled back to the review screen and it still indicated that I did not vote in the Congressional race. The poll worker called a Clerk over, I scrolled back to the Congressional page for a third time, chose Christine's name for a third time, and on the third try, the review screen showed my vote in the Congressional race.

- 3. I am a qualified elector of the state of Florida residing at 800 N. Lemon Ave, Apt 503, Sarasota FL 34236.
- 4. I voted at City of Sarasota Municipal Auditorium, precinct 119 on or about November 7, 2006.
- 5. My intent was to cast a ballot for Christine Jennings for United States Congress, Florida District 13.
- 6. I voted in early afternoon and was directed to the voting machines, and no one told me that I needed to pay attention to the congressional race or that there was a problem with any of the races. When I voted on the ivotronics touch screen voting machine I voted in all of the races and I know I voted for Jennings. When I went to the review screen, it indicated that I had not voted for Jennings and I am sure that I did. That race indicated no vote had been made. I pointed out the vacant vote to the pollworker who said to go back to the original screen and try it again. I voted for Jennings again and then on the second review the vote appeared to have registered. I do not really know if it did register.

Before me personally appeared, Celia Catlett, who after being duly sworn, deposes, and says:

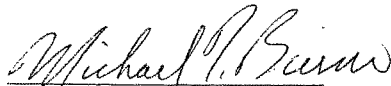

1. My name is Celia Catlett and I have personal knowledge of the matters set forth herein.
2. My date of birth is December 27, 1936 and I am otherwise competent.
3. I am a qualified elector of the state of Florida residing at 3624 Country Place Lane, Sarasota, Florida 34233.
4. I voted early at Precinct 83, located at the North Sarasota Library, 2801 Newtown Boulevard, 34234, on October 24, 2006
5. My intent was to cast a ballot for Christine Jennings for United States Congress, Florida District 13.
6. When I voted with the stylus on the ivotronics touch screen voting machine, I am absolutely sure the box for Christine Jennings showed the X. On the Review screen however, Christine Jennings' name showed but the box beside her name was blank. I clicked on the review ballot and corrected my vote and it then showed an X beside her name. After that, I registered my vote with the Red Vote button at the top of the screen. After voting, I asked my husband if anything unusual happened when he voted (on a different machine). He told me that when he reviewed his ballot, the box by Christine Jennings' name was blank and he had to correct it. At that time, I reported this to a poll worker named Charlie, who said he would report it.

5. My intent was to cast a ballot for Christine Jennings for United States Congress, Florida District 13.
6. The pollworker cautioned me to check the review page, but did not mention any ballot placement issues. When I voted on the iVotronics machine, I voted in every single race except the Hospital Board. I specifically recall voting in the Congressional race for Christine Jennings. When I finished, I pushed the review button and the review page indicated that there was no vote in the Congressional race or the Hospital Board race. I pushed the screen to return to the Congressional race and selected Christine Jennings. I then pressed the vote button without returning to the review page. I did not report this incident to a pollworker. I had a similar experience in the 2004 primary with the machine not properly registering votes, so I was particularly careful this time.

- 5. My intent was to cast a ballot for Christine Jennings for United States Congress, Florida District 13.
- 6. I had carefully reviewed the sample ballot sent out by the Elections office, and marked my selections on the mailer's summary ballot. I took this sheet with me on Election Day, and used it. I carefully matched my selections from that sheet, so the choices on the electronic screen and cast a vote in each race and amendment question. I touched the screen for Christine Jennings and it showed I voted for Christine Jennings. But when I reviewed the summary page at the end of the ballot, it did not show a vote for Christine Jennings. This was the only race/amendment for which I experienced a non-recorded vote. I returned to the Congressional race screen, and revoted for Christine Jennings. A second review of the summary page seemed to indicate that the revote was recorded. Later, at home, I called Kathy Dent's office and urged them to send someone to the voting location. They were not very responsive, and I am not confident that did anything further related to the matters I raised in my call.

STATE OF FLORIDA
COUNTY OF SARASOTA

Before me personally appeared, Anita Diana Klainbaum who after being duly sworn,
deposes, and says:

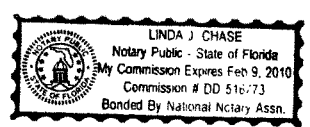

1. My name is Anita Diana Klainbaum and I have personal knowledge of the matters set forth herein.
2. My date of birth is July 30, 1939 and otherwise competent.
3. I am a qualified elector of the state of Florida residing at 4105 Reflections Parkway, Sarasota, FL 34233.
4. I voted at Precinct 155 on or about November 7, 2006.
5. My intent was to cast a ballot for Christine Jennings for United States Congress, Florida District 13.
6. When I voted on the ivotronics touch screen voting machine, I voted for Christine Jennings. I had my list of everyone I wanted to vote for, so I knew when I went through the ballot the first time that I had voted for Ms. Jennings. When I went to the review screen, my vote for Ms. Jennings had not registered. It showed no vote in the Congressional race. I went back and voted for Ms. Jennings again. This time my vote registered on the review screen.

2. My date of birth is June 1, 1959 and I am otherwise competent.
3. I am a qualified elector of the state of Florida residing at 2850 Bon Air Avenue, Sarasota, Florida 34234.
4. I voted at Bayshore Mennonite Church, Precinct 49 on or about November 7, 2006.
5. My intent was to cast a ballot for Christine Jennings for United States Congress, Florida District 13.
6. I voted on the ivotronics touch screen voting machine. I went through and voted on each and every issue and race on the ballot. I specifically paid attention to the gubernatorial race, the Senate Race and the Jennings/Buchanan Race. I know they were on the ballot and I saw them but no vote registered initially for the Jennings/Buchanan race. I went back and reviewed each and every race and when I was sure my votes had been cast, I pressed the vote button. I alerted the poll worker of my problem and was told that it had been happening all day. I went home and called the Jennings campaign and the supervisor of elections. The supervisor of elections office told me there was no problem with the machine and explained to me how to use an ATM machine worked.

3. I am a qualified elector of the state of Florida residing at 472 S. Shore Drive , Sarasota. Florida 34234.
4. I early voted on or about November 2, 2006 at the Newtown Library.
5. My intent was to cast a ballot for Christine Jennings for United States Congress, Florida District 13.
6. During the early voting while using the touch-screen voting machine when I got to the end/review it showed up that I didn't vote for her- then I did it again and assumed that my vote was not counted. I definitely knew I voted that first time because this was a race of particular interest to me. Contrary to Kathy Dents representations no poll worker told me to pay special attention to Page 2 or any page of the Ballot.

5. My intent was to cast a ballot for Christine Jennings for United States Congress, Florida District 13.
6. When I voted on the ivotronics touch screen voting machine, I went through the ballot to vote. I was being careful because I seemed to have to press hard for my votes to register. In addition, I knew to be careful because my wife had been to vote previously and had overheard some women who had a problem voting discussing their problems with the machines. They were different machines. A neighbor also told me that she had encountered six different people who had a problem with the voting machines. When the review sheet came up it said that I had not voted in the Congressional race even though I knew I had voted for Christine Jennings. I went back and registered my vote again and this time it indicated that I had voted for Ms. Jennings on the review screen.

4. I voted on November 7, 2006 at Precinct 49 at my regular voting place at the Bay Shore Mennonite Church on Myrtle and Bay Shore.

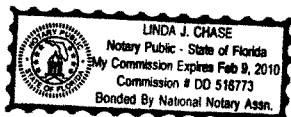

5. I attempted to vote for Christine Jennings in the District 13 race and experienced the following difficulties: I was well-aware of the difficulties in the early voting in the District 13 race and so I carefully voted in each election on the ballot, including that race. When I got to the review page, my vote for Christine Jennings was not reflected. I called out to a poll worker to alert them that my vote in the District 13 race had not been recorded. The poll worker who came to assist me informed me that the same thing had happened to her when she had voted earlier. She guided me back to the District 13 page and I pressed the touch screen to again reflect my vote for Christine Jennings. The poll worker then guided me back to the review page where my vote in the District 13 race was reflected and I then pressed the vote button. At no time prior to my voting did any poll worker discuss with me the problems with page 2 of the ballot.

4. I voted at Gulf Gate Library, 7112 Curtiss Avenue, Sarasota, on the first day of early voting, October 23, 2006.
5. My intent was to cast a ballot for Christine Jennings for United States Congress, Florida District 13.
6. When I voted on the ivotronics touch screen voting machine, I touched the screen for Christine Jennings and it showed I voted for Christine Jennings. On this first attempt to vote in the Congressional race, Vern Buchanan's name was at the bottom of one page, and Christine Jennings was at the top of the following page. When I reviewed the summary page at the end of the ballot, a notice came up that specifically said the Jennings vote "didn't register," (as well as a second race I intentionally chose not to vote on). I scrolled back to the page for the Congressional race, and revoted for Christine Jennings. My second review of the summary page indicated a vote for Jennings.

4. On November 7, 2006, I was a poll worker at Precinct 19, Town Hall of Longboat Key, Longboat Key, Florida. I worked from poll opening until 4:00 p.m. I worked first at the registration desk for two hours and then as an "activator/inspector." While I was working as an activator/inspector, numerous voters complained that they were having difficulties voting for the candidates in the 13th Congressional District race. The complaint was that they had voted for the Congressional candidate, but when they looked at the summary page, it was blank. I explained to each voter how they could page back to the race and re-cast their vote. In 99% of the cases, it worked the second time. I had perhaps one voter for whom the race did not record a second time. The complaints were not isolated to one machine, but rather were on a majority of the machines at the polling location. Of the approximately 10 voters who requested assistance (one Democrat and one Republican poll worker provided assistance each time), only one voter indicated they did not want to cast a vote in the 13th Congressional District race.

STATE OF FLORIDA
COUNTY OF SARASOTA

Before me personally appeared, GERALD K. PALMER who after being duly sworn, deposes, and says:

1. My name is GERALD K. PALMER and I have personal knowledge of the matters set forth herein.
2. My date of birth is 04-11-1950. I am over eighteen (18) years of age and I am otherwise competent.
3. I am a qualified elector of the state of Florida residing at 1290 Kirkwood Lane, Sarasota, Florida 34232.
4. I voted at Precinct 111 on November 7, 2006.
5. My intent was to cast a ballot for Christine Jennings for United States Congress, Florida District 13.
6. When I voted on the iVotronics touch screen machine, I looked for the Buchanan-Jennings Congressional race, selected Christine Jennings and saw the "x" in the box before I went to the next page. When I got to the review screen my vote for Christine Jennings had disappeared. All of my other selections were properly recorded. On the review screen I then touched the empty box next to Christine Jennings' name and re-voted for Christine Jennings. I then pushed the vote button. But I am not confident the vote registered because there was no way to confirm again. I did not report the incident to the poll workers. The poll workers did not warn me about the ballot problem or to carefully check the review screen.

FURTHER AFFIANT SAYETH NOT.

2. My date of birth is June 15, 1930, and I am otherwise competent.
3. I am a qualified elector of the state of Florida residing at 4732 Pine Harruer Drive, Sarasota, Florida 34231.
4. I voted at the Terrace Building at 2001 Adams Lane in Sarasota on or about Wednesday October 25, 2006.
5. My intent was to cast a ballot for Christine Jennings for United States Congress, Florida District 13.
6. When I voted on the ivotronics touch screen voting machine I voted the entire ballot, from top to bottom, and being a retired poll worker I know to review my vote. Upon review I found no vote cast for Christine Jennings and had to re-vote for her. I brought this to the attention of the poll worker she simply smiled.

Before me personally appeared, CARMEN R. MORRIS who after being duly sworn, deposes, and says:

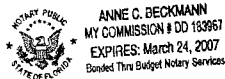

- 1. My name is CARMEN R. MORRIS and I have personal knowledge of the matters set forth herein.
- 2. My date of birth is July 25, 1934, and I am otherwise competent.
- 3. I am a qualified elector of the state of Florida residing at 4173 Entrada Court, Sarasota, Florida 34238.
- 4. I voted at Beneva St. Andrew's United Church of Christ, Precinct 82, 6908 Beneva Road, Sarasota, on November 7, 2006. Referring to the races, my poll worker cautioned that "some of them might not have headings."
- 5. My intent was to cast a ballot for Christine Jennings for United States Congress, Florida District 13.

6. The Congressional race was of particular importance to me, and so I searched for this race on the voting screen. It did not have a heading. When I voted on the ivotronics touch screen voting machine I touched the screen for Christine Jennings and it showed I voted for Christine Jennings. But when I reviewed the summary page at the end of the ballot, it did not show a vote cast for the Congressional race. I returned to the screen for the Congressional race, revoted for Christine Jennings and the screen indicated the revote had been recorded. Again, the summary screen showed no vote for the Congressional race. I returned to the Congressional race screen a third time, revoted a second time, and this third attempt seemed to register my vote for Christine Jennings. I alerted a poll worker of the problem, and he directed me to a woman "in charge" at the location. When I repeated the problem to her, she replied "you must not have pressed hard enough." She did not offer any form to fill out. The Congressional race was the only vote that did not record during my first pass.

- 4. I voted at Precint 15, Trinity United Methodist Church, 2300 Haley Lane, Sarasota, Florida 34231 on or about November 7, 2006.
- 5. My intent was to cast a ballot for Christine Jennings for United States Congress, Florida District 13.
- 6. When I voted on the touch screen voting machine the first problem I noticed was that I had to exert a good deal of pressure with my thumb to get votes to record on the screen. I know that I cast a vote for Christine Jennings for the 13th Congressional District race as I went through the ballot. When I reviewed the ballot at the end of the voting process, I noted that the race for the 13th Congressional District between Vern Buchanan and Christine Jennings indicated that I had made no selection. I called a poll worker who showed my how to return to the race to cast my vote. I then again cast my vote for Christine Jennings. I did not re-check the review screen a second time so I am hoping that my vote was actually recorded for Christine Jennings.

4. I voted at Lutheran Concordia Church, precinct 5 on or about November 7, 2006 in the morning.
5. My intent was to cast a ballot for Christine Jennings for United States Congress, Florida District 13.
6. When I voted on the ivotronics touch screen voting machine I voted in every race. I saw the Jennings-Buchanan race, and I selected Jennings, the machine highlighted her name in blue. When I got to the review page, it was obvious the machine did not record a vote. For that race no choice was indicated. Two poll workers came over and told me to return to the race. I jumped back to the race. The screen indicated I had not made a selection, no box was highlighted. I then selected Jennings a second time. The subsequent review indicated the vote for Jennings. I made a complaint to a woman who was a poll worker, and she recorded the complaint and my name on a legal pad.

5. My intent was to cast a ballot for Christine Jennings for United States Congress, Florida District 13.

6. When I voted on the ivotronics touch screen voting machine I voted all Democrat and went to the summary review page and there was no "x" in the Jennings box. Accordingly, I touched the blank box for Jennings and nothing happened and then I touched her name and had the opportunity to select between the two candidate, Jennings and Buchanan, and then the red "x" appeared and went to summary page and noticed that all my votes were correct including Jennings. I reviewed each vote and then pressed the vote button. I attended the party at my home to watch the election returns with 4 neighbors and my Wife. During the conversation we discovered that 4 out of the 6 people had the same problem with the voting system to our amazement. We also discovered that our neighbor had voted early and she reported the error to Kathy Dent and nothing was done to correct the matter for her or the public in general. None of the poll volunteers advised us to watch out for the problem. The next day we sent e mails to Jennings.

5. My intent was to cast a ballot for Christine Jennings for United States Congress, Florida District 13.

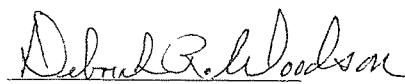

6. The first booth I went to the machine did not work at all. They moved me to a second booth. The poll worker did not provide any warning about the ballot or the checking the review sheet. The poll worker was totally indifferent; almost hostile. When I voted on the ivotronics touch screen voting machine I carefully made my selections. I definitely saw that my vote for Christine Jennings was registered. To my best knowledge, I left no races blank. When I reached the review page, it showed no "X" in the box next to Christine Jennings' name. It was blank, so I clicked on her name again. I was then prompted to vote, which I did without any further review. I immediately wondered if my vote was actually counted the second time around since it was not counted the first time. I did not mention the problem to a poll worker.

5. My intent was to cast a ballot for Christine Jennings for United States Congress, Florida District 13.
6. When I voted on the ivotronics touch screen voting machine I went through the ballot and made my selections. I had been forewarned of problems with the machines, so I my carefully checked the summary of my selections. It showed I had not voted for Christine. I called a poll worker over for help and he directed me back to the small top page section where I pressed the box next to Christine Jennings. It then appeared correct in the summary, so I pressed the vote button..

- 5. My intent was to cast a ballot for Christine Jennings for United States Congress, Florida District 13.
- 6. One of my main purposes in voting was to cast a vote in the 13th Congressional District race for Christine Jennings. As I was entering the polling place, I was warned by some supporters of Christine Jennings near the polling place to be careful when I voted. I went through the ballot making my selections on the ivotronics touch screen voting machine. I am certain that I cast a vote for Christine Jennings. When I reviewed the ballot at the end of the voting process, I noted that the race for the 13th Congressional District between Vern Buchanan and Christine Jennings indicated that I had made no selection. I returned to the page with that race and again cast my vote for Christine Jennings. I reviewed my ballot a second time and noted that my ballot indicated my selection for Christine Jennings. I then hit the "vote" button.

4. I early voted at the Town Hall at Longboat Key , Precinct 13.
5. My intent was to cast a ballot for Christine Jennings for United States Congress, Florida District 13.
6. When I voted on the ivotronics touch screen voting machine I got as far as the Judges and realized I had not voted for the congressional candidates . I pressed review and it came up that I had not in fact voted for either congressional candidate and I alerted a poll worker. She showed me how to get back to page 2. I then voted and reviewed again and confirmed the vote for Jennings was there and it was. I had no idea how I missed it because that was one of the races I was most interested in although the poll person told me to " watch out for page 2". My Husband was not advised to watch out for Page 2. I contacted Kathy Dent's office to advise and was given the "run around"- they would listen to a comment but not answer a question. It was very strange.

STATE OF FLORIDA
COUNTY OF SARASOTA

Before me personally appeared, Joseph Jaffe, who after being duly sworn, deposes, and says:

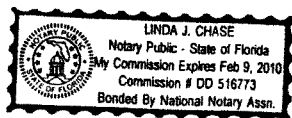

1. My name is Joseph Jaffe and I have personal knowledge of the matters set forth herein.
2. My date of birth is April 19, 1926 and I am competent.
3. I am a qualified elector of the state of Florida residing at 4424 Rum Cay Circle, Sarasota, FL, 34233.
4. I voted on November 7, 2006, at Precinct 127, at the Central Church of Christ on Proctor Road in Sarasota.
5. I intended to vote for Christine Jennings in the District 13 race.
6. In casting my vote, I experienced the following difficulty: When I got to the summary page of my ballot, it showed that I had not voted in the District 13 race. I returned to that page and was able to click the box indicating my vote for Christine Jennings. However, I do not recall being given the opportunity to go back to the summary page, and if such an opportunity was available it was not at all clear. I believe that I did vote for Christine Jennings in my first review of the ballot and that my vote was not reflected on the summary page. Prior to voting, no poll worker had alerted me to the fact that the District 13 race was contained on the second page of the ballot, above the State titled races.

Before me personally appeared, Marcia Gibbons, who after being duly sworn, deposes, and says:

- 1. My name is Marcia Gibbons and I have personal knowledge of the matters set forth herein.
- 2. My date of birth is 2-9-81. [OR: I am over eighteen (18) years of age] and I am otherwise competent.
- 3. I am a qualified elector of the state of Florida residing at 2426 N. Links Ave, Sarasota FL 34234.
- 4. I voted at Newtown Comm. Center, precinct 31 on or about November 7, 2006.
Wks I voted at 4:00 p.m.
- 5. My intent was to cast a ballot for Christine Jennings for United States Congress, Florida District 13.

6. I was not told there was a problem with the congressional race, nor did I hear any poll worker tell any other voters there was a problem. When I voted on the ivotronics touch screen voting machine the congressional race did not appear, and I voted for all of the other races. On the review screen it said I did not vote for either candidate in the congressional race. I went back to the Jennings race and the race appeared in the middle of the screen- and no other race was on the screen. I then voted for Jennings. I reviewed again and saw that an "X" was in the box.

My main interest in the election was to vote for Christine Jennings, so I was very aware that the race did not appear my first time through. Other people had told me there were problems with voting, so I was attentive to the screens. I do not vote straight democratic so I pay attention to each page and race.

5. My intent was to cast a ballot for Christine Jennings for United States Congress, Florida District 13.
6. I worked as poll worker at Precinct 25, Lockwood Ridge, the Church of the Nativity. I was presented with a memo that said that because of the placement of the gubernatorial race that Jennings/Buchanan would appear on the second page and that we should alert voters to be aware of it. We did so. I spoke with my neighbor who was a poll worker at Precinct 18, 41 at the United Methodist Church and asked the poll worker if they had seen a memo directing them to alert voters about the placement of the race. They said they had seen no such memo, knew nothing about it and were not alerting voters.

4. I voted on or about November 7, 2006 at Precinct 44, Elk's Lodge, Englewood, Florida.
5. My intent was to cast a ballot for Christine Jennings for United States Congress, Florida District 13.
6. The 13th Congressional District race was one in which I specifically intended to cast my vote when I entered the polling booth. When I went to the second page, I noted the word "State" on the ballot and voted for the democratic nominee in the race underneath that word. I completely missed the race above the word "State" which I believe was the 13th Congressional District race between Vern Buchanan and Christine Jennings. I did not pick up my error when I reviewed my ballot and, therefore, I believe I missed the race on the ballot and did not cast a vote for Christine Jennings as I have intended. I did not catch my error until my husband came home later in the day and indicated his problem with the voting machine. There were a number of races in which I had intended not to cast a vote; however, the 13th Congressional District race was not one of them. I believe that screen containing the 13th Congressional District was poorly laid out and obscured the race for that seat.

I am convinced that I pressed the proper box with my finger for each and every office that came up. However, in the summation of my votes the machine indicated that I had not voted in only one contest – that of the 13th Congressional District. I subsequently corrected that. Leaving the polls, I was concerned and puzzled what I considered to be one of my most important votes. Arriving home, I expressed this to my wife who had voted earlier.

When I reviewed the summary page , that's when I saw there was no vote for Jennings and that's when I thought I was so stupid - how could I miss this. I went back and looked and saw no check mark next to Jennings name and I corrected same. My feeling was that a lot of people just didn't hit the review button. I didn't tell a poll worker because I thought it was my fault and because it looked like it registered. It boggles my mind I studied this so hard I could not believe I missed it.

reached the review page, it showed no "X" in the box next to Christine Jennings' name. It was blank, so I voted for her then. I mentioned the problem to a poll worker and my recollection is

- 5. My intent was to cast a ballot for Christine Jennings for United States Congress, Florida District 13.
- 6. When I voted on the touch screen voting machine I thought I had voted in every race I saw on the ballot, including that for the 13th Congressional District. When I got to the review screen I saw it showed no vote cast for either Christine Jennings or Vern Buchanan in the 13th District Congressional race. I paged back to the Jennings-Buchanan race to vote for Christine Jennings. I again went to the review page and confirmed that I voted for Christine Jennings for United States Congress, Florida District 13.
- 7. Because I work with computers, I told one of the poll workers that the touch screen was not properly calibrated with the computer screen. I also mentioned the problem I had in voting for the 13th Congressional District race.

My husband, who had voted early, warned me of problems with the 13th Congressional District race on the ballot. When I entered the polling station, I asked the poll workers as to whether there had been a problem with that race. They told me only to watch for the race on the top of the second screen. They did not warn me about carefully reviewing the review screen to make sure my vote was recorded. When I went through my ballot, I am certain I voted for Christine Jennings; however, when I completed my ballot the blinking "vote" light came on. I asked a poll worker what I should do and the poll worker told me to push the "vote" button to record my vote. I went back to the screen containing that race and was very surprised to see that I had not made a selection as I did not think I had missed voting in that race. Before voting, I had heard through the media that there might be some difficulties with that race on the ballot, so I was very surprised that I had missed that race. I later called a poll worker over to my booth to show me how to change some of my selections in other races. In the car on the way home, my husband said to me that he had a problem voting. He voted all the way through and knew he had voted for Jennings initially. He thought the vote registered. On review he saw there was no vote recorded for Jennings. He went back to the screen the race was on, and pushed the button again for Jennings and he saw it did not register. He requested assistance from a pollworker. She told him to try it again, and he did, and it worked finally. On the final review, the vote appeared to be cast. He did not sign a complaint form. I am not aware that anything was offered. He said to me that he was not told there was a problem with the congressional screen. I was told by my pollworker to pay attention to the top of the second page at the top because a lot of people evidently missed it.

AFFIDAVIT CONCERNING FAILURE OF VOTING MACHINE AND INTENT TO VOTE FOR CHRISTINE JENNINGS

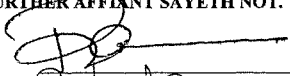

STATE OF FLORIDA
COUNTY OF SARASOTA

Before me personally appeared, Richard Guernsey Allen who after being duly sworn, deposes, and says:

1. My name is Richared Guernsey Allen and I have personal knowledge of the matters set forth herein.
2. My date of birth is October 28, 1933 I am otherwise competent.
3. I am a qualified elector of the state of Florida residing at 2613 Temple St. Sarasota, Florida 34239.
4. I voted at the Lutheran Church, in Sarasota, Fl . I voted on Nov. 7, 2006.
5. My intent was to cast a ballot for Christine Jennings for United States Congress, Florida District 13.
6. I voted all the way down the ballot and voted for everybody I wanted to vote for including in the Buchanan/Jennings congressional race. I got to the review and was suprised to see that no vote was cast for Vern Buchanan or Christine Jennings. I thought to myself why wouldn't that record. I scrolled all the way back page by page. Then I looked at that page and voted again and scrolled all the way to the end to the tally sheet which then showed I had voted in the Congressional race.

It occurred to me that people could have missed that vote because every race was easy to read except the Congressional race which was difficult to see because of the placement of the candidates. Also, I can see how it would have been difficult for some people to scroll all the way to that race in order to vote.

5. My intent was to cast a ballot for Christine Jennings for United States Congress, Florida District 13.

6. When I voted on the ivotronics touch screen voting machine [insert voter's story]

I went through the ballot, review screens, and hit the "Vote" button. Only after I left the polling place and was in the parking lot did I realize that I never saw the Congressional Race on the ballot. I do not think I voted in the Congressional Race because it never came up on the ballot.

4. I voted on November 7, 2006 at Precinct 99 at the Lutheran Church.
5. My intent was to cast a ballot for Christine Jennings for United States Congress, Florida District 13.
6. During the voting while using the touch-screen voting machine, I was forewarned by my mother of the problems with the Christine Jennings race and I read an editorial in the Pelican, so I was extremely vigilant.. I carefully reviewed the ballot and to best of my recollection the ballot went from senate to the governors race. I went back using the back space button two (2) times and did not see the congressional ballot. The third time I went back is when the ballot "popped up" on top of the governors ballot. Contrary to Kathy Dents representations, no poll worker advised me to pay special attention to page 2 or any other page of the ballot.

5. My intent was to cast a ballot for Christine Jennings for United States Congress, Florida District 13.
6. During the voting while using the touch-screen voting machine I voted for Christine Jennings, this race was extremely important to me and I had concerns regarding the accuracy of the vote based on the editorial in the Pelican Press. I had my completed sample ballot with me and upon arriving at the review/summary page the box for the 13th congressional race there was some indication that I had not voted in the 13th congressional race. I went back to the page to vote and entered my vote for Jennings. 4. I voted at Precinct 94 on or about November 7, 2006.
5. My intent was to cast a ballot for Christine Jennings for United States Congress, Florida District 13, and I was able to vote for Ms. Jennings.

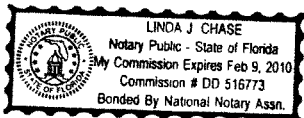

6. When I went to vote on the ivotronics voting machine, my husband and I were greeted by a poll worker who said I was to beware of page two because a lot of people had been missing it. My first reaction was to wonder if everyone was getting this warning because I am a retired school counselor who administers testing. Therefore, I know that giving people prompts can invalidate the testing results. I was concerned about the effects of this on the election and that the voting process should not involve individual coaching. Having been prompted when I got to page two I did vote, but because the way the page was formatted, my eye did not go to the top of the screen where the Congressional race was listed. The highlighting of the screen for that race seemed to be different from the way the other races on the page were listed. If I had not been prompted, I know I would have missed it.

4. I voted at precinct 113, at 5659 Honore Avenue, Sarasota, Florida, on November 7, 2006 at about 1:00 p.m.
5. My intent was to cast a ballot for Christine Jennings for United States Congress, Florida District 13.
6. When I arrived at the polling place there was no line so I walked right in. The poll worker checked me in but provided me with no instruction or guidance. When I arrived at the screen to vote for the 13th Congressional District race, I pressed the box next to Christine Jennings three separate times; the first two times it did not record the vote, the third time it did. I continued the process and concluded my voting.

4. I voted at Precinct No. 6 on or about November 7, 2006.
5. My intent was to cast a ballot for Christine Jennings for United States Congress, Florida District 13.

6. When I voted on the ivotronics touch screen voting machine, I realized I had not voted for the U. S. House of Representatives after I had gone through the Constitutional Amendments. So I went back to vote in that race. I am convinced that the race was not there the first time I went through, and not that I missed it. I am a retired physicist, so I do not believe I missed it. I finished the ballot, and my vote for Ms. Jennings had registered. After leaving the voting place, I met my wife who had the same experience, but on a different voting machine.

Upon reviewing I noticed that there was no selection made in the Buchanan/Jennings race. I used the back button and went back to the race and voted for Jennings. Upon final review it appeared that my vote was cast for Jennings. I am not sure my vote was ever counted. On my way out I mentioned it to the poll workers who said that people were having the same problems all day. First thing Wednesday morning I called the supervisor of elections and was asked about my experience. I told the person what happened and that I was very upset. I returned to that page and was able to vote for Christine Jennings. When I realized what had happened, I was embarrassed that I had apparently made such a mistake. On reflection, I am not sure that the race ever appeared during my initial review of the ballot. I have a bachelor's degree in Business from the University of South Florida, I am a broker in the real estate field who routinely reviews contracts, I am very particular in the work that I do. I have been voted since I was 18 years old and have voted in every election in which I was eligible to vote. I have never had a problem with voting. I did so, re-cast my vote for Christine Jennings, and made sure the vote registered on the review screen. The vote appeared to have been registered properly. I was not concerned about this issue until I heard so many others had similar problems. What I'm concerned about is if someone else had this problem and did not fix their vote or make sure it registered. I went back to one of the pages to review my vote and still did not see the names on the ballot. I pressed the vote and left. It was not until I was on my way home that I realized the I had not voted for Christine. I had volunteered at the Supervisor of Elections office and reported my complaint to someone who worked there. 3. I am a qualified elector of the state of Florida residing at 819 Cedarcrest Court, Sarasota, Florida 34232. My voter registration lists my name as Christopher Woodson.
4. I voted at the early voting site at Ascension Lutheran Church, 800 McIntosh Rd. Sarasota Florida on November 7, 2006.
5. My intent was to cast a ballot for Christine Jennings for United States Congress, Florida District 13.
6. When I voted on the ivotronics touch screen voting machine I did not see Christine Jennings or the United States Congress, Florida District 13 race on the ballot. I then went to the review page and still not see Christine Jennings or the United States Congress, Florida District 13 race. I went back a second time through the ballot and I did see Christine Jennings or the United States Congress, Florida District 13 race.
7. I was not told by any poll worker of a problem finding the United States Congress, Florida District 13 race, and I was not told to bring any problems to the attention of a poll worker.

4. I voted at Precinct 146 on or about November 7, 2006.
5. My intent was to cast a ballot for Christine Jennings for United States Congress, Florida District 13.

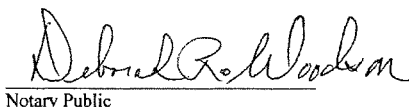

6. When I voted on the ivotronics touch screen voting machine I was very careful to make my selections on each page. When I got to the page with local races I realized that I had not seen the Congressional race. I went back and voted prior to the summary page. I did not review my selections on the summary page prior to hitting the vote button. I did not call the poll worker over to report my problem. The poll worker notified me prior to voting to be careful and be sure that I voted in all of the races, but did not emphasize the Congressional race. The ballot placement made the race easy to overlook.

- 4. I voted at Supervisor of Elections Office on Adams Lane, Sarasota, Florida on or about November 5, 2006 at about 3:30 p.m.
- 5. My intent was to cast a ballot for Christine Jennings for United States Congress, Florida District 13.
- 6. My main purpose in voting was to cast a vote in the 13th Congressional District race for Christine Jennings. I went through the ballot making my selections. I am not certain whether I cast a vote for Christine Jennings or whether I did not see the race on the ballot. In any event, when I reviewed the ballot at the end of the voting process, I noted that the race for the 13th Congressional District between Vern Buchanan and Christine Jennings indicated that I had made no selection. I called a poll worker who showed me how to return to the race to cast my vote. I then again cast my vote for Christine Jennings. I reviewed my ballot a second time and noted that my ballot indicated my selection for Christine Jennings.

5. My intent was to cast a ballot for Christine Jennings for United States Congress, Florida District 13.

6. When I voted on the iVotronics touch screen voting machine I went through all of the offices on the ballot and intended to cast a vote for Christine Jennings. I believe I had voted for Christine Jennings. When I got to the review screen it indicated that I had not cast a vote in the United States Congress, Florida District 13. On the review page I touched the United States Congress, Florida District 13 race and then touched the line for Christine Jennings and it lit up. I was not able to have a second review screen to make sure I had voted for Christine Jennings.

7. At no time was I informed by a poll working that there may be a problem finding the Congress, Florida District 13 race on the ballot. At no time was I told by a poll worker to seek assistance if I had any problems.

5. My intent was to cast a ballot for Christine Jennings for United States Congress, Florida District 13.
6. When I voted on the ivotronics touch screen voting machine I initially did not see the ballot for Jennings because it was so high on the screen and the "x" didn't register. Only when I went to the summary review page and I made a point to seek out the Jennings vote was when I realized the vote had been cast. This particular race was very important to me and that is why I zeroed in to make sure it had been registered. I had no other problems with any other race. - 5. My intent was to cast a ballot for Christine Jennings for United States Congress, Florida District 13.

6. When I voted on the ivotronics touch screen voting machine [insert voter's story]

I came to the Congressional race page on the ballot. I pressed Christine Jennings name but Vern Buchanan's name was selected. I pressed Christine's name again and her name was then selected on the ballot. When I got to the review screen, it appeared that both names were selected. Ultimately, I was able to choose Christine's name, but only after the problems described above.

4. I voted at Supervisor of Elections office on Adams St., Sarasota FL on or about October 24, 2006.

5. My intent was to cast a ballot for Christine Jennings for United States Congress,
Florida District 13.

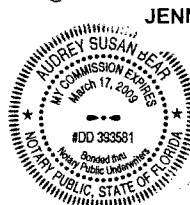

6. When I voted on the ivotronics touch screen voting machine I am sure that I voted for Jennings, as I had a sample ballot from the newspaper in my hand. On the review page I noticed it was blank for Jennings. I called over a poll worker and said my vote didn't register.
She guided me back to the correct screen and told me to hit the box to vote again, which I did.
On the second review, I saw it had recorded.

On September 5, 2006 I worked as the Precinct Tech during the Primary Election at Precinct # 33 in Osprey. There was a rather light turnout and the day went quite smoothly. This was my first experience with the iVotronics touch screen voting machines. I thought the page layout was clear and machines worked as advertised, which is to say that they seemed to respond quickly to finger pressure while registering votes.

On November 7, 2006 I worked again as the Precinct Tech in Precinct #33, with the same election team, headed by Clerk Wally Turner and Assistant Clerk Janet Trout. I expected another smooth operation, although with a heavier turnout. However very early in the day we began to receive a number of complaints about the 13th Congressional District contest, as follows:

Several people complained that when they pressed the box for Christine Jennings, no selection was registered.

Several people complained that the Christine Jennings line darkened when they pressed the box, but on review at the end of their voting, the screen showed no vote.

Several people complained that they couldn't find the 13th Congressional District choices, located at the top of Page 2 and sandwiched between contests for senator and governor, both of which included a large number of candidates.

In each of the above cases that was brought to my attention, the voter was instructed to pay attention to the voting and review process, and to go back and change any selections before pressing the flashing red Vote button. I know that this occurred enough times during the day with both myself and other poll workers—and was enough of a concern--that we discussed the matter several times, both among ourselves and with the Precinct Clerk and Assistant Clerk. It was also discussed at least twice with Donna _____, the Roving Tech Consultant, who dropped in at the precinct several times during the day.

We in the precinct had no way of knowing that the problem was so widespread. I learned subsequently that many of the same kinds of problems arose during the early voting. I know of one such case myself: Bonney Miller, 1340 Westport Lane, Sarasota; Phone 955-2870. I also learned after the fact that the Supervisor of Elections, Kathy Dent, sent a memo out—to whom I do not know—warning of the problems experienced during early voting and cautioning poll workers to be especially vigilant. We at Precinct # 33 were not made aware of this memo or of the problem itself. I am sorry to say that although we treated voters with courtesy, the general attitude, including my own, tended to regard the problem as one of inattentiveness, stupidity or advanced age.

I feel very guilty that as an election official, albeit at a relatively low level, I did not insist that further attention be paid to this now so obvious problem. In retrospect, it should have been apparent that something was wrong. I feel strongly that this situation should be rectified, even if a special election is necessitated. If you have further questions about the above, I would be glad to elaborate on my experience as best I can.

4. I voted on November 7, 2006 at Ascension Church on McIntosh Road, Sarasota, FL.
5. My intent was to cast a ballot for Christine Jennings for United States Congress, Florida District 13.
6. I began casting my ballot. I voted for the Senate, went to the next page and thought to myself, "That's odd, what happened to the Congressional race?" My concern grew as I proceeded page after page, not finding the Congressional ballot. When I got to the end and looked at my review page, I started reading it over and it indicated that I had not voted in the Congressional election. It took a moment or two to read the instructions as to how to proceed. When I touched the portion of the review screen that indicated that I had not voted in that race, what appeared on the screen was simply the designation of the Congressional race and the names of the two candidates; I still had no idea as to where it had been buried in the ballot. I selected Christine Jennings and it immediately took me back to the review page. I confirmed my vote and pressed the "submit vote" flashing button. When I returned home, I sheepishly mentioned what happened to my wife, assuming that I had somehow erred, giving benefit of doubt to the machine. My wife responded in amazement that the identical thing had happened to her. I'd assumed that she had voted at the same place I had, to which she replied to me, no, she had voted early downtown at the Terrace Building. I immediately panicked and felt that the integrity of the Congressional election was in jeopardy. I am a registered Republican, but I made my phone call to the Democratic Party headquarters and reported the situation to them. The person on the phone indicated that they were aware of problems but had been assured by Kathy Dent's office that poll workers would be cautioning voters to be alert to the problem. I informed the gentleman that no one at the polling place mentioned any difficulties or issues and I was not given any information either before or after

3. I am a qualified elector of the state of Florida residing at 4679 Hackamore Road,

4. I was the duly appointed Democrat Party Poll Watcher at Precinct 124, St. John's Methodist Church, Proctor Road, Sarasota.

5. At the time the polls opened a voter complained to the poll workers about the voting machine he had saying that one had to pound on the machine in order for a vote to register; he was told by the poll worker that he was not pressing hard enough in order for his vote to register. He further told the worker he used touch screens regularly and was familiar with how these worked and the machine he had been assigned was clearly defective. At that point I requested the clerk of the poll to file a written report and she appeared to do so. At this point observed a woman who was using the same machine in question to vote and she appeared to be having a problem with the machine as she was looking around and seemed to be confused. She approached the table where the poll officials were seated and said the machine would not take her votes

After observing another problem with the same machine I requested the Clerk (Sue Ann) to close that machine she did so. I requested the serial number of the machine, Sue Ann escorted me to the machine; the serial number of the machine was V0106351-B. The poll became busy and voters started backing up. I took a break and when I returned that machine had been removed, accordingly that machine should register no more than 2 or 3 votes. I was told by the Clerk that the poll workers would bring in 2 additional machines; when I left at noon no such machines had arrived.

5. My intent was to cast a ballot for Christine Jennings for United States Congress, Florida District 13.

6. I specifically went to my polling location to vote for Christine Jennings as I have been a strong supporter of her ever since she decided to run for Congress. The first problem I encountered was that I found the touch-screen voting machine was extremely sensitive, apparently triggering selections merely by the heat from my finger. I made my selections, voting a straight Democratic ticket; however, when I got to the Constitutional amendment issues, I realized that I had not seen the race between Christine Jennings and Vern Buchanan on the ballot. I called over a poll worker and expressed my concern. They paged back my ballot to the screen containing the 13th Congressional District race which appeared very faint at the top of the screen. I made my selection for Christine Jennings and then proceed through the ballot to the "review" screen. That screen indicated numerous incorrect selections, including Crist for Governor (I had voted for Davis), Harris for Senate (I had voted for Nelson), and Buchanan for Congress (I had voted for Jennings). I went back through the entire ballot and made my selections. Then I again went to the "review" screen which this time indicated my correct selections. I then cast my vote. I was very concerned that other voters following me would have similar problems and would not take the time to correct their ballot.

The next morning I called the Supervisor of Elections office and spoke to somebody who said that other people had complained and that I must have missed the Congressional race because it was on the ballot. My husband had the same problem voting and that is why I reported the problem. 5. My intent was to cast a ballot for Christine Jennings for United States Congress, Florida District 13.

6. When I arrived to vote, a poll worker walked me to the machine. I was familiar with the ballot because I had reviewed the sample ballot.

I intended to vote in every race. The first time through the ballot the Congressional race, Buchanan/Jennings did not appear. I was surprised to realize that on the review screen no "X" was marked for that race and I couldn't understand how I had missed it. Then I realized I had never seen that race and was not given the choice to vote in that race. So I touched Christine Jennings name which took me back to Congressional Race screen.

I voted for Christine Jennings by pressing the box by her name. The machine took me back to the review screen and it was correct in the final review and I hit the flashing red vote button.

Had I not reviewed the vote, I would not have cast a vote in the Congressional race.

6. At check-in, the poll worker informed me there was a problem with the District 13 race, that some people are over-looking the race, and to be sure to check the review screen and go back if there was a problem. The poll worker advised if that did not work to raise my hand and ask for assistance. Once I began the voting process, I went through the entire series of screens voting for various candidates and at the end the review screen indicated I had not voted in the 13th Congressional District race or the Attorney General race. I did not see these races as I was voting despite that I was looking for both of these races. I used the review screen to find the screens on which these races appeared and made my choice for Christine Jennings and Skip Campbell. My votes appeared to register, and at the end of the process were indicated on the review screen. I am concerned something is wrong with the machines and that others might have had these same problems but did not fix their votes or make sure the votes registered.

5. My intent was to cast a ballot for Christine Jennings for United States Congress, Florida District 13.
6. I was particularly concerned about the Congressional Race and I consider myself politically astute. I reviewed the sample ballot and knew who I was voting for before I went to the poll. When I voted on the machine, I went through the ballot carefully and voted on every race and the Constitutional Amendments. I did not see the Congressional race on any page. When I got to the review page, I pressed, "review ballot" and one race popped up the Buchanan/Jennings race. I was shocked that I had missed that race. I pressed the check for Jennings and saw it record. Then I saw the red vote button, pushed it and left the polling station. I wondered how the Congressional race had been missed.

A few days later, my wife mentioned that she had the same experience. When she told me that, I realized something was wrong with the voting machine and that it was too much of a coincidence that we both had the same problem voting in the Congressional race. I feel there was some inaccuracy in the machine and that the Congressional race was not in the machine until the review.

I called the Supervisor of Elections office and talked to someone and explained what happened. She said that I must have missed the race because the Congressional Race was at the top of the second page, but that others had reported the same thing. I told her that I felt it was my responsibility to let the Supervisor of Elections know that there might be a problem with the machines.

Subject: voting problem

Attached is my 11/9/06 email to Kathy Dent, and her reply regarding a voting malfunction. You will note that Dent's reply does not address my request for confirmation of her receipt of my complaint prepared at the polling station.

A possible method for determining how many of the missing votes were likely distributed between Buchanan and Jennings is to first analyze the completed votes, i.e. had no missing votes. For each vote, statistically determine to a reasonable degree of probability what percentage of party line votes, Republican or Democrat, it took to result in a vote for Buchanan or Jennings. With this model, then analyze the missing votes. Depending upon the same statistical party line voting pattern, the missing votes can be assigned to the appropriate candidate.

Arthur Iversen

Dear Mr. Iversen:

I am sorry to hear that Mr. Waugh was unaware of proper procedure. He should have directed you to the Clerk, who would have completed an incident report form. I certainly will look into this and will notify our poll worker training coordinator. Due to the recount, I have not had time to read through precinct data yet, but I will.

Thank you for your e-mail.

Sincerely,
Kathy Dent

Subject: A malfunctioning voting machine

Ms. Dent:

In the course of voting in Nokomis, I took special care in executing the vote because of the 11/5 article in the Herald-Tribune regarding lost votes for Jennings. The vote registered on the screen and I proceeded. Upon reaching the vote summary it stated that no vote had been cast for Jennings. The vote summary shows all votes cast crowded in one display. Any missing vote does not stand out, such as a flashing light; it merely states in a non-obvious way that no vote was cast. It is easily overlooked.

I brought this to the attention of poll worker Ken Waugh. In his presence we went back and repeated the voting procedure whereupon the vote then appeared in the vote summary. I had to persuade Mr. Waugh that I wished to register a complaint to you about this voting "malfunction". There is apparently no formal way to transmit a complaint. He gave me your card and tore off a scrap of paper to write down my name and describe the problem. There was no evidence of the presence of an "incident report log" at the polling station. This letter constitutes a request for confirmation that my complaint has been forwarded to you from the Nokomis polling station. #129.

Memo:

On October 30, 2006, eight days before the scheduled election, mywife and I visited the pre-election voting place on Adams Street in Sarasota, FL. We were ushered into separate voting booths. I am a Democrat and planned to vote a straight Democratic ticket except when there was no Democrat in the race. I had no trouble using the machine since I had used it in the primary. When I finished the actual voting and got to the last page, a review of my votes, my vote in the congressional race was unmarked. Before pushing the vote button, I retraced my way back to the page with the congressional race and saw my choice of Christine Jennings unmarked. I put in my X and returned to the review page. I saw that I had successfully voted for Jennings and then pressed the vote button.

My feeling at that time was that I had been merely careless and therefore did not report the undervote. It was later when I learned that many people had made the same mistake (about 18,000 of whom did not make correction) and therefore that the problem had to be within the ballot format or the machine itself.

2. My date of birth is May 9, 1963 I am otherwise competent.
3. I am a qualified elector of the state of Florida residing at 429 Acacia Drive Sarasota, Florida 34234.
4. I voted at Bayshore Mennonite Church, Sarasota, Fl . I voted on Nov. 7, 2006 at about 7:45 AM.
5. My intent was to cast a ballot for Christine Jennings for United States Congress, Florida District 13.
6. I went through the ballot page by page and voted on every race that came up except some judge races that I didn't have information about. When I finished I clicked review ballot and then I saw that the house of representative race was empty. I touched the screen and up popped Vern Buchanan at the top and Christine Jennings underneath. That is the first time I saw their names on the ballot. I said outloud that this is the first time these names came up and I made a fuss about it and called over a poll worker. I explained to the male poll worker that this was the first time the names Buchanan and Jennings came up and I told him something was wrong with the machine. He said it was a good thing that you reviewed your ballot. My husband at a nearby voting maching tried to tell me the location of the Jennings/Buchanan vote. I told him it had not appeared because I didn't see it. I am certain that I didn't miss it.

I went to vote specifically intending to vote for Ms. Jennings and her name did not appear until the review came and that was the first time the names were on the ballot. When the names popped up, I voted for Ms. Jennings and pressed vote button.

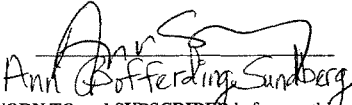

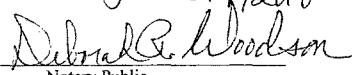

I went back to the polling place at 6:50 PM because I heard there had been problems with voting in the Congressional race. I found the poll worker and I said do you remember me and what happened. He had me speak to a supervisor. She said that I did not have a problem because you were able to cast a vote. I disagreed and pointed out that the Congressional race did not come up the first time through. At that point, she said if you have a problem to write a letter to the supervisor of elections. A poll observer stepped forward and said that I see you are trying to make a complaint, I'll take your name, address, and phone number. She had a sticker that said "poll observer." The supervisor said that the discussion has nothing to do with me and walked away.

I have a PHD. in science and technology studies and I am computer literate. I am positive the Buchanan/Jennings race did not appear the first time I went through the ballot.

4. I voted at precinct 49, Bay Shore Mennonite Church on November 7, 2006 at about 7:45 am.
5. My intent was to cast a ballot for Christine Jennings for United States Congress, Florida District 13.
6. When I arrived at the polling place and proceeded to vote I was not informed by the poll workers that I needed to review my ballot and make sure that I voted in the Congressional District 13 race. While I was voting I heard another voter complain that her vote for Christine Jennings did not appear on the review page.
7. I was a volunteer poll watcher for the Sarasota County Democratic Party at precinct 102, at Bahia Vista Mennonite Church, on Election Day from 9:00 am to noon. I had constant interaction with the polling place Clerk and the three other poll workers while I was there. The clerk and the poll workers seem engaged and worked hard.
8. I discussed with the Clerk about the problems with the votes for Christine Jennings not registering in the Congressional District 13 race. The Clerk claimed she had no knowledge of it and had not been instructed by the Supervisor of Elections to tell voters about the problem with the ballot for the reported problems with Congressional District 13 race ballot.
9. I did not see the Clerk or the poll workers uniformly instruct voters to check the review page for all voters they intended to cast. The poll workers would give this instruction to some voters but not others. I did not observe all the instructions to the voters but I observed a fair amount of the instructions given to voters.

- 5. My intent was to cast a ballot for Christine Jennings for United States Congress, Florida District 13.
- 6. I was given two voter registration numbers #/s 114602230 and 114574830 by the Supervisor of Elections. I have no idea why I was given two numbers. When I tried to vote the poll workers had to call the supervisors of elections office to find out what to do. They picked one number and a poll worker walked me to the voting machine.

The poll worker activated the machine and gave me voting instructions. He gave me no warnings about the machine. I voted the first page which I believe ended with the Senate race. I scrolled to the second page and saw the state for governor etc. I believe. Midway through the fifteen pages I realized I didn't see the Congressional race between Christine Jennings and Vern Buchanan. I paged back until I found the Congressional race at the very top of the page which was not easily visible. I touched the block for Christine Jennings and it lit up. Then I paged ahead and finished voting in each race and reviewed the summary page to make sure the Congressional race was marked. The red light was flashing and I voted by touching the flashing vote button.

I used my fingertip to vote.

3. I am a qualified elector of the state of Florida residing at 5212 Siesta Cove Drive, Sarasota, FL 34242-1709
4. I voted at on or about Friday, November 3, 2006 before noon at the Venice Courthouse.
5. My intent was to cast a ballot for Christine Jennings for United States Congress, Florida District 13.

When I voted on the ivotronics touch screen voting machine, I brought a sheet with me to remind me of who and what amendments to vote for. I was certain that I voted for everything that had come up on my screen. I looked at my review screen and checked everything. Once I walked out, my husband told me about his problems with voting. He asked if I had voted for Christine Jennings and I became nauseous because I had realized that I had not seen it on any page, including the review page.

We went outside and asked people who were working with SAFE (the group trying to get the paper ballot amendment passed) if there had been any problems with voting on the 13th Congressional District race. They told me to go back inside and tell the poll workers. The head poll worker came out and told me that I did vote for the race and tried to convince me that I probably did not remember because it was in an awkward space on page two of the ballot. She kept assuring me that I did vote on the race and that women just do things subconsciously. She kept saying, "You did vote for that race."

She then had a poll worker vote, who agreed to let me see him vote and who he voted for. She said she had done this before. He purposely did not vote for the 13th Congressional race so that he could show me that it would show back up on the review. It came up on the summary that he did not vote for the 13th congressional race. When I saw the notification come up, I realized that there was no way that the message came up on my electronic ballot. He had voted all Republican according to his summary which made me suspicious.

I went through the whole ballot touching everything carefully. It was second time I used a touchscreen machine so I went very deliberately through it. I know I touched the little places I was supposed to touch for Christine Jennings. When I got to the review, it told me that I did not vote for Christine Jennings and I touched the screen and it recorded the vote. Then the little vote button lit up I pressed it.

My husband warned me about this problem because he experienced the same problem on a different machine shortly before I voted.

I voted by pushing the screen with my fingertip.

Within minutes, a very well-dressed man came out of the Church and told me I could not leave the flyers, "you're not allowed to do that here. I've had a complaint that you're trying to keep people from voting." I replied that I was not discouraging people from voting - just the opposite - I was asking them to be careful and review the summary page before finalizing their votes. He argued the issue with me, and was quite aggressive. It nearly put me in tears. I could identify him, if I saw him again.

On November 7, 2005 I experienced a technical problem with a voting machine located at Sarasota County Precinct #4. The problem I experience was specifically related to making my selection for the 13th Congressional race. After making selections for all of the various races I was presented with the final review page. While checking the machine recording of my selections I noticed that no selection had been recorded for the 13th Congressional race. I am certain I made a selection for this race when the machine first presented the screen to me. I am so certain because I had previously read the stories in the Sarasota Herald Tribune of similar voting problems and was being very careful to select the candidate of my choice for that race. From the review screen I moved to the 13th Congressional race screen where I was able to make my selection a second time. The second final review now showed my intended selections and I was able to officially record my vote.

After completing my vote I warned my wife, who was next in line to vote at the same machine (second machine from the left near the entrance), to be extra careful when selecting her choice for the 13th Congressional race. Even with that warning and the knowledge provided by the newspaper the machine marked the wrong candidate after she made her selection. She caught the mistake immediately and made a correction. She encountered no additional problems.

Before leaving the polling place I asked to speak to the senior poll worker so I might register an official complaint. She was unable to find the appropriate form but did record my complaint on a form used to record voter registration problems. She did not ask for my name or for me to sign the form.

My wife and I both asked the same senior poll worker why she or any of the other poll workers had not warned us or the other voters in the polling place at the time about possible problems making a selection for the 13th Congressional race. She made no reply. We then asked her to start making announcements as we believed she had been instructed to do by Kathy Dent, the Supervisor of Elections for Sarasota County. We lingered in the polling place for a few additional minutes to see if a warning would now be given to the voters waiting their turn to cast their ballot but no warnings were given.

Upon returning home I called the Jennings campaign office and the Democratic National Committee hotline (888-DEM-VOTE) to report the difficulties my wife and I had encountered.

4. I voted at North United Methodist Church, 4726 North Tamiami Trail, Sarasota, Florida. I voted on Nov. 7, 2006 at 2:10PM.
5. My intent was to cast a ballot for Christine Jennings for United States Congress, Florida District 13.
6. I pre-marked the sample ballot that had been sent to me and I took it with me to the precinct. I could concentrate on voting because I already had the sample ballot marked. I took my time to make sure each box was checked in every race. When I was done the summary came up and I noticed that no vote had been recorded in the Congressional race Jennings/Buchanan. I called over a poll worker and he came over and I explained I voted for Jennings and nothing showed up. He said, "We've been having that problem a lot." I replied, "How do we fix it?" Then he pushed some button and the machine took me back to Jennings/Buchanan slot where I again selected Jennings. The summary page came up again and a check did appear for Jennings. I pressed the vote button and I believe the vote was cast.

I was concerned that people not familiar with computers or the voting machine may not have noticed that the Congressional race was not recorded the first time through. As soon as I walked outside, I talked to someone working on the Jennings campaign and told her the story and gave her my sample ballot. I felt that a vote robbery was taking place. The Jennings campaign worker called someone to report the problem.

I was not warned in any way before the vote that there was a problem voting in the Congressional race.

I voted by pushing the screen with my fingertip.

STATE OF FLORIDA
COUNTY OF SARASOTA

Before me personally appeared Virginia Mount Hunter who after being duly sworn,
deposes, and says:

1. My name is Virginia Mount Hunter and I have personal knowledge of the matters set forth herein.

2. My date of birth is August 28, 1926 and I am otherwise competent.

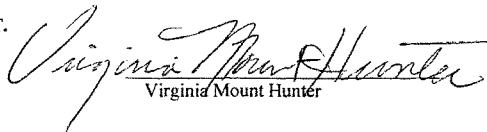

3. I am a qualified elector of the state of Florida residing at 770 S. Palm Ave., Apt.
1803, Sarasota, Florida 34236.

4. I voted on or about November 7, 2006 at Precinct 147, Payne Park Auditorium, 2100 Laurel St., Sarasota, Florida 34237.

5. My intent was to cast a ballot for Christine Jennings for United States Congress,
Florida District 13.

6. For me, the race for the 13th Congressional District race was the most important race in this election. I was specifically to the polling location to vote for Christine Jennings.
When I voted, I was sitting down and the touch screen voting machine was sitting flat on the table in front of me. I carefully went through my ballot making my selections. I recall seeing the heading "State" in bold letters on one of the screens. When I reached the end of my ballot, I was very concerned because I had not seen the race in which Christine Jennings was running – the 13th Congressional District race – on my ballot. I said in a loud voice to the poll workers present that that something was wrong because I had not seen Christine Jennings name on the ballot. Two poll workers came to my booth and paged back to the screen with the 13th Congressional District race. When we got to that screen – the same screen that had the word
"State" in bold letters – I saw Christine Jennings name pushed to the very top of the screen. I asked the poll workers to pull down the screen so I could see the race. When they did so, I could barely make out Vern Buchanan's name above Christine Jennings' name and there was no heading on the screen for that race. I made my selection for Christine Jennings and returned to the review screen to make sure her name was there and then cast my vote. I was very upset when I left the polling place because I felt that I had almost been finessed out of my vote.

5. My intent was to cast a ballot for Christine Jennings for United States Congress, Florida District 13.

6. At the polling location, one of the poll workers told me to watch out for the Congressional race on the ballot. I went through my touch screen ballot and then went to the review page which indicated that I had not made a selection in the 13th Congressional District race. I returned to the screen containing that race and made my selection for Christine Jennings. When I returned to the review screen a second time, it reflected my selection for Christine Jennings. In my opinion as a person who works with computers daily that having the highlighted word "State" on the second screen below the Congressional race made the screen very confusing. Having something highlighted and in bold would generally indicate the top of the page, thus causing people to miss the Congressional race above the word "State."

7. A relative of mine who works with the county elections office in another state told my mother-in-law after the election that he had heard about problems with the top of the touch-screen voting machine not registering a vote.

5. My intent was to cast a ballot for Christine Jennings for United States Congress, Florida District 13.
6. I brought a sample ballot with me already filled out. It did not correspond very well to the ballot on the screen. I scrolled through the votes and I 80% believe that I voted for Christine Jennings. When I got to the review, that is when the machine indicated that no vote was recorded for the Congressional race. I was astonished that no vote was recorded for Christine Jennings. I then checked the box for Christine Jennings and noted the check mark in the box by her name. After finishing the review, I hit the red vote button.

There were no lines and I did not feel pressured to vote quickly. No one warned me that there was a problem trying to vote for Christine Jennings.

Jennings. I touched Christine Jennings' name again and reviewed the ballot again. I voted

I was upset. I called the democratic party headquarters to tell them my experience with

6. When I arrived at the polling place there was no line so I walked right in. The poll worker checked me in but provided me with no instruction or guidance. I proceeded to start the voting process. I voted for Christine Jennings in the 13th Congressional District race. However, at the conclusion of the process, the review screen indicated I did not vote in the 13th Congressional District. So I went back to the page on which the race appeared and made my choice, again, for Christine Jennings and continued to the review page. The review page, again, did not show I voted in the 13th Congressional District race. For a third time, I went through the process and voted for Christine Jennings. This time, the vote was indicated on the review screen and I concluded the process. Later, it was upsetting to me to learn so many people did not vote in this race, and I can see why.

I then re-voted for Christine Jennings and checked the review page a second time to make sure my vote was shown.

7. The next day I learned a person I knew had the same problem. Later I called the clerk of precinct 115 to let him know about the problem and asked him to make sure the Supervisor of Elections knew about the problem.

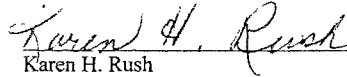

8. I also wrote to Tom Lyons and another writer for the Sarasota Herald-Tribune to inform them of the problem with the vote for Christine Jennings not registering the first time I voted for her.

9. I was also a poll worker at precinct 115, located at St. Jude Catholic Church, 3930 17th Street, Sarasota, Florida. To whom it may concern:

On October 30th, eight days before election day, I voted early at the City Hall building on Adams Street. I'm used to using a computer every day of my life and carefully pushed the buttons for the people I wanted to vote for. When I was finished, and was reviewing my votes, I realized that my vote for Christine Jennings did not register. I reviewed it again and the same result was shown. I remember vividly seeing voting for her and seeing it highlighted. I then, called for HELP from a poll worker, and two of them came over immediately. My husband who had already voted came over also, but the female poll worker got very upset and said that he could not stay there. She told me that I had PROBABLY NOT pushed it hard enough. So I did it again in her presence and then pushed the VOTE button.

I cannot tell you how upset I was. I reported it to ALL the women in the front office . I told them what had just happened to me, and they looked at me with blank stares, as if I was some sort of fanatic. I knew, that if this had happened to me, it might be happening to others. I decided it would be best to write a note to Kathy Dent and tell her of my experience, and I forwarded it to the Sarasota Herald. Kathy Dent's reaction in the beginning was, " It's the voters fault." OR 17,000 people happened to decide NOT TO

I only hope and pray that this travesty can be rectified.

AFFIDAVIT

I, Charles Clifton, being sworn, certify that the following statements are true:

Election Day 2006, I was a poll worker in Precinct 49. Beside myself, Inspector, there were:

1. Helen _____ Head Clerk
2. Jerry _____ (appeared to also be a clerk, maybe the Precinct Tech?)
3. Jack Martin, Inspector
4. Rita Stevens, Inspector
5. Claudia _____, Inspector
6. _____, (white woman) Inspector
7. _____, (black woman) Inspector
8. Richard _____, Deputy

Claudia, #7 and I performed the bulk of the activation duties. Helen and Jerry were usually at the table where communiqués were delivered. Jack, Rita, and #6 were almost always at the table where voters signed in. I don't think #6 ever did activation duty.

Helen and Jerry activated the DREs when Claudia, #7 and I (at different times) went to lunch for one half hour. They also helped activate intermittently during the day. Most of the time they were dealing with communiqués and organization.

Claudia and I did most of the activation in the morning. #7 and I did most of the activation in the afternoon.

Shortly after voting began, one machine ceased to function and another was noticed not to have a seal. Both were closed.

I guess it was about the tenth voter of the day who registered the first complaint about a selection for Christine Jennings not appearing on the summary. The complaints came regularly after that. Jerry was adamant in dismissing the complaints by stating that the voters had just not marked the ballot.

As the day went on, complaints mounted and became more strident. I estimate that it was around mid day when I first saw Helen on the phone speaking to what I understood was the SOE office. She then advised us that we should emphasize to the voter that they should check their summary page and point out to them that there are two races on page 2.

I never saw Helen nor Jerry fill out any incident report although I was not watching them all the time. I did witness multiple complaints that were made to Jerry and Helen which ended with the complainant leaving and no further action being taken by Helen nor Jerry.

JENNINGS - 00307

In the afternoon, Helen told me to take Rita's place at the sign in table. I probably did that for one half hour. It soon became evident that Rita was distressed standing so I went back to activating and she returned to the sign in table.

It was around this time that I noticed a heated discussion between Jerry and Jennifer Ahern-Koch, a woman I know from the neighborhood. Jennifer was adamant that she had touched the box for Christine Jennings, that a red X had appeared in the box on page 2 and that a vote for Jennings subsequently did not appear in the summary page. I heard at least two other heated conversations with Jerry holding fast to the argument that the voters had not marked the box on page 2 while the voters swore they had. The voters were stressing that they had caught the error in the machine processing but that it could be easily missed if someone else took the appearance of the red X in the box on page 2 to mean a vote for Jennings had been accepted. Complaints came consistently throughout the day but most plaintiffs voiced their complaint and did not stay to argue.

I talked to Jennifer after the election about her experience. Jennifer is a very organized, meticulous, intelligent person. She told me that she fills out the sample ballot with much thought beforehand. She takes the sample ballot with her and makes sure she marks the precinct ballot the same as the sample. She said she was warned by friends beforehand about what was going on. Therefore she carefully touched the box on page 2 for Christine Jennings and verified that the red X appeared. Nevertheless, when she got to the summary page no vote had been cast for Christine Jennings. Jennifer gave me permission to use her name and story in any communication.

After we began issuing warnings to "check summary page" and "notice that there are two races on page 2", many voters told me afterward, "Thank you for warning me because I voted for Jennings on page 2 and her name was not on the summary page when I got to the end."

Not a single voter directed to me, nor did I hear directed to another poll worker any complaint that a vote marked for Vern Buchanan on page 2 had not subsequently appeared on the summary page.

During the afternoon, Jack Martin took a stint at activation. I had to repeatedly help Jack activate the DRE. He was totally confounded by the process. From what I observed, he would not or could not express to the voter the warnings that we had been instructed to give. Jack asked to be relieved shortly after he began activating (maybe one half hour) and he went back to the sign in table.

Sometime during the day, the unsealed machine was removed and the machine that wasn't functioning began to function so Jerry told us we could use it. This was after "Antoine" with "Sarasota County" maroon shirt had come in and done something.

Thrice during the day I overheard Jerry having conversations with voters who appeared to be students about what their address was. It appeared to me that the gist of their arguments was that a clerk in another precinct had made a judgment on what was the voters' last address that indicated the voters should be voting in our precinct He sent the voters to us. Jerry had a different judgment about the applicable address and was sending them back to the precinct from which they came.

At check-in, the poll worker informed me there was a problem with the District 13 race, that some people are over-looking the race, and to be sure to check the review screen and go back if there was a problem. The poll worker advised if that did not work to raise my hand and ask for assistance. I proceeded to start the voting process. In the 13th Congressional District race when I attempted to vote for Christine Jennings, I pressed the box several times but my vote did not register after the first five or six attempts. My vote eventually registered, and at the end of the process was indicated on the review screen. The same problem occurred for candidate Skip Campbell, whose name appeared on the screen in the same location as Christine Jennings. I informed the poll worker and she responded "that happens." I found her response to be somewhat dismissive. The poll worker did not document the malfunction of the machine. I am concerned that others might have had this same problem but did not fix their vote or make sure it registered.

I am a political media consultant and strategist for a non-partisan campaign and could not at that time vote for my own candidate in the primary.

When I walked up to the screen the poll worker advised me to be sure and look at the top of the pages.

I tried to vote for Christine Jennings at the Waldemere Fire Station on November 7, 2006. I saw the "X" appear in the box next to her name, but when I did the final review the screen indicated that I had not voted for either Christine Jennings or Vern Buchanan. AFFIDAVIT CONCERNING FAILURE OF VOTING MACHINE AND
INTENT TO VOTE FOR CHRISTINE JENNINGS

STATE OF FLORIDA
COUNTY OF SARASOTA

Before me personally appeared Jacqueline M. Tucker who after being duly sworn, deposes, and says:

1. My name is Jacqueline M. Tucker and I have personal knowledge of the matters set forth herein.

2. My date of birth is May 21, 1939, and I am otherwise competent.

3. I am a qualified elector of the state of Florida residing at 3402 Winding Oaks Drive, Longboat Key, Florida 34228.

4. On November 7, 2006, I was a poll worker at Precinct 19, Town Hall of Longboat Key, Longboat Key, Florida. I worked from before the polls opened until after the polls closed (approximately 8:30 p.m.). I worked first at the registration desk and then as an "activator/inspector." While I was working as an activator/inspector, pursuant to written instructions I received from the clerk of our polling station, I was advising every voter that I escorted to a polling booth to be careful to look for the Vern Buchanan / Christine Jennings race at the top of the second screen. I also told them to carefully review their selections on the review screen. When a male poll worker who was a deputy clerk or "overseer" overheard me telling voters this, he chastised me for saying anything about problems with any of the machines and was constantly looking over my shoulder. I recall one particular voter who was in a hurry who I specifically advised to watch for the Buchanan / Jennings race. She said she did not have time to review the ballot, but I suggested that she do so. After she voted and went to the review screen, she called me over to the booth and said that her vote for Christine Jennings had not registered. I showed her how to re-cast her ballot. When she came out of the voting booth she thanked me and went over to the poll worker who had been chastising me and complained about the machine. He advised her, to the effect, that "you ladies hit the screen with your fingernails and not your finger, that's the problem." She was outraged and said she would be contacting the newspaper. He told this same thing (fingernail versus fingertip) to many female voters throughout the day. After chastising me numerous times, this particular poll worker finally came over to me later in the afternoon and said words to the effect that I was doing a good job.

5. I called the clerk the day after the election to tell her about the problems at the polling location and the clerk advised me that "hundreds of people were complaining about me." The next day in a telephone conversation she apologized and said that only two voters had complained about me.

AFFIDAVIT CONCERNING FAILURE OF VOTING MACHINE AND

STATE OF FLORIDA
COUNTY OF SARASOTA

Before me personally appeared, Jennifer Ellen Ahearn-Koch who after being duly sworn, deposes, and says:

1. My name is Jennifer Ellen Ahearn-Koch and I have personal knowledge of the matters set forth herein.
2. My date of birth is July 7, 1964. I am over eighteen (18) years of age and otherwise competent.
3. I am a qualified elector of the state of Florida residing at 1105 Tahiti Parkway, Sarasota Florida.
4. I voted at precinct 49, Bay Shore Mennonite Church, 3809 Chapel Drive, Sarasota on or about November 7, 2006 at about 2:00 pm.
5. My intent was to cast a ballot for Christine Jennings for United States Congress, Florida District 13.
6. When I voted on the ivotronics touch screen voting machine I clearly remember voting for Christine Jennings. I touched the screen with my finger and I clearly remember the screen showing my vote by showing an x on the screen. I decided to review my ballot because of the articles I read in the newspaper regarding the problems with the voting machine. When I got to the review screen I was shocked to see that no vote was indicated for United States Congress, Florida District 13. I called over a poll worker and she watched me page back and re-vote for Christine Jennings. This time when I went back to the review screen it showed a vote for Jennings.
7. The poll worker seemed unconcerned about my vote for Jennings did not register. When I brought the problem to the attention of the other poll workers, they did not accept that there was a problem and treated me like I was making a big deal out of nothing. At no time did I see any poll workers inform me or any of the voters in the polling place that there was a problem with the ballot, and at no time did any poll worker tell me or other voters to bring any problems to their attention. Charles Clifton was present and witnessed how the poll workers treated me after I reported the problem.

Before me personally appeared, Susan Warfield Gaar who after being duly sworn, deposes, and says:

1. My name is Susan Warfield Gaar and I have personal knowledge of the matters set forth herein.
2. My date of birth is October 4, 1946. I am otherwise competent.
3. I am a qualified elector of the state of Florida residing at 508 45th St. Sarastoa, Florida 34234.
4. I voted at the Saratoa County Terrace Building, Sarasota, Florida. I voted early before Nov. 7, 2006.
5. My intent was to cast a ballot for Christine Jennings for United States Congress, Florida District 13.
6. I worked as a poll inspector during the election and my duty was to activate machines and instruct people on voting. On voting day, November 7 I worked at precinct five at the Lutheran Church on School Ave. Within the first half hour of voting, a voter complained that the Congressional race between Jennings and Buchanan did not appear on his ballot until he found it on the review screen. He said he corrected the vote but he wanted me to know it had happened. The precinct clerk was advised of the problem.

Later in the day, a voter became irate and called me over to the machine to look at her ballot and she insisted that she had voted in the Congressional race but there was no evidence that she had voted in that race on the review screen. She finished voting and went to the precinct clerk's desk and filed a report.

The next thing I observed was that after a voter completed the voting process and left the building, I noticed that the screen on her machine said "continue" in small letters. I raced out to catch her to finish to the voting process on the belief she hadn't completed it. She said she had completed it. I insisted that she hadn't finished voting because the machine said continue. She went back to the machine and she continued the voting process until the machine acknowledged her voting was complete by screen that said "thank you for voting."

A similar thing happened later in the evening. A voter having gone through the entire voting process got the "thank you for voting screen." After he left, the message

JENNINGS - 00318

"continue" came up. " The "continue" message was faint with small letters. It was inconspicuous. I got the voter and he told me and the clerk that he was positive that he had pushed the vote button and that he had seen the screen "Thank you for voting" before he left. I made report to the supervisor of elections.

Other voters throughout the day complained that the Congressional race did not come up until they got to the review screen.

I did not know to warn voters about the problem of the Congressional race not being apparent on the ballot until a co-worker mentioned that he had seen the supervisor of elections on TV the night before warning voters that a particular page was hard to see. At no time were poll workers told to warn voters of the problem specifically and they were only instructed to make sure that voters reviewed their vote on the review screen.

Before me personally appeared, Marc David Shapiro who after being duly sworn, deposes, and says:

1. My name is Marc David Shapiro and I have personal knowledge of the matters set forth herein.
2. My date of birth is 8/31/59 [OR: I am over eighteen (18) years of age] and otherwise competent.
3. I am a qualified elector of the state of Florida residing at 5212 Siesta Cove Drive, Sarasota, FL 34242-1709
4. I voted at Courthouse in Venice, FL on or about Friday, November 3, 2006 before noon.
5. My intent was to cast a ballot for Christine Jennings for United States Congress, Florida District 13.

6. When I voted on the ivotronics touch screen voting machine, they took me to the screen and signed me in as a registered democrat. They explained that I had to keep moving from next page to next page. I voted for Nelson for US Senate. Then I voted Christine Jennings for U.S. Congress. I am positive that I touched the box for Christine Jennings and then voted for Davis for Governor below my vote for Christine Jennings. I went through the rest of the ballots and voted on election. I came to the summary part and carefully reviewed it, especially because I was on the ballot myself. I noticed that the congressional race reflected an empty box and it notified me that I did not vote in the U.S. Congressional race for Florida's 13th district. I touched Christine Jennings' box again and it moved me back to the U.S. Congressional race page w/ out the Governor's race below it. I pressed the box for Christine Jennings again and hit, "Next Page." It brought me back to the summary. It reflected a vote for Christine Jennings and the rest of my previous votes. The vote light was blinking red and I pressed it. Then it moved on to the next page which appeared to be a new ballot for the next voter.

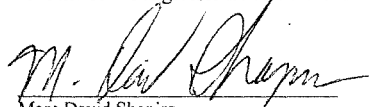

I then notified head of the polling location and she made a call to Kathy Dent's office, because they recognized me as a candidate having problems at the polls. Then Kathy Dent's office apparently notified reporters of my incident. I was contacted within two hours by Todd Rugger at the Sarasota Herald-Tribune.

Also, after I had talked with the woman at the polling place they had notified me that there had been problems with people missing the U.S. Congressional race due to the location of where the race was located on the ballot. She said the idea was to be able to pick it up during the summary.

JENNINGS - 00320

The only thing the poll workers had mentioned to me before I voted was to review my ballot carefully. They never mentioned anything specific about the 13th Congressional district race.

3. I am a qualified elector of the state of Florida residing at 1623 Pelican Cove Road, BA 126, Sarasota, Florida 34231.
4. I voted at precinct 29 Presbyterian Church of the Covenant on or about November 7, 2006 at about 10:00 am.
5. My intent was to cast a ballot for Christine Jennings for United States Congress, Florida District 13.
6. A person outside the polling place (and more than 100 feet from the entrance) told me to be very careful when you go to page 2 because there seemed to be a problem. The poll worker who put the card in the voting machine said he had been asked to tell people to be careful to make sure that my vote registered on page 2 of the ballot, and that there had been problems with registering votes on page 2.
7. When I voted on the iVotronics touch screen voting machine I touched the screen to vote for Christine Jennings. Having been warned that there was a problem with page 2, I made sure my vote registered for Christine Jennings and I heard the machine beep to indicate a selection. When I got to the end of the ballot I went to the review page and it did not show a vote in the United States Congress, Florida District 13 race. It was the only race that did not show a vote. I then paged back to page 2 and re-voted for Christine Jennings. I went back to the review page to make sure my vote for Congressional District 13 had registered. This time the review screen showed a vote for Jennings.
8. There were many older people at my polling place who appeared to be having problems with the touch screen machines.

AFFIDAVIT CONCERNING FAILURE OF VOTING MACHINE AND

Before me personally appeared, Steven Runfeldt who after being duly sworn, deposes, and says:

1. My name is Steven Runfeldt and I have personal knowledge of the matters set forth herein.
2. My date of birth is September 22, 1955. I am over eighteen (18) years of age and otherwise competent.
3. I am a qualified elector of the state of Florida residing at 3246 Maiden Lane, Sarasota, FL 34231.
4. I was notified by a Democratic poll greeter at 7:00 AM on November 7, 2006 that there was a problem with the voting machines in Precinct 22. I arrived at Temple Sinai, 4631 S Lockwood Ridge, Sarasota, around 12:15 PM. I observed the opening tapes from the voting machines on the door, and saw two tapes, one for each precinct at that voting location. The tape for Precinct 22 listed only three machines as successfully opened and zeroed between 7:18 and 7:23 AM. The tape for Precinct 4 showed one machine (machine number S/N V106904) with an openings date of 01/45179/1994, while the other machines showed correct dates of 11/07/2006. I proceeded into the polling location, and asked for the clerk. I was introduced to the clerk for Precinct 4, who asked me if I was the man from the Supervisor's Office coming to fix the machine. I informed her that I was the Democratic Precinct Captain for Precinct 22, and that I was inquiring as to the problems with the machines for Precinct 22. I asked what the problem with the machines from Precinct 4 was, and she indicated that a date was wrong with one of the machines. She directed me to the Precinct 22 side of the polling place. I asked to speak to the clerk, and I was introduced to a man who identified himself as the clerk. I identified myself as a Precinct 22 Democratic Committeeman, and told him I had a question about the machines that had not been zeroed out. He asked me "Am I allowed to talk to you?" I told him that he could, as far as I was concerned. He called the supervisor's office, and informed me that he was unable to speak to me. I asked him why, and he said he was sorry, but he could not talk to me. I went outside and took pictures of the tapes in question. I then proceeded to the Democratic Headquarters, where I reported to the election attorneys on site as well as a filmmaker. We decided the best course of action would be to return to the precinct, and document on video camera the problems I had described with an attorney present, as well as pursue an answer from the clerk for Precinct 22. However, upon arriving at the polling place, I saw Kathy Dent emerging from the polling place. I got out of the car and asked if she had time to answer a few questions about the machines. She asked me what the problem was, and I told her there were three machines certified, but ten machines in use. She replied that "I personally put 60,000 votes for Vern Buchanan on each of those machines. And you can quote me." I asked her to please be serious, and indicated that the problem may be a simple one, but it was disturbing. She told me she would not be talking to me, and walked toward her car. Our attorney, James Keeney, approached her as well, and asked to speak with her. She refused. He asked her, "Can you just answer a few questions?" She replied, "Not from you" as she entered the car. Her driver, later identified as a Deputy Sheriff, drove off. After a moment, we noticed that they had driven to the edge of the parking lot, one hundred yards away, and their car was paused there. We began walking towards the car. As we approached the car, it began to drive in our direction. We attempted to flag the car down, but quickly became aware that the car was increasing in speed as it headed towards us. At the last moment, we jumped out of the way, and some part of the car hit James Keeney's clipboard, which was tucked under his arm. Immediately, the car stopped, the deputy emerged, and threatened to arrest us if we hit his car again. We informed him that as he was driving a vehicle in a parking lot, and we were pedestrians, it was his obligation to avoid hitting us. We attempted to ask Supervisor Dent questions about the discrepancy in the voting machine tapes, but she refused to speak to us, and drove off. I returned to the polling place that evening around 1 AM to observe the closing tapes. I discovered that Precinct 22 showed closings for ten machines, and that the first seven machines had been opened around 6:30 AM, leaving a forty-five minute gap between the opening of the final three machines which had been showed on the opening tape, and the other seven machines. The Precinct 4 tape now showed that machine number S/N V106904 with a closing time of 19:08:22 11/07/2006, clearly indicating that someone had fixed the machine over the course of the day. On the closing tape for Precinct 22, we noticed that the final three machines all had public counts of exactly fifty-three votes, and two of the remaining machines had public counts of seventy-six votes.

I was a precinct poll worker at precinct # 55 in Venice. I was there from 6 am to 8pm 11/7/06. Before the balloting began a person from Dent's office came to explain to us to warn people about the congressional race screen. There had been problems with the votes from that race not being fully recorded. He also said to caution people to pay close attention to the review screen before pushing the red button. Most of the poll workers paid little attention to the instructions and we also had 2 teenagers from a local civics class working as poll workers. They also paid little attention to the instructions. Myself and the asst. clerk were the only ones who cautioned the voters about the congressional race on a consistent basis. I tried my best to remind the poll workers of the importance of the instructions we had been given. On several occasions when voters were confused about the review screen - I heard poll workers tell them to just skip over it and push the red button. Some voters were leaving before finishing the vote. Their review screen was still exhibited and the red button had not been pushed finishing their ballot. We were able to get some of them back to finish their ballot, but one voter we couldn't catch. Our computer tech was overheard explaining the process without mentioning the review screen. The voter asked if there was a review screen and the tech said yes, but gave no further explanation about the review screen and did not caution him about the problems we had been experiencing. I felt in general that most of the voters were not fully informed.

5. My intent was to cast a ballot for Christine Jennings for United States Congress, Florida District 13.
6. When I voted on the ivotronics touch screen voting machine, I'd been alerted of problems so I was taking special care to look and make certain that every vote I placed recorded an "X" in the box, and they all appeared to do so. But when I reviewed the summary page, the Congressional race had not registered my vote, and it was the only vote I cast that did not record. I scrolled back to the screen for the Congressional race, revoted for Christine Jennings, and my second review of the summary page appeared to have recorded my revote for Christine Jennings. On my way out, I alerted the deputized poll worker of my problem, and he only said he "was glad I'd noticed it." He did not, to my knowledge, take any further action to alert anyone else of the problem.

Before me personally appeared, Patricia Roberts Cohen who after being duly sworn,
deposes, and says:

1. My name is Patricia Roberts Cohen and I have personal knowledge of the matters set forth herein.
2. My date of birth is April 10, 1929 and otherwise competent.
3. I am a qualified elector of the state of Florida residing at 5277 Landings Blvd., Sarasota, FL 34231-9111.
4. I voted at Gulf Gate Library on or about October 24, 2006.
5. My intent was to cast a ballot for Christine Jennings for United States Congress, Florida District 13.

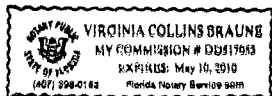

6. When I voted on the ivotronics touch screen voting machine, I cast my ballot. I had my list and voted for every Democrat on the ballot. I was fairly certain that I had voted in the Congressional race. When I got to the review screen, it indicated that I had not voted in the Congressional race. I went back and voted for Christine Jennings, but was not certain that my vote had registered because I do not recall getting a review screen the second time. I used my finger to touch the screen.

4. I voted at Fruitville Library on or about November 5, 2006.
5. My intent was to cast a ballot for Christine Jennings for United States Congress, Florida District 13.
6. When I voted on the ivotronics touch screen voting machine, I voted for Christine Jennings. At the end, I verified my votes but the screen indicated that I had not voted for Ms. Jennings. It showed no vote in the Congressional race. I went back and voted again for Ms. Jennings. This time the vote seemed to register. I used my fingernail to hit the screen. In addition, for the governor's race, I voted for Jim Davis, but my vote registered for the Republican candidate automatically. When I got to the review screen, I saw that my vote was inaccurate. I had to go back and correct my vote to indicate I had voted for Jim Davis, not Charlie Crist.

4. I was a poll watcher for the Democratic Executive Committee at Precinct 115 at St. Jude's Catholic Church.
5. I observed the following during my poll-watching, from 3 p.m. to 7 p.m.:
 - a. The poll workers were aware of possible difficulties in the voting in the District 13 race as at least one of the workers had personally experienced such difficulty during early voting and was referring to the article in the November 7 Sarasota Herald-Tribune discussing such difficulty.
 - b. There were four poll workers registering voters. Two of the those poll workers were very diligent in reminding voters to carefully review the summary page to assure that their votes were reflected prior to pressing the vote button. The other two poll workers were not as diligent, and I made a special point of complementing the two diligent workers about their reminder. None of the poll workers were alerting voters to the fact that page two of the ballot contained two races.
6. I also observed several people who were utilizing wireless headset technology while voting. I do not know whether there is any possibility that such technology interfered in the voting, but I was told not to bring my cell phone to the precinct and assume that there is some reason for not doing so.

3. I am a qualified elector of the state of Florida residing at 4605 Trails Drive, Sarasota, Florida 34232-3481.
4. I voted at the Terrace Building, on Saturday, November 4, 2006. To my knowledge, the poll workers were not giving any instruction to review the summary page before finalizing one's vote, and made no mention of any special caution or concern. I have voted touch-screen machines before.
5. My intent was to cast a ballot for Christine Jennings for United States Congress, Florida District 13. In fact, while the other races and amendments were important to me, this race above all else motivated me to vote this November.,
6. When I voted on the ivotronics touch screen voting machine, given the importance I'd placed on the Congressional race, I kept on waiting for it to come up, and was quite surprised when the summary page came up and I'd not yet been given the opportunity to cast a vote in the Congressional race. The summary screen confirmed this, and this was the only race/amendment for which I experienced this problem. I returned to the Congressional race screen, and cast a vote for Christine Jennings. My second review of the summary screen seemed to indicate that the vote had then recorded.

6. When I voted on the ivotronics touch screen voting machine [insert voter's story]

I arrived at my polling place between 8:30-9 AM Election Day. I finished voting but then realized I hadn't cast my vote for Christine Jennings. I went back and forth on the pages 2 or 3 times but didn't see her name. I went through me more time and finally found the race, and was able to vote for Jennings. If I had not been persistent I would never get to vote for Jennings. She was the primary reason for me voting.

5. My intent was to cast a ballot for Christine Jennings for United States Congress, Florida District 13. In fact, the Congressional race was the most important for me in this voting cycle.
6. When I voted on the ivotronics touch screen voting machine, I cast a vote in all races and all amendment measures, and voted for Christine Jennings. But when I reviewed the summary page at the end of the ballot, it did not show a vote for Christine Jennings. This was the only issue/race affected with this problem. I called over a poll worker, explained my surprise and the problem, and was instructed to return to the Congressional race page. Upon more careful inspection on the return, it is my opinion that the race was poorly placed (almost off the top of the page), the type was lighter, and even appeared to be smaller than that used for the other races/amendments. My revote appears to have recorded on the page for the race, but I regret I did not return to the summary page to make a second review of the summary page.

6. During the primary election using the touch-screen voting machine, when I went to the review screen I found that I had missed making a selection for the Attorney General's race. Therefore, when I voted in the general election, I was particularly careful as I went through the ballot. After making my selections on the ballot and going to the review screen, I found that I had not made a selection in the 13th Congressional District race between Vern Buchanan and Christine Jennings. Because of my experience in the primary election and because I consider myself computer-savvy, I was surprised that I had not seen the race listed on the ballot. I touched the box on the review screen for that race and it took me to a screen just containing the Buchanan / Jennings race. I was able to record my selection on that screen and I was able to confirm my selection for Christine Jennings. No one at the polling station warned me of any problems.

I called over a poll worker and she was unable to show me how to correct my ballot and re-vote for Christine Jennings. She said I should touch the one I wanted to vote for, but that did not work on the review page. I tried to touch the United States Congress, Florida District 13 race but the machine did not allow me to do that on this screen. The poll worker did not indicate that I could page back and re-vote. 2. My date of birth is November 1, 1956 and I am competent.
3. I am a qualified elector of the state of Florida residing at 1905 Tulip Drive, Sarasota, Florida 34239.
4. I voted on November 7, 2006, Precinct 11, at the a church on Worthington Street at 7:15 a.m..
5. My intent was to cast a ballot for Christine Jennings for United States Congress, Florida District 13.
6. When I went to cast my vote on the touch screen voting machine I couldn't find the congressional race- I kept thinking when is it going to come up. I got down to the amendments and then I hit preview pages and kept going backwards. I got back to the page with the gubernatorial race and still didn't see it. I didn't think of asking for help- I kept hitting "next, next, next" to get back to the amendments - I voted for the amendments thinking the congressional race would be after, and it wasn't. I hit review at which point it said I hadn't voted for the congressional race and then I supposedly voted for it- I left not knowing if I had voted. I then went to a poll worker on the way out and told him "I could not find the congressional race" and he said "well you voted". Then I told the person at the door the same thing and she said "well you voted if it came up on the review". I called the office of the supervisor of elections and voiced my concerns and then the I called the democratic office. Contrary to Kathy Dent's representations, I was not advised to pay special attention to Page 2.

1. My name is RICHARD A. POTTS and I have personal knowledge of the matters set forth herein.
2. My date of birth is August 27, 1956, and I am otherwise competent.
3. I am a qualified elector of the state of Florida residing at 4164 Olive Avenue, Sarasota, Florida 34231-7610.
4. I voted Precinct 22, early voting at the Terrace Building next to the Police Dept. and Courthouse, on Sunday, November 5, 2006. There was no notice or warning by poll workers to confirm all votes on the summary page before casting the final VOTE button.
5. My intent was to cast a ballot for Christine Jennings for United States Congress, Florida District 13, and I was quite interested in this race.
6. When I voted on the ivotronics touch screen voting machine, I went through what I believed to be every race and every measure. I was in a hurry, and I did not review the summary page. Outside, my family and I began to discuss our votes, and I realized that I did not specifically recall even seeing a screen or section for the Congressional vote. Since I was very interested in this race, I went back into the voting station and asked the poll superintendent took me back to my machine, pulled up my electronic votes and, indeed, there was no vote cast for the Congressional race. This was the only race or measure that did not record a vote on my ballot. I asked to be able to cast a vote, they accommodated this and, to my knowledge, the machine seemed to have finally recorded my vote for Christine Jennings.

5. My intent was to cast a ballot for Christine Jennings for United States Congress, Florida District 13.
6. I was a poll watcher at District 101, Incarnation Church. Two specific people made complaints regarding the electronic voting. Ms. Schwartzkopf complained to the poll workers and they told her that her machine was not malfunctioning. She specifically complained about the Jennings/Buchanan race. Ms. Wildgrube asked for a paper ballot. The Clerk told her there were none available. I later went to observe the election results and noted that there was a sign on the board that said that people with disabilities had the option of a large print paper ballot. A total of 606 persons voted in the election at my precinct. Only 532 persons voted in the Jennings/Buchanan race. This is a 12.2% undervote.

5. I intended to, and ultimately did, vote for Christine Jennings in the District 13 race.
6. In casting my vote, I experienced the following difficulty: When the summary page appeared, I realized that no vote was reflected in the District 13 race. I called over a poll worker to find out what I was supposed to do to go back to find the District 13 race on the ballot. The poll worker, who was reluctant to come close to the voting machine, told me to press a button, which then took me back to a page that contained ONLY the District 13 race. I cast my vote for Christine Jennings and then asked the poll worker how to get back to the summary page. He told me to press another button, which I did, and was returned to the summary page which then reflected my vote. Prior to voting, no poll worker alerted me to any possible difficulty in locating the District 13 race on the ballot.

Before me personally appeared, Linda Baughman Flores who after being duly sworn, deposes, and says:

1. My name is Linda Baughman Flores and I have personal knowledge of the matters set forth herein.
2. My date of birth is 10-01-57. I am over eighteen (18) years of age and otherwise competent.
3. I am a qualified elector of the state of Florida residing at 1228 S. Shade, Sarasota, Florida 34239.
4. I voted at precinct 41, on or about November 7, 2006.
5. My intent was to cast a ballot for Christine Jennings for United States Congress, Florida District 13.
6. When I voted on the ivotronics touch screen voting machine, and reached the summary page, the 13th congressional selection came up as no choice made. I manually went back to the screen page with the 13th congressional race selection, and chose Christine Jennings. I saw a review page for the second time, and verified that Jennings was selected. I then selected the vote button. I approached a pole worker and told her about what had happened, she said that I must have forgotten, and asked me if I had reviewed my ballot. I replied that I had.

1. My name is MILTON FOX, JR. and I have personal knowledge of the matters set forth herein.
2. My date of birth is November 1, 1925, and I am otherwise competent.
3. I am a qualified elector of the state of Florida residing at 340 South Palm Avenue, Sarasota, Florida 34236-6723
4. I voted at Main Election Office, at the Terrace Building, on Tuesday, the 31st of October. No warning or special instructions were issued by poll workers with regard to the Congressional race.
5. My intent was to cast a ballot for Christine Jennings for United States Congress, Florida District 13.
6. When I voted on the ivotronics touch screen voting machine, I touched the screen for Christine Jennings and it appeared to register. This race was the most important to me, and in fact I made certain it was the first race I looked for on the ballot and the first vote I made. But when I reviewed the summary page at the end of the ballot, it did not show a vote for Christine Jennings. I had to return to the selection page to re-vote, and my second review of the summary screen indicated I was successful on the revote.

4. I voted at the Supervisor of Elections office on or about Sunday, November 5, 2006, at approximately 4:00 p.m.
5. My intent was to cast a ballot for Christine Jennings for United States Congress, Florida District 13.
6. When I voted on the ivotronics touch screen voting machine, my wife assisted me in voting because I recently had eye surgery. She read off the candidates and amendments to me and I told her which button to push. We got to the last page, the review page, and my vote for Christine Jennings was not recorded. We called over a poll worker. She we probably just missed that category. We did not agree with her because my wife had just voted successfully beforehand. We went back and fixed the ballot.

5. My intent was to cast a ballot for Christine Jennings for United States Congress, Florida District 13.
6. When I voted on the ivotronics touch screen voting machine I did not see a place to vote for Christine Jennings or Vern Buchanan when I got to the summary it indicated I had not voted in that race. This confused me. I wasn't sure what to do and went to get a poll worker who was busy so I tried to figure it out myself then I believe I cast a ballot and voted for Christine Jennings. The next day or so I reported the problem to the Jennings campaign.

- 5. My intent was to cast a ballot for Christine Jennings for United States Congress, Florida District 13.

6. When I voted on the ivotronics touch screen voting machine I knew who I was going to vote for in the election. I wanted to vote straight democratic. I voted as the machine instructed me and when I got to the last page, there was a red alert on the screen that instructed me that I has left one of the races blank. I was sure that I had voted on all the races. However, after the alert, I asked one of the poll workers what the red alert meant and she said that I had probably not voted in one of the races. She instructed me to use the back key to get back to that page. I got to the Jennings/Buchanan race and it was blank. This surprised me because one of the main reasons that I was motivated to vote was to cast my vote for Jennings. I voted for Jennings and it appeared on the final check over. On my way out I alerted the poll worker that they needed to keep an eye on the machine. I work in computers and this was a clear signal to me that the machine was not working.

When I requested "review" a prompt appeared to indicate that I had not cast a vote in that race. It invited me to "return to that page" which I did. I touched the screen to vote for Christine Jennings. The review screen again appeared & displayed a vote for C. Jennings. I pushed the prompt to cast my total ballot & lest wondering what why I had not seen the Jennings Buchanan choice the 1st time thru the pages.

AFFIDAVIT CONCERNING FAILURE OF VOTING MACHINE AND INTENT TO VOTE FOR CHRISTINE JENNINGS

STATE OF FLORIDA
COUNTY OF SARASOTA

Before me personally appeared, John Sidney Shrauger, who after being duly sworn, deposes, and says:

1. My name is John Sidney Shrauger and I have personal knowledge of the matters set forth herein.

2. My date of birth is 6-7-38 and I am otherwise competent.

3. I am a qualified elector of the state of Florida residing at [address] 501 Harbor Drive South, Venice, FL 34285

4. I voted at [polling place] South County Administration Bldg Precinct _____ on or about [date] 11-4-06

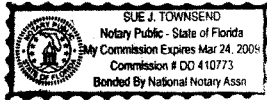

5. My intent was to cast a ballot for Christine Jennings for United States Congress, Florida District 13.

6. When I voted on the ivotronics touch screen voting machine [insert voter's story]

I was the Clerk of Precinct 45 on 11-7. I had received written instructions from Kathy Dault on 11-4 to alert voters that previous voters were overlooking the District 13 congressional race and that they should look to see that their vote had registered when they reviewed their ballot. The assistant clerk + I did this throughout the morning hours when there was a line of voters and we asked the voters to do the same throughout the day. I am sure that not every voter was reminded, but the majority certainly were. Despite this, there was a higher than average percentage of undervotes in our precinct.

6. When I voted on the ivotronics touch screen voting machine [insert voter's story]

I voted for the candidates I preferred, including Bill Nelson for US Senate. When I reviewed my vote, it showed that I had voted for Katherine Harris, who I did not check on my ballot. I thought it might be my mistake, so I went back to the ballot, and very carefully made sure I checked Nelson. Again, the review screen said Katherine Harris. I complained to the officials then and one came over to help. I marked the ballot the 3rd time for Nelson, and again it said Harris on the review screen. Although we were very, very careful to vote for Nelson. I tried a fourth time, and finally, the review screen said Nelson, so I pushed the vote button.

I am a previous poll worker and my occupation is in software development. I am very familiar with computer programs and these voting machines. When I was marking my ballot, I was very confident that I had voted in all of the races that I had intended to vote for. When I got to the review page I saw that I had not voted for Christine Jennings or Skip Campbell, Attorney General. I had intended to vote for both. When I went back to mark the ballot, a page with only the congressional race appeared. That page was not a part of the original ballot. I did the same thing for the attorney general race and a page with only that race appeared. After I voted I went straight to the poll worker and explained my problem. They told me that everyone had experienced the same problem that day – so we have been telling everyone to carefully review page 2 because those races were at the top of the page and almost unnoticeable. I said – no one told me that just 5 minutes ago.

5. My intent was to cast a ballot for Christine Jennings for United States Congress, Florida District 13.
6. I voted on the ivotronics touch screen voting machine. It was not very busy when I arrived at the polling location. I was told by the poll worker that there have been problems with the vote. I made three requests for a paper ballot and each time he explained it was not possible for me to use a paper ballot. The poll worker mentioned that voters were complaining that they could not find the vote for Congress on the ballot. He also told me that he had received a call from Kathy Dent's office that instructed him to advise voters of this problem. I specifically recall voting in the Senate and then the Governor's race, I continued on and still did not see a listing for Congressional Representative. I back-spaced through two screens, from page three to page one, in an effort to find the Congressional ballot and eventually called over a poll worker for assistance. He pointed to a black line on the top of the machine and indicated that it was the Congressional ballot. The machine was set at what must have been a 12-15 degree angle making it impossible to see both congressional candidates. In order to view it in its entirety I had to lean forward and look directly down so that I could view the names of both candidates. I then voted for Jennings, completed voting and after assessing the review screen I confirmed the final vote. I also recall the oddity of having the Congressional race come before the Senate race on the ballot.

machine had not recorded my vote for Christine Jennings, and I returned to the appropriate page for that race. I tried repeatedly to select Christine Jennings, but was unsuccessful. I moved to another page, and then returned to the page with the Congressional race. At that time, I was able to select Christine Jennings. I returned to the review page a second time, saw that my selection had registered, and cast my vote. I received no instruction from poll staff in regards to paying close attention to this race. My husband, Dennis A. Morton, experienced similar problems when he cast his vote later that day.

Before me personally appeared, Margot Coville who after being duly sworn, deposes, and says:

1. My name is Margot Coville and I have personal knowledge of the matters set forth herein.
2. My date of birth is 4/19/29. [OR: I am over eighteen (18) years of age] and otherwise competent.
3. I am a qualified elector of the state of Florida residing at 216 Bird Key Drive, Sarasota, FL 34236.
4. I voted at Plymouth Harbor (Senior Center) on or about November 7th, 2006.
5. My intent was to cast a ballot for Christine Jennings for United States Congress, Florida District 13.
6. When I voted on the ivotronics touch screen voting machine on November 7th, the 13th Congressional race did not appear on my machine the first time I voted. That morning I heard on the news that there had been problems with the machines. With this in mind, I took note that my first review page had no vote recorded. I followed the steps to return to page 2, where the candidates' names for Congress then appeared. I selected Christine Jennings and my vote was on the review page this time. However, I fear I may have not had my vote counted if I had not been aware there were problems with the voting machines.

I knew that my precinct had changed, but was not certain where the new one would be. I believed her information. When I arrived I was informed that I was at the wrong polling place. It was too late to go to the proper polling place. I was referred to a poll worker that seemed to be in charge of special cases like my own. After much conversation I was told that I could not cast a provisional ballot. They did not give an explanation. I was very upset that I did not have the opportunity to vote and I partially blamed myself. I should have checked the callers information, but she seemed so sincere and sure of what she said. When I reached the review screen it said that I had not voted for US Congress. I was surprised because I remembered voting in the race. I paged back until I reached the Congressional vote screen and the vote for Jennings was no longer highlighted. I re-cast my vote at that time and I did not see the review screen again. I then pressed the blinking button to confirm my vote. I did not get a message thanking me for my vote instead the machine went directly to the flag screen.

1. My name is Debra Alma Joseph and I have personal knowledge of the matters set forth herein.
2. My date of birth is April 25, 1968. I am over eighteen (18) years of age and otherwise competent.
3. I am a qualified elector if the state of Florida residing at 3152 Bay Street, Sarasota, Florida, 34237.
4. I voted at Precinct 148, St. Paul Lutheran Church , Bahia Vista Street, on November 7, 2006 at approximately 2:00 p.m.
5. My intent was to cast a ballot for Christine Jennings for United States Congress, Florida District 13.
6. I voted on the ivotronics touch screen voting machine. It was not very busy when I arrived at the polling location. I checked in and a poll worker asked if I understood how to use the machine. He did not give me any specific instructions or guidance about the review screen or the congressional vote. When I reached the amendments I realized that I was never given the option to vote for US Congress. I went through the remainder of the ballot and when I reached the review screen there was no candidate selected for the Congressional race. I went back to cast my vote for Jennings and sent my final vote. I then signed-in to assist my mother with voting because she was having a problem finding the congressional race on her ballot. My mother was using a different machine.

AFFIDAVIT CONCERNING FAILURE OF VOTING MACHINE AND

STATE OF FLORIDA
COUNTY OF SARASOTA

Before me personally appeared, Janet H. Bachowski, who after being duly sworn,
deposes, and says:

1. My name is Janet H. Bachowski, and I have personal knowledge of the matters set forth herein.
2. My date of birth is October 27, 1950. I am over eighteen (18) years of age and otherwise competent.
3. I am a qualified elector of the state of Florida residing at 4746 Ben Johnson Circle, Sarasota, Florida 34241.
4. I early voted at the Department of Elections on October 27th at approximately 11:30 a.m.
5. My intent was to cast a ballot for Christine Jennings for United States Congress, Florida District 13.
6. The polling place was not busy when I arrived. A poll worker checked me in and asked if I knew how to use the machine, after replying "yes" she gave me no further instruction or guidance. I specifically remember voting for Christine on the Congressional ballot. I am certain of this because the Congressional vote was one of the primary reasons I came out to vote. When I selected Jennings, a Vern Buchanan's became highlighted in blue. I re-selected Jennings and the blue line moved back to Jennings name. When I arrived at the review page the Congressional ballot was left blank. I then went back to the Congressional vote, selected Jennings name again. After my second attempt to vote I was returned to the review page and the Congressional race still remained blank. I returned to the Congressional vote screen for the third time and selected Christine Jennings name and then confirmed the vote on the review page.

FURTHER AFFIANT SAYETH NOT.

STATE OF FLORIDA
COUNTY OF SARASOTA

Before me personally appeared, Edward Thomas Sampey who after being duly sworn, deposes, and says:

1. My name is Edward Thomas Sampey and I have personal knowledge of the matters set forth herein.
2. My date of birth is December 6, 1953. I am over eighteen (18) years of age and otherwise competent.
3. I am a qualified elector of the state of Florida residing 4700 Woodward Place, Sarasota, Florida, 34233.
4. I voted at at precinct 98, Bee Ridge Park on Lockwood Ridge Road. Sarasota, Florida, on November 7, 2006 at approximately 5:30 p.m.
5. My intent was to cast a ballot for Christine Jennings for United States Congress, Florida District 13.
6. The voting booths were full, I was signed in and handed a ticket. It was not very busy at that time. A young poll worker did explain how to use the machine but nobody mentioned any issues, problems or warnings about voting machines. I used a touch screen. I specifically knew who I was voting for in all major races and the amendments. I voted for the Governor and when I reached the Congressional race, I touched the box to register a vote for Christine Jennings and I watched the name highlight on screen. Initially, I was absolutely sure my vote was accounted, because her name was highlighted and it show an "x" in the box next to her name. I typically vote Republican but I came there to specifically vote against Vern and was looking for the race. I saw her name highlighted on the screen and after voting on various amendments, I arrived at the review screen. The review screen showed that no candidate was selected in the Congressional Race. At that time, I returned and recast my vote for Christine Jennings and the review screen then confirmed my vote for Christine Jennings.

Before me personally appeared, TERESA GRZYMALA who after being duly sworn, deposes, and says:

1. My name is TERESA GRZYMALA and I have personal knowledge of the matters set forth herein.
2. My date of birth is 04-20-1950. I am over eighteen (18) years of age and I am otherwise competent.
3. I am a qualified elector of the state of Florida residing at 1104 Twin Laurel Boulevard, Nokomis, FL 34275.
4. I voted at King's Gate at approximately 10:30 am on November 7, 2006.
5. My intent was to cast a ballot for Christine Jennings for United States Congress, Florida District 13.
6. When I voted on the iVotronics machine I took my time to be sure I did not make any errors. When I voted in the Buchanan-Jennings race, I specifically voted for Christine Jennings and checked to make sure that the box was checked before I went to the next page. When I got to the review screen it reflected no vote was cast for the Congressional race. All of my other selections were properly recorded. I touched where it said no vote had been cast and it took me back to the Buchanan-Jennings race. I then re-voted for Christine Jennings and I then pushed the vote button. No report was made to the poll worker.

4. I voted at King's Gate at approximately 10:30 am on November 7, 2006.
5. My intent was to cast a ballot for Christine Jennings for United States Congress, Florida District 13.
6. When I voted on the iVotronics machine I was being very methodical. When I voted in the Buchanan-Jennings race, I specifically voted for Christine Jennings and checked to make sure that the box was checked before I went to the next page. When I got to the review screen it reflected no vote was cast for the Congressional race, but both candidates' names were shown. All of my other selections were properly recorded. I touched where it said no vote had been cast and it took me back to the Buchanan-Jennings race. I then re-voted for Christine Jennings and carefully re-checked the review page three times. I then pushed the vote button. No report was made to the poll worker. Prior to voting, the poll worker recommended that I check the review page before casting my final ballot. I am a registered Republican and I believe these machines failed democracy.

Before me personally appeared, Michael Frow, who after being duly sworn, deposes, and says:

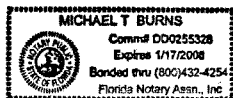

1. My name is Michael Frow, and I have personal knowledge of the matters set forth herein.
2. My date of birth is July 21, 1951 and I am otherwise competent.
3. I am a qualified elector of the state of Florida residing at 638 Crane Prairie Way, Osprey, FL. 34229
4. I voted on or about November 7, 2006 at the Church of the Holy Spirit, 129 S. Tamiami Trail, Osprey, FL. Precinct 128.
5. My intent was to cast a ballot for Christine Jennings for United States Congress, District 13.
6. I voted on the ivotronics touch screen voting machine for Christine Jennings. The first time I tried to vote for her it did not register on the screen so I retried and the second time it did register. This was the only choice this happened on. After voting I found out that other people had also experienced voting problems for Christine Jennings and I am concerned there may be a systemic bias against Christine Jennings.

2. My date of birth is December 28, 1946 and I am competent.
3. I am a qualified elector of the state of Florida residing at 1674 University Parkway #88, Sarasota, FL 34243.
4. I voted on November 7, 2006, at my regular voting location at Tri-Par Estates.
5. I intended to vote for Christine Jennings in the District 13 race.
6. In casting my vote, I experienced the following difficulty: I got to the District 13 race, which was one of two that were especially important to me. I attempted to vote for Christine Jennings, but the touch screen would not register my vote. I called over a poll worker who responded to my inquiries about what to do by saying, "I don't know," and by suggesting that I press the "vote" button. When I refused, and he would offer no other assistance, I attempted to go back a page in the ballot and then go back to the District 13 race. When I got back to the District 13 race, the screen would still not accept my vote. The poll worker could not offer any assistance and I do not know whether my vote was cast or not.

4. I voted on November 7, 2006 at the Town Hall of Longboat Key, Longboat Key, Florida.
5. My intent was to cast a ballot for Christine Jennings for United States Congress, Florida District 13.

6. For me, the race for the 13th Congressional District race was one of the most important races in this election. When I went to the voting booth, I carefully went through my ballot making my selections. I specifically recall voting for Christine Jennings in the Congressional race; however, when I went to the review page, it indicated that I had not cast a vote in that race – and only that race. I was bewildered by this called over a poll worker who showed my how to return to the screen with the Congressional race. I then re-cast my vote for Christine Jennings. When I returned to the review screen a second time, it indicated my selection for Christine Jennings. I e-mailed the Supervisor of Election the day after the elections to report my experience.

- 4. I voted at Precinct 88 on Election Day November 7, 2006.
- 5. My intent was to cast a ballot for Christine Jennings for United States Congress, Florida District 13.

6. When I voted on the electronic touch screen voting machine the very first time I attempted to vote by touching the screen with Jennings name and it appeared that the vote was properly recorded. However, when I got to the last page, the review page, it did not show that vote. I did go back and voted again for Jennings; once again it did not register properly. So I had to vote a third time when it finally showed up on the review page. I had voted early in the day and my wife voted much later. She told me that she had the same problem with a malfunctioning machine.

5. My intent was to cast a ballot for Christine Jennings for United States Congress, Florida District 13.
6. I voted on the ivotronics touch screen voting machine. The location was very busy and a line out the door by the time we checked in. A poll worker reviewed how to use the machine. He did not mention any specific warnings or cautions about the ballot. The first thing I did was vote for US Senate and after touching the box for Bill Nelson, Katherine Harris's name was highlighted. I then called the poll worker back and he instructed me to reselect Bill Nelson by tapping the box again. This fixed the problem. I continued on and when I arrived at the third page I noticed that I had not seen a vote for Christine Jennings. I went back and then voted for her. When I arrived at the review screen there was no vote cast for the US Congress. I called the poll worker over and he told me to go back and vote again. 4. I voted at the precinct 108 Longwood Recreation Center on Longwood Run Blvd, on November 7, 2006 in the morning.
5. My intent was to cast a ballot for Christine Jennings for United States Congress, Florida District 13.
6. I voted on the ivotronics touch screen voting machine. It was a steady flow of people and a short wait. I was escorted to the machine by a poll work and given general instructions on how to vote. I specifically remember voting for Christine Jennings. When I reached the review screen there was no candidate selected for the Congress. I backspaced through all the votes and returned the Congressional vote screen and re-cast my vote for Jennings. I then returned to the review screen and confirmed my vote for Jennings. I remained at the polling location as a poll watcher and noticed other problems. After receiving complaints about one particular machine, the clerk covered the machine and called in a complaint. The machine was later removed from the location.

I was advised to review my choices after completing my vote . I voted a straight Democratic ticket. I am certain I completed my vote in all races. When I reviewed my votes the Jennings/Buchanan race indicated no choice had been made by me. After this review I re-cast my ballot for Christine Jennings and in the subsequent review the ballot indicated my vote for Ms. Jennings had registered. I then pressed the vote space. 6. I was warned by the pollworker prior to voting on the iVotronics machine to "pay attention to page 2 because it affects you locally." I am a licensed surveyor and familiar with touchscreen devices because our survey equipment is touchscreen. I realized I had to be very careful because the boxes were small, and I noted on the first page how much finger pressure was required. When I got to the Buchanan-Jennings race, I attempted to vote for Christine Jennings but the vote did not register. I had to press it again very hard. I had no problem with any other votes. When I arrived at the review page I checked carefully to confirm that the vote for Christine Jennings had registered. I am concerned that page 2 might be flawed because I felt the electronic response to my touch but no "x" appeared, which was irregular compared to the other screens.

Since the number one priority for me was to vote for Jennings, I though it seemed strange that I had not voted for her. - 6. When I voted on the ivotronics touch screen voting machine I voted for Jennings and other selected races. The Jennings/Buchanan race was the most important to me and I was sure that I voted in that race. However, upon review there was no vote reflected for that race. I called a poll worker over and they said to go back and vote again. I did so and this time it did show on the review. On Monday November 6, 2006, I went back to the supervisor of elections and filed formal written complaint. Brenda Nuna (?) assisted me. I was frustrated because I had to ask three times whether there had been other such complaints. On the third time she said yes. I also called the office for the Jennings campaign and the Sarasota Herald Tribune. I recommended that people take videos of their voting. I have a serious concern over the placement of the race on the ballot and that it was purposeful "as a cover" for fraud as far as the electronic voting.

Voting Irregularity

I the undersigned, Reinhardt C. Badow, of Sarasota County, Florida, voted on Tuesday, November 7th, 2006 in Precinct 110. The following irregularity transpired. Firstly, no poll worker gave me any cautions about the Buchanan/Jennings race. I read later in the newspapers, that they were instructed to do so. I made my selections on the touchscreen, including my vote for Christine Jennings. As the Buchanan/Jennings race was of particular interest to me, I made certain to cast my vote for Jennings. As I looked over the review screens I saw that all my votes had registered with the exception of the Buchanan/Jennings contest. I called a poll worker over and asked what the problem might be, and she responded that I must not have pushed hard enough on the touchscreen. I pointed out that all of my other selections DID appear on the review and it would be highly unlikely that I would have pressed the screen any differently for the absent Buchanan/Jennings race. The poll worker then instructed me to go back to that page on the ballot and revote. I did, and this time my selection of Jennings did appear on the review screens, at which time I then pressed the vote button.

My main concern was the race between Jennings and Lubiano. I knew I voted for Jennings as the blue light came on across her name & all the other items on the plot. When I pushed the review button it showed I didn't vote at all for that one Category Congressional Candidates. I pushed her name on the review board & the blue light came on, I thought it was OK when I got home though what it didn't register on the review board like it did in the beginning. What I didn't pay attention to the review board and just too fast let go & it registered. At that point I felt something was wrong and I called the Dem committee.

Before me personally appeared, THOMAS ALLEN WEBBER who after being duly sworn, deposes, and says:

1. My name is THOMAS ALLEN WEBBER and I have personal knowledge of the matters set forth herein.
2. My date of birth is September 12, 1941, and I am otherwise competent.
3. I am a qualified elector of the state of Florida residing at 4933 Rutland Gate, Sarasota, Florida 34235-0000.
4. I voted at Fruitville Library on Monday, October 23, 2006
5. My intent was to cast a ballot for Christine Jennings for United States Congress, Florida District 13.
6. I was consciously focused on three (3) races/issues, including the Congressional race, and was careful to look for those voting screens. When I voted on the ivotronics touch screen voting machine I touched the screen for Christine Jennings, but when I reviewed the summary page at the end of the ballot, it did not show a vote for Christine Jennings. This was the only vote I cast that did not register. I had to return to the selection page to re-vote, and a second review of the summary screen seemed to indicate the revote registered.

4. I voted at Gulf Gate Library on or about October 24, 2006.
5. My intent was to cast a ballot for Christine Jennings for United States Congress, Florida District 13.

When I voted on the ivotronics touch screen voting machine, I was assisted with my voting by George Brening. I voted myself for all of the races. When I voted for Jennings, George alerted me to the fact that my vote registered for Buchanan. I voted again for Ms. Brening my vote again registered for Buchanan. At that point George said he would help me touch the screen for Jennings. This time it registered for Jennings. I was using my finger to push the screen. I was sitting on a chair so I do not know whether when I touched the screen for Jennings that my finger was closer to Buchanan, but I did not have any problems with my vote registering correctly for any other candidate.

4. I voted at the Fruitville Library on the Thursday before the election at approximately 4:00 p.m.

5. My intent was to cast a ballot for Christine Jennings for United States Congress, Florida District 13.

6. It was not busy when I arrived at the polling location. A poll worker explained how to use the machine and reminded me to press the review button. I specifically remember pressing the button to vote for Christine Jennings. When I pressed the review, I saw that there was no candidate listed under the Congressional vote. I called a poll worker to help resolve the problem and he showed me how to go back and vote again. I do not recall a review page appearing after my second vote.

4. I voted at precinct 113, at Good Shepherd Lutheran Church on 5659 Honore Ave. Sarasota, Florida, on November 7, 2006 at approximately 8:30 a.m.
5. My intent was to cast a ballot for Christine Jennings for United States Congress, Florida District 13.
6. The voting booths were full, but there was not a wait. The poll worker described how to use the machine and reminded me to use the review screen to check my votes. I recall hitting the square next to Jennings name and seeing a black check next to Christine Jennings name and her name was highlighted. I noted this and moved on to the next page. When I arrived at the review page it said no selection made in the Congressional race. I notified the poll worker of a problem and he showed me how to go backwards and re-vote. After my re-vote I again saw the black checkmark next to Jennings and her name highlighted. I arrived at the review page and confirmed the vote. I later called the Democratic Party to share my experience and was asked the serial number of the voting machine. I returned to my polling place and wrote down serial number of the machine I used to vote. The serial number is (V0106422-B).

5. My intent was to cast a ballot for Christine Jennings for United States Congress, Florida District 13.
6. When I voted on the ivotronics touch screen voting machine

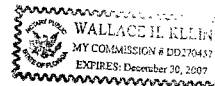

When I got to the Congressional ballot on the voting machine I pressed Christine Jennings name and her name was selected. I continued through the ballot and when I reached the review screen, the machine indicated that I had not voted in the Congressional race, although I am sure I had. I followed the instructions on the screen and re-selected Christine's name. It appeared that my vote went through on the second try.

I arrived at the polling location to vote for Christine Jennings. I pressed Christine's name on the Congressional ballot and continued through the ballot. At the review screen it indicated that I had not voted at all in the Congressional race. This was the only race that it indicated I had skipped. I followed the instructions on the screen and pressed Christine's name again, and it did not light up. I scrolled all the way back through the ballot to the Congressional page, and pressed Christine's name for a third time, and only then did the review screen show that I was voting for Christine.

5. My intent was to cast a ballot for Christine Jennings for United States Congress, Florida District 13.

This was my first time voting so I was very careful in going through my ballot. I was warned by someone outside the polling location to carefully review my ballot. I went through the touch screen ballot at my polling booth indicating my selections with my finger. I am absolutely certain that I cast my vote for Christine Jennings. When I went to the review screen, however, the screen indicated that I had not voted in the 13th Congressional District race. I returned to the screen containing the 13th Congressional District race and re-cast my vote for Christine Jennings. 5. My intent was to cast a ballot for Christine Jennings for United States Congress, Florida District 13. My intent was to also cast a ballot for Nelson.

6. When I voted on the ivotronics touch screen voting machine I voted for Christine Jennings and Bill Nelson for the US Senate and it initially appeared to accurately reflect those votes prior to the review page. Once the review page appeared I noticed that my vote for Christine Jennings was not reflected – there was no vote reflected for District 13 – nor for Bill Nelson. I returned to the selection page to cast my votes for Jennings and Nelson. I was forced to return to the selection page two times to vote for District 13 and one time to vote for Bill Nelson until the review pages accurately reflected my votes.

6. When I voted on the ivotronics touch screen voting machine, I got to end of the ballot, I saw that I had not voted in the Congressional race. I knew I had voted in that race because I had a cheat sheet. The screen stated that I should press the race I had not voted in. I did so, and was returned to the first page of the ballot, but the Congressional race was not on that page. I pressed the turn page button which took me back to the Review page. I pressed the back button again and this time was taken back to a page where the Congressional race was listed by itself. I thought this seemed odd. I voted and this time on the Review page, my vote for Jennings registered. However, I did not have a good feeling about what had occurred.

After reading in the newspaper that other people had this same experience, I called the Supervisor of Elections, the newspaper, and the Christine Jennings campaign to let them know what happened.

I am absolutely certain that when I used the touch-screen voting machine that I cast my vote for Christine Jennings in the 13th Congressional District race. When I went to the "review" screen, I noted that the voting machine had not recorded my vote. I then returned to the voting screen containing the 13th Congressional District race and indicated my selection for Christine Jennings. This time, the "review" screen indicated my selection for Christine Jennings.

4. I voted at Precinct 4, off of Proctor Between Swift and Beneva on or about November 7, 2006.
5. My intent was to cast a ballot for Christine Jennings for United States Congress, Florida District 13.
6. When I voted on the ivotronics touch screen voting machine I had several problems. First I went through all of the items on the ballot and voted. When I got to reviewing my ballot, I noticed that the Jennings/Buchanan race was listed as a no-vote. I called a poll worker over and three people met with me at my machine. They said that there had been previous problems and that voters were to be instructed to pay special attention to the race. I told them that no one said a thing to me. I recast my vote for Jennings and reviewed my ballot several times to try to vote. I called a poll worker over again and was instructed to press the "vote" button. I pressed it and left the polling place. It did not come to my attention until I read the newspaper the next day that the "vote" button was supposed to be lit. Mine never lit up.

5. My intent was to cast a ballot for Christine Jennings for United States Congress, Florida District 13.
6. One of the races I specifically went to vote for was the 13th Congressional District race as I had both volunteered my time and donated money toward the campaign of Christine Jennings. I went through the ballot making my selections on the touch screen voting machine. I used my fingertip to indicate my selection on the screen. When I reviewed the ballot at the end of the voting process, I was shocked to see that the voting machine was indicating that I had not cast a vote in the race for the 13th Congressional District. At the time, I thought this might have been due to my oversight; however, as I had specifically intended to vote for Christine Jennings, I was surprised by what the review screen was indicating. 5. My intent was to cast a ballot for Christine Jennings for United States Congress, Florida District 13.

6. When I voted on the touch screen voting machine I encountered two problems with the machine. First, after I had voted for Chirstine Jennings on the top of the second screen, when I pushed my selection for Jim Davis for Florida Governor next, the "X" on the computer screen came up indicating that I had voted for Charlie Crist. I called a poll worker, advised her of the problem and she showed me how to change my vote to Jim Davis. I then proceeded to vote in every race I saw on the ballot. When I got to the review screen, it showed Christine Jennings name, but unlike all the other names and races on the review screen, there was no "X" in the box next to Christine Jennings name. I am certain that I had initially cast a vote for Christine Jennings as my two main purposes in voting were to vote for Christing Jennings for Congress and Jim Davis for Florida Governor. I again called a poll worker who told me to hold my finger down on the box next to Christine Jennings name on the review screen until the "X" came up. I did so and then pushed the "Vote" button.

INTENT TO VOTE FOR CHRISTINE JENNINGS

STATE OF FLORIDA
COUNTY OF SARASOTA

Before me personally appeared, JEROME OELBAUM who after being duly sworn, deposes, and says:

1. My name is JEROME OELBAUM and I have personal knowledge of the matters set forth herein.

2. My date of birth is June 25, 1922, and I am otherwise competent.

3. I am a qualified elector of the state of Florida residing at 4655 Chandlers Forde, Sarasota, Florida 34235-7118.

4. I voted at Precinct 30, Gulf Gate Library, 7112 Curtiss Avenue, on October 26, 2006.

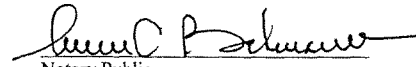

5. My intent was to cast a ballot for Christine Jennings for United States Congress, Florida District 13.

6. I was very interested in the Congressional race, in voting for Christine Jennings. When I voted on the ivotronics touch screen voting machine, I voted on each race and all but one measure (by choice), but the summary screen did not register a vote in the Congressional race. I returned to that screen, and revoted for Christine Jennings. I did not make a second review of the summary page, but pressed the red VOTE button. This was the only race or item that presented difficulties in voting. My wife also experienced a problem with voting for the Congressional race, and in the following weeks we came across other friends and neighbors who experienced problems, all of them only with the Congressional race.

FURTHER AFFIANT SAYETH NOT.

- 1. My name is Carol Andrea Muss and I have personal knowledge of the matters set forth herein.
- 2. My date of birth is March 28, 1945. I am otherwise competent.
- 3. I am a qualified elector of the state of Florida residing at 709 Pine Run Drive, Osprey, Florida 34229.
- 4. I voted at the First Baptist Church in Osprey, Florida precinct six. I voted Nov. 7, 2006.
- 5. My intent was to cast a ballot for Christine Jennings for United States Congress, Florida District 13.
- 6. I took a sample ballot to the polling place which I had filled out in advance. I voted in every race. I did not see the Congressional race Vern Buchanan/Jennings on any screen until I got to the review. The review told me that I had not voted in that race. I touched an icon and the screen jumped back and it did give me that race, I can't remember if it had any others. I touched the box for Jennings and I assume it worked. I went back to the review and it indicated the way I intended to vote. I touched the vote button which did not flash. The machine said "thank you voting." I voted with my fingertip.

I knew beforehand that there could be problems because I read in the press and from workers in the Jennings campaign that other people had experienced problems with the touchscreen machines.

- 4. I voted at the Lutheran Church, in Sarasota, Fl . I voted on Nov. 7, 2006.
- 5. My intent was to cast a ballot for Christine Jennings for United States Congress, Florida District 13.
- 6. The poll worker warned me before I voted that one category was easy to miss. He did not say which one, but to look at the ballot carefully. I voted straight democratic. I just glanced at the review and didn't think about missing the Congressional race until my husband mentioned he had difficulty voting in the Congressional race. I do not remember seeing Christine Jennings' name and I am worried I may have missed it.

3. I am a qualified elector of the state of Florida residing at 708 Palmetto Drive, Venice, Florida 34293.
4. I volunteered as a poll watcher as a precinct captain for the 34th precinct, located in Venice, Sarasota County, Florida for the Democratic Executive Committee of Sarasota County.
5. I was present at the above stated precinct from 9am to 12 pm on November 7, 2006 and from 7:15 pm to 8pm November 7, 2006.
6. During the morning poll watching session, the Clerk Dorothy introduced a programmer from the Supervisor of Elections office and the programmer stated the screen(s) were "hot"; apparently meaning that the voting machines would record touches to any part of the screen and not just the portions of the screens dedicated to voter touch marking.
7. After I returned for the evening results at the poll at approximately 7:30 pm that night, I observed Dorothy the poll clerk stated, "we have a problem" when she attempted to close out one of the machines. An activator had to be employed several times and the "ballot screen" kept coming up instead of the results. She then called the Supervisor of elections office, and was walked through the process to "correct the timing on the machine" (Dorothy's words). The time was not yet showing 7pm on this machine. The time was corrected and the results were obtained at approximately 8pm.

4. I voted at Fruitville Library on Fruitville Rd. Sarasota, Fl . I voted early before Nov. 7, 2006.
5. My intent was to cast a ballot for Christine Jennings for United States Congress, Florida District 13.
6. I started voting through the 15 page ballot and thought that I voted for everyone. I scrolled back through the pages because my daughter had told me to go back and check so I did. When I got back to either page three or page two I noticed that at the very top at the border the boxes for Buchanan and Jennings were empty. It was not there the first time I scrolled through. I checked the box for Christine Jennings and hit the red button at the end without reading through the summary.

When I got outside I told my husband something weird happened and I almost didn't vote for Christine Jennings and he said he had a problem with the Buchanan/Jennings vote too.

6. When I voted on the ivotronics touch screen voting machine, and reached the summary page, I noted that Congressional race did not record a vote. I do not absolutely, without question, remember placing the Congressional vote, but I was concerned because I consciously wished to vote for Christine Jennings, considered it the most important race on the ballot and, in fact, had made calls on Jennings' behalf during the campaign. I pressed the race selection again, and it put me into the frame for the Congressional race. 5. My intent was to cast a ballot for Christine Jennings for United States Congress, Florida District 13.

6. Because this was the first time I had used a touch screen voting machine, I carefully went through the ballot marking my selections using my thumb. When I reached the "review" screen, the screen indicated that I had not indicated a selection for the 13th Congressional District race between Vern Buchanan and Christine Jennings. I was shocked at this because I realized that I had never seen the screen with that race. I called a poll worker and told him of the problem. He stated words to the effect, "Oh, that happens a lot." He then showed me how to return to the 13th Congressional race screen. I returned to that screen and made my selection for Christine Jennings. I then navigated to the "review" screen and checked to make sure that the review matched my preferences. It did and I cast my ballot. I am surprised that if it was known to be happening a lot on October 24th that no one warned me about it and further that stronger steps were not taken to correct the problem for the rest of the early balloting period and election day.

In the afternoon, a man who described himself as a "computer man" came into the polling station and asked to speak to all the poll workers. Because I was signing in voters at the time, I could not move down to the end of the table where he was speaking, but I was able to hear him as he was only about 12 feet away from me. He told the poll workers that there were two companies that manufactured the workings of the voting machines. The touch screens from one company would record a vote based on the heat from the fingertip. The other set of voting screens required holding the finger down until the "X" appeared. I thought that we were getting these instructions a bit late in the day as one voter had previously complained about problems with the voting machine recording her vote.

5. My intent was to cast a ballot for Christine Jennings for United States Congress, Florida District 13.
6. I made my choice for Christine Jennings on the second page of the ballot. I watched the selection register on the page and moved through the rest of the screens with no problem. When I got to the "review screen" I noticed that no selection for the 13th Congressional District race appeared on the screen. I went back to the second page of the ballot and selected Christine Jennings again. I went back to the "review page" and my vote for Christine Jennings was on the screen. I then pressed the red "vote" button. I hope my vote counted but at this point I am not sure.

- 5. My intent was to cast a ballot for Christine Jennings for United States Congress, Florida District 13.
- 6. I voted on the ivotronics touch screen voting machine. It was not very busy when I arrived at the polling location. The poll worker who escorted me to the machine had problems starting the machine and she moved me over to a second machine. As she brought up the ballot she reminded me to vote for "amendment 13". I went on and completed my ballot without any problems. At approximately 12:00 p.m. on the same day, I signed-in to assist my mother in voting at precinct 75, located at the Newtown Community Center. The poll worker at this precinct also instructed us to remember to vote for "amendment 13". There was not a 13th Amendment on the ballot and after hearing news reports about voter confusion, I became concerned that their instructions should have been a reminder to vote for Florida's 13th Congressional District.

4. As a poll watcher, I noted a voter struggling to register his vote at a machine. He expressed great frustration, both verbally and physically. He was eventually assisted by a poll worker in completing his transaction. I followed him outside of the voting location in my capacity as poll watcher in order to complete an incident report. He indicated that he had problems pressing the buttons to make his selections during the course of the vote, and was told to press harder repeatedly, and, after a series of failures, to hold down the button longer. He was happy that he had succeeded in casting his vote. I asked whether he was happy with his Congressional vote, and he, after pausing to recollect, realized that he had never seen the Congressional race while making his selections. He seemed frustrated as he left that he had not been able to cast a vote in a race that was very important to him. Immediately following this incident, the poll clerk closed the machine he had been using, and remarked the machine had been giving people trouble all morning.

At some point I arrived at a screen that was not formatted like the other screens. I recall the word "state" appeared prominently on the page about one-third of the way down with a large margin around it. When I finished with my voting I was shocked to see that I had not voted for the Congress. I used the "back" button until I noticed a page with Jennings on it. I was not given any specific guidance or warning about problems with the congressional vote or information about using the review screen. I went through the entire ballot and when I checked my votes on the review screen the Congressional selection was left blank. I touched that selection and re-cast my vote for Christine Jennings, I then submitted my ballot without returning to the review screen.

AFFIDAVIT CONCERNING FAILURE OF VOTING MACHINE AND

STATE OF FLORIDA
COUNTY OF SARASOTA

Before me personally appeared, Deborah Michelle Goldsmith who after being duly sworn, deposes, and says:

1. My name is Deborah Michelle Goldsmith and I have personal knowledge of the matters set forth herein.

2. My date of birth is August 15, 1955. I am over eighteen (18) years of age and otherwise competent.

3. I am a qualified elector of the state of Florida residing 3327 Ramblewood Court, Sarasota, Florida, 34237.

4. I voted at precinct 37 at the Fellowship for the Believers on 3333 12th St, Sarasota, Florida on November 7, 2006 at approximately 7:30 a.m.

5. My intent was to cast a ballot for Christine Jennings for United States Congress, Florida District 13.

6. I voted on the ivotronics touch screen voting machine. It was moderately busy when I arrived at the polling location. A poll worker showed me to the machine. She started the machine and showed me the final vote button. I was not given any specific guidance or warning about problems with the congressional vote or a reminder to use the review screen. I went through the entire ballot and when I checked my votes on the review screen it alerted me that there was no candidate chosen in the Congressional race. I was surprised because I do not remember ever seeing the vote for Congress. I was never given the option to initially vote in the Congressional race. I then touched then selected the race and cast a vote for Christine Jennings. When I arrived home, I called the Democratic Headquarters and the Sarasota Alliance for Fair Elections to express my concern.

5. My intent was to cast a ballot for Christine Jennings for United States Congress, Florida District 13.
6. I voted on the ivotronics touch screen voting machine. It was moderately busy when I arrived at the polling location. A poll worker showed me to the machine and asked me if I needed directions. I was not given any specific guidance about the congressional vote and I do not recall a reminder to use the review screen. We already knew who we were going to vote for when we arrived at the voting place. I do recall voting for Christine Jennings for Congress but I was not aware of the problems that were occurring with the machines. 5. My intent was to cast a ballot for Christine Jennings for United States Congress, Florida District 13.

6. I voted on the ivotronics touch screen voting machine. It was not very busy when I arrived at the polling location. I was told by the poll worker that there have been problems with the vote. I made three requests for a paper ballot and each time he explained it was not possible for me to use a paper ballot. The poll worker mentioned that voters were complaining that they could not find the vote for Congress on the ballot. He also told me that he had received a call from Kathy Dent's office that instructed him to advise voters of this problem. I specifically recall voting in the Senate and then the Governor's race, I continued on and still did not see a listing for Congressional Representative. I back-spaced through the screens in an effort to find the Congressional ballot and eventually called over a poll worker for assistance. He pointed to a black line on the top of the machine and indicated that it was the Congressional ballot. Even after he pointed this out, I could only see Buchanan's name. In order to view it in its entirety I had to lean forward and look directly down so that I could view the names of both candidates. I then voted for Jennings, completed voting and after assessing the review screen I confirmed the final vote.

6. When I voted on the ivotronics touch screen voting machine:

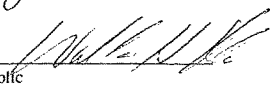

On September 29th, I went into the Florida DMV to register my vehicles and obtain a Florida drivers license. I was told by the DMV office that I would automatically be registered to vote through the office and would receive notification in two weeks. On October 30th I went into vote, intending to vote for Christine Jennings, and was told my name was not on the voter rolls. I was sent to another machine to fill out a provisional ballot. I was then notified after the election that my vote was not counted because the information from the DMV was not sent to the county elections office. The primary reason I went to the polls on November 7th was to vote for Christine Jennings for Congress. After I completed voting, the review page informed me that I had not cast a vote for the 13th Congressional race. I explained the problem to a poll worker who suggested I did not press hard enough and that I should try again. I did so and my vote was finally recorded. 3. I am a qualified elector of the state of Florida residing 4725 Sarasota Ave, Sarasota, Florida 34234.
4. I voted at Precinct 151, the Bay Shore Mennonite Church on 3809 Chapel Drive in Sarasota on November 7, 2006 at approximately 7:30 a.m.
5. My intent was to cast a ballot for Christine Jennings for United States Congress, Florida District 13.
6. I voted on the ivotronics touch screen voting machine. The location was busy but there was no wait. A poll worker asked me if I needed instructions and reminded me to check the summary screen before confirming my vote. I specifically remember voting for the US Senate followed directly by the Governor's race. When I arrived at the summary screen I was surprised to see that there was no vote cast for the Congressional race. I did not remember having the opportunity to vote in that race. I was not sure how to go back and enter the vote. There were no clear directions indicating how to do so. I decided to select the race and it brought me to a single screen where I recast my ballot. After that I reviewed and confirmed my vote on the review screen.

6. When I voted on the ivotronics touch screen voting machine, I went through and cast my votes. I thought I had voted for Christine Jennings. When I went to the summary screen there was no vote registered for the Congressional race, so I went back to cast my vote again, and this time my vote for Christine Jennings registered. I left the polling place and heard on the radio that this same experience had happened to others, so I went back to the polling place to talk to the Democratic precinct worker. When I told the poll worker what had happened, they seemed to indicate that this experience was not that much of a problem. I showed up at the polling location that I voted at in the September primary and they told me to go to another location to vote. The location they sent me to was a church. I think it is a violation of church and state to have to vote in a church.

The machine I was voting on had trouble recording the selections I was making in every race. I had to press each selection very hard in order for it to register on the machine. After getting through the entire ballot, the review screen indicated that I had not voted in the Congressional race. The Congressional race was the only election the machine said I missed. However, I am sure I actually did vote in this race. At this point, I went back and was able to record my vote for Christine Jennings on the second try.

3. I am a qualified elector of the state of Florida residing 3629 Egerton Circle, Sarasota, Florida 34233.
4. I early voted at the Gulfgate Library, Sarasota, Florida, on the Friday before the election at approximately 11:00 a.m.
5. My intent was to cast a ballot for Christine Jennings for United States Congress, Florida District 13.
6. It was not very busy when I arrived at the voting location and there was no wait. A poll worker brought me to my machine. I went through the ballot and when I reached the review screen I was surprised to see that the Congressional race was blank because it was one of the specific reasons I came out to vote. I then back-paged to search for the screen with the Congressional vote. I then overheard a poll worker instructing another voter to click the missed vote box on the review screen and re-cast her vote. I followed that instruction, voted for Christine Jennings, reviewed the vote and confirmed my vote.

4. I voted at Golf Gate Library on or about 11-01-06.
5. My intent was to cast a ballot for Christine Jennings for United States Congress, Florida District 13.
6. When I voted on the ivotronics touch screen voting machine

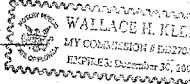

I arrived prepared to vote for Christine Jennings. I am certain that I voted for Christine Jennings my first time through the ballot. However, when I reached the review screen it indicated that I had not voted in the Congressional race. This was the only race on the 15 screens on the ballot that it said I had not voted in. I followed the instructions on the screen and re-voted for Christine Jennings on the second try. I have spoken to several friends since then who experienced the same thing when they voted in the Congressional race.

4. I voted at Golf Gate Library on or about 10-27-06.
5. My intent was to cast a ballot for Christine Jennings for United States Congress, Florida District 13.
6. When I voted on the ivotronics touch screen voting machine

I arrived prepared to vote for Christine Jennings for Congress. I'm quite sure I voted for Christine the first time I went through the ballot. However, after arriving at the review screen, I noticed that it indicated that I had not voted at all in the Congressional race. I followed the directions on the screen, and returned to the Congressional race. At that time, I cast my vote for Christine Jennings. Then the review screen appeared, and indicated that I had voted for Christine Jennings.

5. My intent was to cast a ballot for Christine Jennings for United States Congress, Florida District 13.
6. When I voted on the ivotronics touch screen voting machine I went through the complete ballot. I went through to the review page and noticed that there was no selection for the Jennings/Buchanan race. I called a poll worker over and asked how to cast a vote in that election. She showed me how but before I did so I took a picture with my camera phone. I recast my vote for Jennings and then filled out a questionnaire "irregularity form."

Before me personally appeared who after being duly sworn, deposes, and says:

3. I am a qualified elector of the state of Florida residing at 4017 Arrow Av., Sarasota, Florida 34232.
4. I voted on or about November 7, 2006 at about 7:30 a.m. at Precinct 111, Ascension Lutheran Church, 800 McIntosh Road, Sarasota, Florida.
5. My intent was to cast a ballot for Christine Jennings for United States Congress, Florida District 13.
6. For me, the race for the 13th Congressional District race was the most important race in this election. When I voted on the touch-screen voting machine, I had particular difficulty getting the boxes next to my selections to light up. I have long fingernails and had to touch the boxes a number of times to get them to register my vote. After I completed making my selections, I went to the review screen which indicated that I had not made a selection in the 13th Congressional District race. That was the only race that indicated that I had not made a selection. I returned to the screen with the 13th Congressional District race and made my selection for Christine Jennings. I initially assumed that the problem getting my vote for that race to register was my fault. Later in the day, however, when I spoke to my son, he indicated that he also had problems with the exact same voting machine – the machine in the center at our polling location.

4. I voted at Twin Lakes Park at approximately 2:30 pm November 7, 2006.
5. My intent was to cast a ballot for Christine Jennings for United States Congress, Florida District 13.
6. Poll worker said "we are told to tell you that the ballot for Buchanan-Jennings is on the second page." That is all that was mentioned. Alerted to the race being on the second page, when I voted on the iVotronics touch screen machine I looked for the race but did not see it. When I got to the review screen it reflected no vote was cast for the Congressional race. All of my other selections were properly recorded. I then scrolled back through the pages to find the race. I then voted for Christine Jennings and pressed "next page" through the remainder of the ballot until I got back to the review page. My vote was then properly shown on the review page. I then pushed the vote button. I did not report the incident to the poll workers. I have been in the computer business for 30 years, and spend all day on a computer. I am very familiar with how they work. The poll worker alerted me to the race's position on the second page in a very vague, nonspecific way, almost as a "cya" statement, rather than alerting me to the specific problems. I am a registered Republican. I have no axe to grind. I just want my correct vote counted.

6. I voted on the ivotronics touch screen voting machine. It was not very busy when I arrived at the polling location. A poll worker showed me to the machine and she gave me general instructions on how to use the machine. She gave me no specific guidance or information about the Congressional vote. I went through the ballot and remember specifically voting for Christine Jennings in the Congressional race. When I reached the review page I noticed that there was no candidate selected in that race. I then returned to the Congressional vote screen and re-cast my vote for Christine Jennings. That evening I learned that other people had trouble at the polls. The following day (Saturday morning) I returned to Gulfgate Library and described the problems that I encountered. At that time I was told by the poll worker that all poll workers are now instructed to notify voters that there are multiple choices on a page.

5. My intent was to cast a ballot for Christine Jennings for United States Congress, Florida District 13.
6. When I voted on the ivotronics touch screen voting machine, I voted in each election, except for those for judge that were uncontested. On the review screen, I saw that I had voted for Christine Jennings, and all other candidates I had selected. I paged back to each screen to insure that each of my selections were recorded properly. Once I had checked my selections, I pushed the red button to vote, and a screen came up on the machine saying "Thank You for Voting." I assumed that I had successfully voted, and was on my way out of the building when two election workers approached me saying that I had not voted. I returned inside, and the machine I had been using had a blank screen. The workers told me to push the red vote button again, which I did. The "Thank You for Voting" screen came up again. I left the building, and notified who I believed to be my precinct captain outside of the building of the problem I experienced.

Dear Kathy,

I voted early on Friday the 3 November at approx 8:35 am.

This is to advise you that I also noticed an anomaly at the conclusion of my electronic ballot. At the end, after I had made all my selection, the screen told me at the end that I had not made a choice on the Jennings-Buchanan ballot.

I thought it odd, but then went back to the appropriate page and made my choice, reviewed the total ballot, and then concluded the voting process.

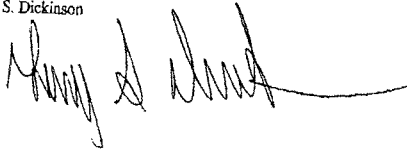

I am skeptical, but hope that my vote was counted.

Good luck,

You will need it on this one.

Sincerely,

Gary S. Dickinson

I voted early on October 27, and was especially happy 1) to be able to do so
2) to vote for Christine Jennings.

A few days later there was an article in the H-T about some voting glitches with the Jennings-Buchanan vote. I knew right away that this is what had happened to me.

> Upon pushing the review button, I did a double take that my vote for Jennings was not there. Especially since it was one of the reasons I voted early and as a newer resident in FL, I was very familiar with this highly publicized campaign.

I reinserted my vote for Christine, and I believed it was recorded. I remember (I think) it successfully showed up on my marked ballot before hitting the flashing red vote button. Now I wonder. . .

Good luck to you. It almost makes us want to move back to Rochester, NY.

Good morning,

I experienced something at the voting booth that I didn't think a lot about until after I heard other people say that they had problems voting for Christine Jennings

When I got to the portion of the electronic ballot to review my votes I noticed that my selection for Christine Jennings was blank and that the machine had not registered any selection on my part. I was able to correct this in the review section and submit my vote properly

I am not sure what problems other people are reporting but wanted to inform you of this in case it would help determine if there was a pattern.

Best Wishes

TWIMC:

My wife and I voted early (on Sunday) at Kathy Dent's office. Neither of us initially saw your Congressional race on the machines despite the fact that it was on the absolute top of our personal lists of 'musts' for this election. The fact that we had not voted in the Congressional race did 'pop up' on the Summary page, and we then did cast our votes for Christine Jennings. However, I strongly suspect that elderly or computer non-literate voters could easily have pushed "VOTE" without noticing the missing entry. As I stated in my interview with the Herald Tribune and in my notation on line, this seems to be evidence of either criminal negligence or actual criminal intent. One way or the other, since Kathy Dent's office was clearly aware of this problem before the election, it should have been rectified. The results of the election (as they now stand) must be overturned, and Kathy Dent needs to be ejected from office ASAP!

Subject: problems registering vote on summary screen

Just wanted you to know that, when I voted this afternoon, precinct 49, Bay Shore Road and Myrtle, my vote for Christine Jennings did NOT appear on the summary screen at first. 358-0495

The poll worker who came over to help me, an elderly woman, said the same thing had happened to her. She thought she might have skipped the vote accidentally, as another contest was on the same screen. I know I didn't skip because I was focused on that race.

While I was able to go back, select Jennings again, and have it appear on my final summary on the second try, I wonder whether it really registered (or how many other voters did not register at all).

I reported this to the central toll-free Dem vote hotline but thought you'd want to know, as well.

Best regards,
Anita Bartholomew

My name is Karissa Mayer, and I live in Manatee County. I voted for you on my paper scantron ballot. My brother lives in Sarasota County, and he had a problem with his electronic voting. Your race did not come up for him to vote on, and he was very concerned. At the end, the computer did tell him that your race had not been voted on, and then he was able to cast his vote. He was one of the lucky ones, since many people did not get a second chance from the computer. This was not voter error this was computer error, and the people in this district should not have to pay for that mistake. Is a run off possible in this situation? Could we get a chance to vote again, or could they even check all the registered voters who cast a vote, and allow only those voters to vote again? That way everybody who had a computer who forgot to give them a chance to vote for your race could have their votes counted. And if only those who voted the first time were allowed to vote, it would be an accurate representation, not a situation where people who didn't vote and didn't like the outcome would then go vote. I hope something productive can be done. Thank you for trying so hard to represent those of us who have had no voice in this district for so long.

Subject: Sarasota Election Machine Problem

Yesterday at approximately 2:30pm I went to Precinct 78 at Twin Lakes Park off of Clark Road to cast my ballot. After checking in I was instructed to go to one of the voting attendants who would direct me to a machine to cast my ballot. I was also told the following by the attendant: "We have been instructed to tell you that the ballot for the Buchanan/Jennings vote is on the second page." I found this statement to be confusing, concerning and a poor way to notify the voters of this known problem with the voting machines. I then started my voting with meaning to keep this verbal instruction in mind. I proceeded to cast all of my votes and came to the final page when I started to cast my ballot. However, at the last second I wasn't sure if I had seen the second page with the Buchanan/Jennings ballot. So I paged back through the ballot and found that the page with the Buchanan/Jennings ballot had not been cast. Nor had I even seen that page the first time I went through the ballot. I cast my vote and returned to the last page to confirm my ballot and cast my ballot.

Ms Dent, in my opinion, your comment in the Herald-Tribune today that the 12,000 to 18,000 ballots cast in Sarasota County without a vote for Buchanan/Jennings because of the nasty campaigning is weak. This statement strikes me as an external excuse to cover over the failure of your department and the voting machines to administer the votes in Sarasota County correctly. Further, for your statement to have any credibility I would think that this voting trend would have to be similar in all voting counties.

Please contact me and explain to me how and why this problem with the voting machines happened. I would also like to hear how this problem could not have effected the voting for this office

Thank you,

My parents were warned by their poll worker in Sarasota (Longboat Key) that the machines were having a problem registering a vote for Jennings. Sure enough my Mom noticed on her confirmation screen that she had apparently voted in every race except for Congress which was blank. Fortunately she cancelled the vote and re-did the process and the vote did appear on the confirmation screen. My Dad did not have a problem the first time. My parents are 57 years old and tech savvy. Fortunately they caught a problem. How many of the 18,000 voters that undervoted did not catch the same problem???

Follow-up: Sunday called Sunday to urge what rights

I had the problem that the 13th district congressional race did not appear or was not recognizable during the voting process. I knew about the possible problem and had been told to review my choices on the last page which I did. When I saw "no vote recorded" on the last page I paged back to page 2, where the choice was now very apparent, and made my selection.

My question is: why was this problem not fixed prior to election day. If I had not been paying attention, I may easily have missed that vote as thousands of people obviously did.

The race should be run again by mailing ballots to the voters who actually voted in the election.

To Whom It May Concern:

I went to vote early today at the Supervisor of Elections location off of Washington Blvd. and Ringling Blvd. I went to specifically cast my vote for all of my candidates, but especially Christine Jennings.

After carefully selecting each candidate and amendment and seeing that they were checked and high-lighted before turning the page, I finally arrived at the place to cast my vote. At that screen I was reviewing my votes and noticed that a couple of boxes were not crossed out with a red X.

Both of these candidates were Democrats and one was Christine Jennings and the other Skip Campbell. Since Christine's run for Congress and my vote was so important to me, I made sure to go back to each screen and re-check my votes again. This time they were properly checked or x'd out in the box. I then cast my vote by pushing the red button.

If I hadn't carefully reviewed my ballot, I would have not cast a vote for Christine or Skip. This is something that needs to be investigated since I now know of two other people who had the same problem and on the same machine. The machine was the fourth one from the entry door. It is normal to get to the last screen and just press VOTE. This problem is going to create errors in the outcome of the vote and should be addressed at once.

I am a very computer literate user and know that my selections were done correctly in the beginning. I find it disgraceful that I had to be so extra careful in casting my vote. No machine should give these types of errors on a consistent basis. Most users would not realize that their votes may not count unless this is rectified immediately.

I suggest that this is followed-up by both the Herald Tribune and Kathy Dent.

Subject: RE: Touch screen Voter Problems [Ref 7]

I vote at the Turtle Beach location on Siesta Key in Sarasota County.

When I stood in front of the machine the first screen had the senate candidates and I voted. The second screen had the candidates for Governor and I voted. The next screen had the attorney general and some other office and I voted. The next screen had the commissioner of agriculture and I said "Whoa, the office of US Congressperson should have come up by now"

I pressed the back button and went back to the first screen which had the candidates for the Senate and saw that at the top there was also the candidates for Congress. Had I really missed it because it was squashed up to the top of the screen? But I was carefully looking for it as I had read that it would be hard to find. Or had it not been there? Of course after going back to it and voting, Ms. Jennings name appeared checked on the recap sheet.

How to resolve the issue? First, of the total votes cast, how many did not have any selections for Congress. If not many, then "Case Closed"

Also, in which precincts were there under votes. Does it match up with the voting trend for Davis for Governor?

However, if there are a significant number of under votes and with an un-random distribution, then have an outside body such as the League of Woman Voters, The Sarasota Herald-Tribune, or some other impartial group check a number of machines. Hopefully enough people have written down the numbers of malfunctioning machines (sorry I did not). If it appears that this needs to be done then a court order should be obtained impounding the machines before any software can be removed or altered.

Touch screens DO NOT merit confidence.

I just finished reading Paul Mercier's letter to the editor claiming that we should have confidence in Sarasota's touch screens for voting.

I beg to differ. I had the exact opposite experience on Monday when I voted and my vote for Christine Jennings did not come up on the screen when i rechecked my ballot. I had definitely "pushed hard" when I cast my vote but upon rechecking all my votes cast, the vote for Christine did not come up. I finally called someone over for help, and they said I probably had not hit it hard enough. I distinctly remember SEEING HER NAME HIGHLIGHTED however, and I finally got her name registered, and voted. I wrote to Kathy Dent and let her know what happened and also to You. You chose NOT to print my letter because you said that so far, I was the only one to report this problem. Well, since then I have heard that someone else had the same problem that I did (again, on her vote for Christine Jennings) This woman happens to be a computer whiz, and she knows that she did EVERYTHING correctly when she voted.

SO, I think it is essential that your newspaper puts this on the front pages in Sarasota so that voters can be warned about the possibility of this occurring, and to emphasize to them how IMPORTANT it is to re check every name on their ballot before they push the red VOTE button.

Subject: Voting irregularities

Good morning-

I wanted to advise that I experienced a "voting irregularity" at the Mennonite church on Bahia Vista yesterday evening when voting. I'm in the 39th district, and recall that the machine I voted on was the second from the left in the room (the shorter variety I assume for the disabled). I could swear I voted for Christine Jennings, yet when I got to the review screen there was no candidate selected. Of course I did enter a vote at that time, but I am very concerned about what I see as intentional misuse of these > electronic voting machines. I work at a software company, and am very detail-oriented. A touch-screen computer does not "confuse" me as is suggested by some to be the source of the problem, nor do I believe that a "calibration" error magically only drops votes for a particular candidate. Please let me know if there is anything I can do or anyone I can contact to ensure that our votes are counted fairly.

Thanks, and please don't give up on this election!

This is written to confirm our phone conversation today with Joyce of your office. My wife (Mary Jane) and I informed her that although both of us voted for Christine Jennings at Precinct 108 - our votes were not registered.

Given all the voting irregularities we've had in the past - my wife and I both decided not to just press that flashing red vote button - but to take the time to review our voting selections. Thus, we were able to correct the problem and register our votes for Ms. Jennings - unlike other voters who did not take the time to do a review - just assuming that their votes were going to be counted.

I had problems voting, and I am very upset about the Jennings Buchanan race. I had read in newspaper reports about early voting that there were some problems with the machine on that race. So I was extremely careful. I am 100% certain that the machine showed I had selected Jennings--all bright blue. When I got to the review page, it showed I did not vote in that race. I made a fuss, poll workers came over and instructed me to go back to that race, which I did. I selected her again and this time it showed up in the review page, so I voted. Now I wake up and find that there are many thousands of undervotes in that race only and Buchanan won by 300 some votes. Do I trust this picture? No way. And by the way, in casual conversations during the day yesterday, I encountered 4 people I know who also had problems either on electin day or during early voting. How many people just did not realize their vote was erased, or were confused about how to fix it? From what I have heard so far, all the lost votes were for Jennings. AND WHAT DOES IT MEAN TO HAVE A RECOUNT IF THE MACHINES ERASED OUR VOTES, AND THERE IS NOT EVEN A PAPER TRAIL?

To whom it may concern:

On the first day of early voting at the Gulf Gate Library, my vote for Christine Jennings was apparently not recorded. Upon review, the screen noted that no vote had been cast in the Congressional contest. A selection for Christine Jennings was then made and cast along with all other selections.

As a former Secretary of State and two term Governor with experience in the electoral process, I assume the following are being reviewed:

1. why the undervote in Sarasota County is substantially greater than in other counties comprising District 13
2. Investigation of any and all methods that these voting machines can be tampered with
3. Further protect the integrity of the electoral process, investigate and insure the absence of any unlawful activity.

Subject: Voter Machine Complication

Mr. Lichtman:

My parents each, but independently, experienced a voting machine problem Wednesday, November 1st, at the Fruitville Library, Sarasota County. Upon leaving the library, they were surprised that they'd each encountered the same peculiarity on two different machines.

My parents, John and Nike McBride, reside at 4755 Old Farm Road, Sarasota, Florida 34233; phone (941) 925 2062. They live in the 70th District

At Fruitville Library, the machines are set up in the back of the Library in an "L-shaped" configuration. My father voted at the first machine to the left (the end unit in the short line of the "L"), and my mother voted in the penultimate unit in the long line of the "L").

In each case, the first AND ONLY race on the first screen was for "Governor and Lieutenant Governor" EXCLUDING U.S. Senate and U.S. House of Representatives. My parents only realized these races were missing at the end, as they entered the first page of the "Summary" screen frames, and realized they'd not yet had the opportunity to vote for Christine Jennings (they are acquainted with Christine). They turned back to the first page and started over again -- I'd urged them to do this anyway, as a means of checking that the machine was recording the votes they meant to cast. Same problem. As they entered the first frame of 3 Summary screens.

For my father: Only Christine Jennings's name appeared in the first position at the top of the first Summary Screen. The box next to her name was blank. My father swears he pressed his finger on the box, and the tiny "x" appeared in the box. He assumed this was recording his vote for her.

For my mother: Same thing, only both Vern Buchanan's and Christine Jennings's names appeared - again, on the first of the Summary pages - and my mother pressed the box for Christine Jennings

Now, when I called this into campaign headquarters, I was told that it is "impossible" to cast a vote from the Summary pages?

Please verify. My parents are aware that someone may contact them, and they are more than willing to sign an affidavit to the above facts

I am an attorney. You may feel free to contact me if you wish. Somewhat alarmed by their story, I chose to early-vote this morning at Fruitville Library. I did not "seem" to experience a problem (who truly knows without a paper trail), but I did not use either of the machines my parents indicated they'd used

Cordially,

Hi,
 Just thought you'd like to know, that when I got to the review page I found that I hadn't voted for a congressperson. I think, but I'm not sure that either it was because a number of preceding pages had only two items on them and your page had three or the the preceding pages set me up to touch the screen in a particular spot and you were placed above that spot. At any rate, I wasn't going to let my vote go uncounted, so I went back through the pages and voted for you. We need more Democrats in the House and Senate to change the path this present administration has taken. Hopefully the Democrats will take the presidency in 08. Good luck.

Christine and Staff,

I wanted to share my voting story with you and hope that you can use it to press for a revote. First, a little background - I vote at Precinct 5 and have used the touch screen machines in previous elections without incident. Since Sarasota County started using unverifiable paperless touch screen machines, I always ask the poll worker who checks me in to point out the Clerk and I always approach the Clerk after casting my vote to ask for a paper receipt. I know the Clerk can't give me one but I feel it is important for s/he to be aware and make note of my request.

On Tuesday, I arrived at Precinct 5 at around 11:30 a.m. The Precinct was not crowded. There were at least 3 machines that were unoccupied. I checked in and was lead by a poll worker to one of the machines. I asked the poll worker to point out the Clerk which she kindly did. The poll worker then asked me if I had used the touch screen machines before and I replied yes. I went through the ballot with seemingly no problems. It wasn't until I reached the review screen that I noticed I had missed the > Jennings/Buchanan race. The review screen told be I had not made a selection. I returned to that page on the ballot, made my selection, and went back to the review screen. Everything looked correct so I hit the vote button. Before leaving the Precinct I asked the Clerk for a paper receipt of my vote. Obviously she couldn't provide me with one.

When I got back to work after voting, a coworker, who also votes at Precinct 5, asked if I had any trouble voting in the Jennings/Buchanan race. I said that I had but didn't think anything of it at the time. "Didn't they warn you?", he asked. He went on to tell me that the problem had been widespread and that the poll workers were warning people of the problem when he went to vote.

The poll worker that I encountered never mentioned the problem. Perhaps if she had I would have paid more attention. At this point, I'm not sure if I made a selection in the race but it didn't register on the review page or if I missed the race all together. Was the selection I made recorded properly the second time? The fact that there is no paper record of my vote makes it impossible for me to ever know.

Thank you for your time. I hope that you will fight for an expedited revote as a recount is not enough.

Sincerely,

> Ryan H. Stanley

I voted last week at the Gulf Gate Library. The machine I used was in booth #7. I was careful and deliberate with each vote cast. When the ballot was reviewed, the screen had a blank both for Buchanan and Jennings! I thought this was strange since this was one contest I especially studied and was determined to cast my vote. I thought I had cast my vote. Unfortunately I never thought to alert a supervisor but just went ahead and revoted for Jennings. After reading today's Sarasota Herald Tribune, I am concerned there were many of us having the same experience that was never reported.

Christine:

In response to your letter, add me to the list of those who had trouble voting for you. I have voted touch screen in all elections since they were introduced to Sarasota County, and I am certain that I voted correctly, but when I did the final review my vote had not registered in your race. I then corrected it, and I assume that it registered at that point. But that's only an assumption, and I shudder to think of the huge number of those whose vote did NOT. An 18,000 under-vote in a contest that was clearly one of the 2 or 3 most important in the minds of local voters is, quite literally, unbelievable--and I don't believe it. Please do whatever is necessary to contest this result and give district 13 the representative it deserves and needs!

Dear Friends,

It is overwhelming to think of how many of you have spent your free time making phone calls, knocking on doors, and stuffing envelopes. Thank you for your support. I couldn't have gotten this far without you.

The Supervisor of Elections reported today that there were 18,382 undervotes in this Congressional race ? that means more than 1 out of every 7 ballots cast did not record a vote for the 13th District Congressional race. This is a staggering number. Sarasota voters have been victimized by not having their vote count.

I hope my opponent agrees that the most important thing is to make sure every vote throughout the district is counted and counted accurately. This is about ensuring fair elections.

Concerned and frustrated voters have been calling us since the beginning of early voting. On Election Day, we received dozens of reports from voters who experienced a problem at the polls. Today, it is overwhelming, the number of emails and phone calls we have received. We continue to document the cases as they come in, and the phones are still ringing off the hook. We've had members of the media, people who trained pollworkers, and even pollworkers themselves contact us.

My wife and I voted early in the 13th congressional district in Sarasota Florida in the recent election. The candidates, Jennings and Buchanan, were on a page which many ignored because of its hidden character. I recognized it and voted. My wife missed it and tried later to vote for Jennings. Both times the machine failed to record her vote. She finally asked a poll worker for help and thinks?? she had it registered. One in 7 votes were not counted for Jennings from what we are hearing from TV commentators now and there should be an investigation not only of this flagrant disregard for democracy but also the incompetence, arrogance and denial by Kathy Dent, the supervisor of elections. Good Morning, As I was seeing the very close results this morning I must report an incident at the polls yesterday. I voted at Precinct 18 in the North Methodist Church 4726 N Tamiami Trail in Sarasota. While I was waiting for my friend, after voting, two senior voters approached me & the man commented that Jennings' name did not come up. The lady he spoke to, said the same thing happened to her. They both said they had to call the attendant & I guess it was fixed. After we all talked about the coincidence they both went to talk to a "poll watcher" and I left. I didn't have this problem myself, but wondered how many others had the missing name but didn't recognize the absence. I tried to call the Supervisor of Elections this morning, but didn't want to just leave a message. I hope someone reads this letter today before this issue is resolved. Dear Ms. Jennings:

Both my parents and myself experienced problems with the voting machines.

- 1.) Both your name and Vern Bucannans name were very difficult to find, due to the position they occupied on the ballot.
- 2.) All three of us found that our votes were not recorded on the "summary" page at the end. We had to go back, and re-vote. I KNOW for a FACT that I DID vote for you on the first attempt, and that the machine registered a check mark in the box next to your name. Despite being VERY careful, the vote did not register the first time.
- 3.) I suspect the problem was system-wide, as my parents and I voted at different times of the day, and on different machines.

I do not trust the election results. I do not know if there was fraud, tampering, hacking into the system, or just defective machines or computer programs. What ever it was, I am NOT HAPPY. How can I possibly be SURE that my vote was even counted????? How can I be sure that the machine even recorded the vote???

I will NOT be satisfied with a RECOUNT. I will ONLY be satisfied with a NEW RE-VOTE. The vote should be treated as null and void. The voters are entitled to a "DO OVER"!!!!

JFYI....I am NOT a registered Democrat. My parents and I are INDEPENDENTS. We do NOT vote straight party lines. In this election we voted for Democrats, Republicans, and Third Party Candidates.

We voted at the 8th Precinct....the Civic Center on Shamrock Blvd, in Venice Gardens. When I voted, in the afternoon, the poll workers were aware of the problem. They were telling everyone about the situation, and advising us to be careful, and, especially, to check the summary at the end. The poll workers were considerate and helpful.

Thank You.

I have been volunteering for the Democratic party, Davis campaign, Jennings campaign, and Move On organization. I early voted at the Sarasota Terrace Building on Tuesday, October 31st so I would be available all day on Tues (11/7) to get out the vote. I was very careful when I voted but when I came to the summary sheet it indicated I had not voted for either Buchanan or Jennings. I went back and voted for Jennings and hit the Vote button. At the time I kind of chuckled to myself thinking how I could have screwed up after all of my hard work for the Democrats. Later on I heard from a number of other people that they had the very same problem happen to them.

This is an outrage. A recount will prove nothing as I am sure most people were totally confused or just plain missed voting on this race. I am ashamed to say I don't know if Kathy Dent is an elected official--if so, she needs to be voted out of office. If not, she should resign and admit her mistake. Sarasota/District 13 wants a paper ballot. This mistake has cost Christine Jennings, the Democratic party, and our congressional district the candidate that the voters wanted. 18,000 voters cannot possibly have decided to ignore this important race. What a travesty after all of the hard work so many people did for a change in our district/government.

Yes, it goes without saying that every vote should be counted. But I think you and the Democratic Party should insist on another election for the 13th District so those 18,000 voters would have the opportunity to vote for the candidate they thought they were voting for in the first place! I, too, had a glitch in my early voting when my vote for the 13th District did not show up at the end. I noticed this immediately upon rechecking and cast my vote for Christine Jennings.

If the ballot was poorly designed, then Kathy Dent should deal with it and figure out a way for those particular 18,000 individuals to cast their vote.

Go for it, Christine!

I found that, on review, I did not have a vote recorded for you. I scrolled back and reinserted it. I thought I had voted for you, but then thought perhaps the way it was on the page made me miss it. Psychologically that ballot was designed to draw the eye away from the contest. Anyway, I feel this election was stolen from you. Barbara Lichtman, 342-9493

DUMP DENT

I am one of those many voters in Sarasota who experienced a computer "glitch" while voting downtown early last week. The touch screen line choice for the Jennings/Buchanan race never appeared as I went through the ballot. However, when I went to finalize my vote, the review screen reminded me I had "overlooked" voting in the Jennings/Buchanan race. I had not overlooked voting the race. The line for their race never appeared. Were I not computer literate I might not have understood how to go back and make my vote (for Jennings). How many people did not notice the error screen? How many people did not know what to do? 17,000 or so is my educated guess. Did my vote get counted? More importantly, why should I, as a voter, have to ask such a question?? My answer: Kathy Dent.

Be it by arrogance, or incompetence, the answer is still comes up Kathy Dent. Who spent millions of taxpayer money on machines that could not produce an audit trail, machines that will now be scrapped? Who, when informed early on by poll workers of the Jennings/Buchanan "glitch", did not shut down the early elections to remedy the possible under problem? or, at the very least, take the problem seriously and launch an investigation. And who, one day after the elections, to my total disbelief, attempts to dismiss a 17,000 undervote on her watch as "voter dissatisfaction" with the political process. Is this woman foolish enough to believe that, or is she foolish enough to think we would believe that? Either way, she does not rise to the level of competence required to hold public office.

If the Jennings/Buchanan race is awarded to Mr. Buchanan without a prompt re-vote (not re-count) in Sarasota, or without a proof-positive explanation of the unprecedented undervote from someone other than Ms. Dent, I will, sadly, know what is worse than living in a country where the people do not have the right to vote.....It is living in a country where you have the right to vote, but your vote is not counted.....it is stolen.

I will be glad to volunteer to canvas/poll re: voting irregularities encountered. I hope in the door to door canvas the question is also asked "did you not vote on purpose"? This is a way of confirming something that did not happen, while also confirming what did happen. If no one intentionally skipped voting,, then obviously the vote is invalid. Can they, or do they ever, resort to a new vote being taken? I would like to see Sarasota county re-vote in a one day special election, not recount.

My vote was counted, I know because I reviewed my ballot at the end, and lo and behold, I had missed that one race! I couldn't understand how I could have overlooked it as I supported you strongly and my son worked on your campaign the last days. My husband had the same experience, but he noticed that it was the way it was laid out on the ballot that it could be easily overlooked. I guess you cannot say the machines malfunctioned in that case, but I would like to know what they were thinking to set it up that way. I hope you get this looked into, otherwise the people will not have spoken! In fairness, I guess you could say that those who would have voted Buchanan were also lost, but we need to know!

Good luck!

Dear Friends,

It is overwhelming to think of how many of you have spent your free time making phone calls, knocking on doors, and stuffing envelopes. Thank you for your support. I couldn't have gotten this far without you.

The Supervisor of Elections reported today that there were 18,382 undervotes in this Congressional race – that means more than 1 out of every 7 ballots cast did not record a vote for the 13th District Congressional race. This is a staggering number. Sarasota voters have been victimized by not having their vote count.

I hope my opponent agrees that the most important thing is to make sure every vote throughout the district is counted and counted accurately. This is about ensuring fair elections.

My name is Sandra White my email is omartedmax@comcast.net. I voted on Tuesday 11/07/06 I am a registered Republican who normally votes for the most qualified person regardless of party affiliation. This year I felt that Christine Jennings was the best person for the job. When I voted it was the most important vote for me and I know for sure that I voted for her there is no doubt. When I reviewed my ballot I saw that I did not vote for either party.

I did revote but I feel very insecure that my vote was counted.

I have spoken to many people in the last few days and most had problems with the very same race.

If I had not reviewed my ballot I would not have known. How many people did not feel it necessary to review 18,000 is too many voters skipping this race a few maybe. But this number is ridiculous. Something is definitely amiss.

Thank you

To whom it may concern,

I voted in the election yesterday and selected Ms Jennings for congress. I vote at Bee Ridge Park off of Wilkinson Road, Sarasota. While reviewing my choices I noted that there was no vote for the congressional race. I'm sure I selected and had a vote highlighted when I changed screens. I had to go back from the review screen to re-issue my choice. I never gave it a thought at that moment. I wish I had brought this to the poll workers attention now.

I voted on early, on the 23rd. I wasn't paying terribly much attention to how the computer seemed to react when I put my vote for a candidate in the system. What I did notice, all though I could be wrong, is when instead of confidently pressing \"vote\" after completing the process, I decided to review my selections. I did, and nobody came up on my district for Congress. I had to re-select Ms. Jennings. I wonder what would have happened if I had just selected \"vote,\" instead of deciding to go back and check my votes. I'm pretty computer savvy, and found the process frustrating and left the polling place feeling a nagging suspicion over the event. I hope you find my comment useful.

Ms. Dent:

> In the course of voting in Nokomis, I took special care in executing the vote because of the 11/5 article in the Herald-Tribune regarding lost votes for Jennings. The vote registered on the screen and I proceeded. Upon reaching the vote summary it stated that no vote had been cast for Jennings. The vote summary shows all votes cast crowded in one display. Any missing vote does not stand out, such as a flashing light; it merely states in a non-obvious way that no vote was cast. It is easily overlooked.

> I brought this to the attention of poll worker Ken Waugh. In his presence we went back and repeated the voting procedure whereupon the vote then appeared in the vote summary. I had to persuade Mr. Waugh that I wished to register a complaint to you about this voting "malfunction". There is apparently no formal way to transmit a complaint. He gave me your card and tore off a scrap of paper to write down my name and describe the problem. There was no evidence of the presence of an "incident report log" at the polling station. This letter constitutes a request for confirmation that my complaint has been forwarded to you from the Nokomis polling station. #129.

I just now forwarded it to him after a 15 minute phone conversation. They are compiling all the emails and phone calls.

Derek, you might want to document what happened to you. I told him, your congressional block never even showed up until you did a Review Summary, and then you finally had a chance to vote for your congress person.

My experience with touch screen machine, Serial No. V0104836-B as reported to Glenda O'Neil, head clerk at Precinct 110, Sarasota County

JENNINGS - 01329

Dear Ms. Dent, Sarasota County Supervisor of Elections

I went to vote approximately 9:15 to 9:30 AM at Precinct 110, Sarasota County, on November 7th, 2006.

A poll worker, named Marilyn, led me to my machine and very carefully explained to me that upon making my selections, to make sure to review my ballot before pressing the Vote button. I proceeded to look at the machine and very carefully and meticulously touched in my preferences, watching the red X fill in the blanks I had chosen. Before pressing the Next button, I reviewed every vote once again, to make sure I voted exactly as intended. When I got to the Amendments, I noticed that they jumped from 1 to 3 and 4 to 6. I turned around and called over the poll worker Marilyn and asked her what happened to Amendment No. 2 and 5? She came to my machine, and I went over the ballot, looking for the amendment, when the voter next to us offered that Amendment 2 was dropped. Marilyn seemed to concur, and then another poll worker walked over and concurred that Amendment 5 had been dropped as well. Satisfied, I continued my voting.

I followed my procedure, the same I use at work, reviewing each page as I go, so I know that it is accurate. I reviewed each page.

and then I pressed the Next button, until I came to the end. I had the option of pressing Vote, or I could press to Review my ballot. Remembering the poll worker's words, to review my ballot at the end, I pressed the Review button. And to my surprise, it lit up that I had not made a choice for the Congressional vote, i.e., Vern Buchanan or Christine Jennings. I gasped aloud, and turned around, and again called over Marilyn the poll worker, and said, "The Summary Page is saying I did not cast a vote, and I know I did! I reviewed each vote, again, before going to the next page!" Marilyn said, "OK, well now you can press on that block and you can fix it." I said, "I know but why did it say I didn't vote when I did!" Marilyn said, "I know you did vote, because I saw it" (she must have seen, as I was showing her my ballot, checking the previous pages for Amendment 2 and 5). Further, Marilyn told Glenda O'Neil that she saw that I had voted. Marilyn told me, "I told the head clerk that I saw you had voted, and that the summary said you didn't." I said, "I want to talk to the head clerk." She was right there, so I repeated my whole story. Glenda O'Neil said, "In other words, the machine dropped your vote?" I said "Exactly, the machine dropped my vote." Glenda O'Neil said, "I will make a note of it." I said, "I want to give my phone number and name to you, and I am going report this as well." And then Marilyn said, "let's get the serial number of the machine", and so we did. We all walked over to the machine and got the serial number. Glenda recorded it and so did I.

We need to have a RE-Vote, and not just a re-counting of the vote. There was machine error without a doubt. Our democracy is too precious to fail with faulty equipment in the 21st Century.

I respectfully request that someone in your office contact me regarding this situation.

dy's vote desc

I was alerted to the voting problem by the Herald Tribune before I voted on election day, however I was shocked to find upon reviewing my vote as I had been warned to do that my vote for Christine Jennings had not registered on the ballot. Although I was in a hurry and on my way to Miami for a convention, this race was the particular one that I was interested in having my vote counted on. I arduously went back 15 pages and at that point my vote apparently was registered. I think there are two questions here-- since I voted on a party line, Democratic, very quickly I assumed I had voted for Jennings. But when I went back to the page I noticed that the vote for this was at the top of the page and looked almost like a headline rather than part of the voting ticket. Also, even though the Herald Tribune had pointed out this was a problem no one was saying- hey, review your vote. I am not sure whether I voted for Jennings and it was not counted or the actual ballot was so poorly designed that I missed it. I suspect if I had been a first time voter, or someone else who did not know ahead of time to review their ballot, I would never have voted for Jennings like so many others. I regret I did not ask at the time for someone to start alerting voters to this problem. I do NOT THINK A RECOUNT IS THE ANSWER WE NEED A REVOTE. I BELIEVE THIS WAS A FAULTY BALLOT NOT TESTED FOR ACCURACY IN ACTUAL USE-- there is a good chance that many people in a hurry or not used to voting would not have reviewed their ballot. But that gets back to the original question, why would a donor to the Jennings campaign accidentally not vote for her-- not counted or bad ballot?? A recount won't help-- we need a revote.

PS- when will I be sure that votes get counted accurately in Florida? I did not vote for the paper trail - we need a new elections supervisor who will make sure that ballots are clear and that if problems are noted volunteers will WARN PEOPLE

Subject: voting irregularities with electronic machine

Please be advised, I voted early on November 2nd at the Englewood polling site. After selecting "Jennings" and seeing an X appear near your name, the machine deleted my submission. I had to catch this in the "review ballot" phase and then had to place my vote a second time. If others had this experience, voting was not fair at that station.

I had a problem at the polls while voting at the 123rd polling location.

While voting when I got to the end to review I noticed I had not voted for the 13th congressional district candidate. I know I didn't skip this page I am sure it just wasn't there the first time. So I went back and voted for Jennings and it seemed to record my correct vote. My friend was in the voting booth right next to me and I asked her if she had this problem and she said no. I will contact the Supervisors of Elections office today to inform them of this also. If you need to contact me regarding this please feel free to

I cannot make it to your campaign to register an affidavit. I would like to let you know what happened to my vote tuesday. I noticed that after voting, while reviewing my summary vote, your vote registered as NO VOTE. I did not think anything about it as I searched back to revoke again before casting my ballot. I went home and informed my husband what had happened. He told me to watch "Hacking Democracy", he was watching. After watching the movie on HBO, it still did not register as any problem even though I was sure I did not miss any votes my first time, however the next day I heard more people had the same thing happen to them on the news.

I voted at the South Venice Baptist Church and wonder if more people who voted here had the same problem.

Subject: voter disenfranchisement

Dear Ms. Jennings,

I am writing to you today to encourage you to continue to fight for your rights as the Democratic candidate for the 13th district. As far as I am concerned, you are clearly the legitimate winner of the vote. We must press for a proper accounting of what transpired in this election.

The rate of undervotes in this particular race is a clear indication that something went terribly wrong with the way the electronic voting machines recorded the votes. This could only be the result of deliberate manipulation, faulty programming, or equipment malfunction. It is not the result of the failure of voters to make a selection, either because they "forgot" or "didn't see" the choice, or because they purposely decided not to register a vote in this particular race. Kathy Dent's implausible explanations in defense of her machines are simply CYA contrivances and so much pop-psychology crap, and her scolding of hapless voters who brought the problem to her attention and to the Press was inappropriate, unprofessional and inexcusable.

When electronic voting machines were first introduced, one of the touted features was that they can prevent undervotes. The entire predicament we find ourselves in could have been totally prevented if each vote selection included a choice for "none of the above" to show a deliberate non-vote and if the summary sheet displayed "no choice entered" to indicate when a voter either forgot or failed to enter any choice at all for a particular vote. This would clearly show when a non-vote was a deliberate choice. It is ridiculous that electronic voting machines do not have this simple design feature.

Even with those improvements, however, these kinds of electronic voting machines remain a huge problem. They are known to be subject to various faults and failures, they are hackable and the source code is secret, so there is no way to independently evaluate or confirm the true accuracy of any given vote result. In this particular election, a re-count may only re-count whatever unreliable, hacked, or otherwise faulty results the machines spit out.

In the absence of any other plausible explanation for the undervotes, my opinion is that the electronic voting machines in Sarasota County were either deliberately hacked to drop a certain number of votes, or they had some kind of software or hardware design failure or malfunction. In any of those cases, the only remedy for the disenfranchisement of local voters is to bring legal action to discover the truth of what happened. The machines and cards should be impounded, opened under court supervision and checked out by independent experts. If there was deliberate manipulation, then criminal charges should be filed. If it was faulty software or hardware malfunction, then the manufacturer should pay damages to you and to the County.

I would personally support you and I know many of my friends and acquaintances in Sarasota would support you if you choose to take legal action. The guarantee of the security and accuracy of the vote is so fundamental and so important to the proper functioning of a democracy that we should not rest until we know that each voter's vote truly counts.

Electronic voting machines should not have anything "secret" about them. The process and inner workings of the software, source code and hardware should be a matter of public record and the design should conform to the best possible engineering and information systems standards available. Furthermore, Electronic Voting Machine vendors should not be able to pick and choose which municipalities they will sell to. On the contrary, we the people, through our State regulations, should dictate how these vendors and manufacturers can sell their products in Florida. The entire process needs to be transparent and open for public scrutiny.

Please let me know if there is anything I can do to help.

Sincerely,

Eric Wachsman

> FYI, My wife & I voted early at the Fruitville library. We both were looking to vote for Christine and used separate machines at the library. We both were very particular on voting for Christine and also voted for every one else on the ticket. Now we both feel cheated as we feel our votes did not count for the one person we really wanted to vote for. I am a registered Republican and my wife is registered Independent. We are recent residents of Florida. I am now starting to believe Carl Hassen's novels on Dade County's inept commissioners, as the norm for Sarasota County. On TV last night 2 separate new commentators mentioned the voting accuracy in the Virginia Senate race & how they could depend on it - with the quote "Virginia is not Florida". We both voted for the audit trail amendment for the next election.

My wife's email about the voting irregularities is enclosed, and I am in agreement with it. However, you are now in a unique position to be a statesman, not a politician. In 2000, neither the Democrats nor the Republicans were statesmen. A statesman would have said that our basic rights in a democracy have been violated, and all of the votes should be recounted by hand immediately. Whether this would be an advantage to their side or not, nobody stood up for democracy. Instead, partisan politics and court decisions ruled the day. I thought that Jeb Bush lost a wonderful opportunity to stand up for democracy, and greatly enhance his image.

Now, here we are again. The voting irregularity kept 13% of the vote from being counted. If I were Vern Buchanan would make a speech this morning calling the election invalid, and asking for another election. If he did this (which won't), he would be standing up for democracy, not his 350 vote margin. It would greatly enhance his image in my mind.

Now there is a recount. What if you come out on top? So what, it is still not a fair election because of the machine malfunction.

If I were in your position I would, this morning, call for a new election, whether you win the recount or not. If you do this, you will be the statesman standing up for democracy. You need to do this before the recount is done, before the courts have ruled, whether you are the winner or the loser. If you do this, you will be the winner in my mind.

Hi

Page 2 never came up on my ballot, nor on my husband's. We both had no vote registered for page 2 on the summary page of our ballots.

The pre-voting instructions from the poll worker were "Be sure to vote on page 2. It's a very important local race." Nobody instructed us that page 2 would not come up, and that we should touch on that contest at the summary page to register a vote. Fortunately we knew enough about computers to do so.

This will have been an obvious disadvantage for people who aren't computer literate. Especially those who are elderly or who can't afford a computer.

I would be very willing to be a witness in court, or to sign any petition. Now I wish I'd voted for paper ballots, in spite of the cost. This particular cost is too high.

Please, if you give up now, please, please run again!!!

It's outrageous that Ms Dent is not acknowledging this 13% problem

This is in response to the Herald's request for information from anyone having trouble voting in Sarasota yesterday. (I also left a message on your phone number.)

I voted yesterday, and was astonished to discover, when I looked at the list of people I had voted for, that nothing registered for the congressional race. I had to go back and enter a vote for Christine Jennings.

I have been a big supporter of Christine Jennings, have donated to her campaign, and stood on street corners to wave Jennings signs. I find it VERY difficult to imagine that I did NOT vote for her as I went down the list. I am a very careful voter, and in my 30 plus years of voting, I have NEVER had to go back and add in someone I forgot to vote for.

However, in spite of my amazement that I did not see a vote for Jennings on my list, I figured it must've been my own oversight - so I went back and voted for her, then submitted my votes.

Now that I know that 13 percent of the voters did not endorse Jennings or Buchanan, I am much more suspect about the fact that my initial vote did not bring up a vote for Christine Jennings.

I sincerely hope that there will be a run-off for the contest between Jennings and Buchanan.

Christine Jennings

I voted early (Sunday 2:30 PM) at the Fruitville library and was told by the poll worker that there was a problem on page two.

> She said to "be careful because some of the votes on that page were not registering". The 13th selection was on that page. I was extra careful to cast my vote and it all seemed to go ok.

When my wife went to vote on Tuesday (Longwood run), I warned her of what the pole worker told me on Sunday.

She cast her votes and went back to check her picks and the vote for the 13th was not selected. She went back and corrected the error. If I had warned her of the problem the pole worker had told me about it would have gone unnoticed and the vote would have gone uncast. If they knew ahead of time why did they not correct it or announce it to all and not just a few. No matter which way we voted I hope that our right to vote and others right to vote were not restricted or infringed upon.

A revote is in order to get a true vote count - which ever way it is to turn out.

As it was my first time voting in an election, I was very careful to check each page before proceeding and noticed I had missed your box.

Is it possible to contact all the people who undervoted and get sworn statements saying who they intended to vote for?

Dear Congress Woman,

I was much upset, voting at the Turtle Beach area, when, checking my vote your, and Buchanan was unmarked. I had definitely voted and had it registered. When I rechecked there was no vote, both boxes blank.

There should be a revote, not a recount. Some have been saying if we were not able to use the machine correctly or if we were not able to re-check or if we were imbeciles, or etc. , that was our problem. I do not think it was a stupid, slovenly lack of action, or action in haste to leave without checking the machine. If you stopped to vote, you would check regardless of you time to get to work.

There was a glitch, obviously, and a recount will not take care of the problem.

Only a re vote will (God, and honesty willing) will find the true winner.

GO, GAL GO..GO and insist.

Dear Friends,

JENNINGS - 02115

As many of you know, something clearly went wrong with the controversial touch-screen electronic voting machines in this election. More than 18,000 voters in Sarasota county were victimized by not having their vote counted – a rate nearly 6 times greater than the undervote in any other county in the district, and nearly 6 times greater than the undervote on Sarasota's paper

Dear Ms. Jennings, I am very angry because my rightful vote has been stolen from me. I am sure I pressed the machine next to your name. When I checked after voting there was nothing next to your name. I brought back the page where Christine Jennings was listed & pressed firmly again. Now, when I went to recheck the machine started to buzz loudly & someone came & pressed some items so as I could press the red vote button.

MY BIG MISTAKE WAS NOT TO MAKE A BIG COMPLAINT RIGHT THEN AND THERE, I am sorry but the whole thing was upsetting and I wasn't thinking right.

I am almost 84 years old & do not drive.

I WOULD BE HAPPY TO SIGN AN AFFIDAVIT IF YOU MAILED OR DELIVERED IT TO ME, I WOULD BE WILLING TO APPEAR IN COURT IF SOME KIND OF TRANSPORTATION WAS PROVIDED.

Wish you the best of luck & am very proud of you for pursuing this important matter. Our whole American way of life is at risk if we can't trust the voting procedure.

I wrote a letter to the editor of the Sarasota Herald Tribune on Monday, November 6, 2006 in response to Ca Dent's comments that voters were not paying attention to the 13th District race (later said they chose not to vote). I specifically went to the polls on Thursday, November 2 to vote for Ms. Jennings. This was the one race I was particularly interested in voting against Buchanan. Had I not been paying attention that my vote had not registered, I would have pressed the "vote" button -- and been one of the estimated 10 to 13 thousand voters whose vote was (probably) not recorded. Ms. Dent owes apologies to the voters and Ms. Jennings. Beverly Rayfield PO Box 5425 Sarasota, FL 941-955-9492

My wife and I voted early in the 13th congressional district in Sarasota Florida in the recent election. The candidates, Jennings and Buchanan, were on a page which many ignored because of its hidden character. I recognized it and voted. My wife missed it and tried later to vote for Jennings. Both times the machine failed to record her vote. She finally asked a poll worker for help and she had it registered. One in 7 votes were not counted for Jennings from what we are hearing from TV commentators and there should be an investigation not only of this flagrant disregard for democracy but also the incompetence, arrogance and denial by Kathy Dent, the supervisor of elections. Introduction..... 1

Responses to the Questions Presented3

1. State Remedies: “Whether there are compelling reasons for the Task force not to proceed with an investigation at this time?”3

2. Discovery: “If the task force authorizes discovery under the Federal Contested Election Act, what discovery do the parties anticipate undertaking?”6

3. Voting Machines/Source Code/Software: “Whether the task force can rely and if so, to what extent, on the tests conducted by Florida authorities and their experts? Is there a need for additional testing and, if so, the nature and reasons for additional tests. How can the task force protect the proprietary interests of the voting machine vendor/manufacturer should discovery entail an examination of trade secrets?”7

 (a) The Task Force Can and Should Rely Upon Florida’s Testing of the Election System7

 (b) Additional Testing.....11

 (c) Protection of Manufacturer Trade Secrets.....12

Conclusion13

Certificate of Service14

INTRODUCTION

Congressman Buchanan appreciates this opportunity to confer with the Task Force concerning the status and conduct of this Federal Election Contest. Congressman Buchanan respectfully submits that: (i) the State certified election results are correct; (ii) the State of Florida's unprecedented and extensive auditing of the Sarasota County iVotronic system confirms that the machines operated properly and accurately recorded the votes cast; and, (iii) based upon clear and controlling House precedent this Federal Election Contest should be dismissed.

Although more extensively discussed in Congressman Buchanan's Motion to Dismiss, these proceedings should be informed by the following basic, guiding principles:

The State of Florida's certification of Congressman Buchanan as the winner of the election for the 13th Congressional District constitutes prima facie evidence that the election was conducted correctly. See 2 Lewis Deschler, "Deschler's Precedent" ["Deschler"], Ch. 9 §§ 36.1 (1978) (citing, e.g. Weber v. Simpson, H.R. REP. NO. 78-1494 (1934)). That certification must be afforded a strong presumption of legality and correctness. See Young v. Mikva, H.R. REP. NO. 95-244 (1977); Ziebarth v. Smith, H.R. REP. NO. 94-763 (1975); Gormley v. Goss, H.R. REP. NO. 73-893 (1934). Election results prepared by election officials appointed under the laws of the state where the election was held are presumed to be correct until they are impeached by proof of fraud or irregularity. See Deschler, Ch. 9 § 36.3 (citing Clark v. Nichols, H. R. REP. NO. 78-1120 (1943)).

In election contests such as this, Congress has repeatedly stated that it will follow state laws and decisions of state courts unless they are shown to be unsound. See Carney v. Smith, H.R. REP. NO. 63-202, at 2586 (1914); see also 6 Clarence Cannon, "Cannon's Precedents of the House of Representatives of the United States," Ch. 162 §§ 91, 92 (1935) (quoted in Kyros v. Emery, H.R. REP. NO. 94-760, at 6 (1975)); accord, Roudebush v. Hartke, 405 U.S. 15 (1972). This deference applies to statutes, rulings concerning particular issues of ballot interpretation, and to the final determination of the winner of an election, as well as the official actions of state elections officials. See, e.g., Deschler, Ch. 9 §§ 57.3, 59.1 (discussing Oliver v. Hale, H.R. REP. NO. 85-2482 (1958) and Roush v. Chambers, H.R. REP. NO. 87-513 (1961)). "Only clear and convincing evidence can provide the basis to overcome the presumption of the legitimacy of the electoral process." Dismissing the Election Contest Against Loretta Sanchez, H.R. REP. NO. 105-416 at 15 (1998).

With these basic principles in mind, we turn to the questions presented.

* * * * *

RESPONSES TO THE QUESTIONS PRESENTED1. State Remedies: “Whether there are compelling reasons for the task force not to proceed with an investigation at this time?”

Controlling House precedent compels the Task Force to refrain from proceeding with an investigation until the State Election Contest is concluded. Historically, the House has awaited the conclusion of any state election and contest proceedings to reach final resolution before commencing an investigation. See, e.g., Sanchez, H.R. REP. NO. 105-416 at 1025 (noting deference the House has shown to state election challenge procedures). This makes sense for two important reasons: (i) the presumption of legitimacy and great deference paid by the House to the states’ elections officials, laws and courts as they relate to the electoral process; and (ii) the avoidance duplicative effort and expense, as well as the risk of inconsistent results. In addition, concurrent investigation by the House risks the unintended consequence of prejudicing the State Election Contest. Ms. Jennings invoked the jurisdiction of the state court as her original means of recourse. Should the Task Force intercede now, the likely impact would be to undermine, if not eviscerate, the trial court’s ability to control its docket, direct civil discovery and adjudicate the matter in accordance with Florida law. Such premature intervention threatens the state court’s ability to interpret and apply state election law - depriving the state the ability to manage its own electoral process. For these reasons, the Task Force should withhold investigation and discovery until conclusion of the State Contest.

Further controlling House precedent provides additional reasons for refraining from authorizing discovery and commencing an investigation until the Motion to Dismiss has been decided. See, e.g., Sanchez, H.R. REP. NO. 105-416 at 6 (“A contested election Task Force should not allow a losing candidate to proceed to discovery in a contest based on general or disproven claims of fraud or irregularities.”); see also id., at 1025 (Minority Views) (noting that, as of that time since passage of the FCEA 30 years earlier, no committee “had ever denied a contestee’s motion to dismiss” and “no committee hearing a challenge brought under the FCEA had ever failed ultimately to find the candidate certified by their state as the winner of the election.”). This gatekeeper function was emphasized in Dismissing the Election Contest against Charlie Rose, H.R. REP. NO. 104-852 (1996), 1996 WL 562033 at *8-10:

In order to keep frivolous cases from reaching discovery, the Committee standard [on a motion to dismiss] incorporates the component of credibility into the review of a contestant’s allegations similar to the standard a judge would utilize in reviewing the evidence at issue in a Rule 56 motion for summary judgment. Thus, because of the peculiarities of the contested election process and the important concern that only substantive challenges be permitted discovery, the proper standard is a blend of Rules 12(b)(6) and 56.

Id. (emphasis added). Ultimately, Ms. Jennings must prove - by clear and convincing evidence - that the iVotronic machines malfunctioned and that such malfunction changed the result of the election. In the first instance, however, she faces a high burden at the pleading stage before discovery can proceed. As noted in the seminal case under the FCEA, “the present contestant, and any future contestant, when challenged by a motion to dismiss, must have presented, in the first instance, sufficient allegations of evidence to justify his claim to the seat in order to overcome the motion to dismiss.” Tunno v. Veysey, H.R. REP. NO. 92-626 at 3 (1971).¹

¹ Such a showing has been consistently required. See, e.g., Anderson v. Rose, H.R. REP. NO. 104-852 at 21, 1996 WL 562033 at *21 (“A contestant must submit sufficient documentary or other evidence,” including affidavits that indicate what testimony could be expected from witnesses if called or what documentary evidence could be produced pursuant to subpoena; such evidence is characterized as “substantial preliminary proof,” even if not the type that might be admissible at a hearing to support those allegations.”); Wilson v. Hinshaw, H.R. REP. NO. 94-764 at 3-4 (1975) (noting that allegations without substantiating evidence are insufficient to meet the requirement of the burden of proof as against a motion to dismiss.); Chandler v. Burnham, H.R. REP. NO. 73-1278 (the burden of coming forward with evidence to meet or resist presumptions

As detailed in the pending Motion to Dismiss, Ms. Jennings has failed to present any support for her allegations and instead offers speculation and conjecture that the iVotronic machines malfunctioned due to a software bug and that such malfunction caused her to lose the election. In sharp contrast, and although it is not his burden to prove that the iVotronic machines worked properly, Congressman Buchanan has presented credible and unrebutted evidence demonstrating that the voting machines accurately recorded votes both during pre-election certification and logic and accuracy testing as well as in post-election parallel testing.² An independent Florida trial court has weighed the credibility of such evidence against the allegations and theories proffered by Ms. Jennings. That court accepted the evidence of the machine's accurate operations and rejected the proffer of Ms. Jennings' experts as "speculation and conjecture." The pre- and post-election actions of Florida's elections officials – undertaken pursuant to and in conformance with Florida law – must be must be afforded a strong in favor of election results rests with the contestant) (discussed in Deschler, Ch. 9, § 47.4); William Holmes Brown, House Practice, A Guide to the Rules, Precedents, and Procedures of the House, 104th Cong., 2d Sess., U.S. Government Printing Office (1996) at 462, (citing Deschler, Ch. 9 § 35.7, stating "[u]nder the new contested election statute, a contestant has the burden of resisting the contestee's motion to dismiss, prior to the submission of evidence and testimony, representing sufficient evidence that the election result would be different or that contestant is entitled to the seat.").

² The recently released audit and software review by the State of Florida confirm these findings. At the time of filing Congressman Buchanan's Motion to Dismiss, the State of Florida's audit and software review were not available. On April 6, 2007 Congressman Buchanan's Supplemental Appendix in Support of Motion to Dismiss ["Supp. App."] was filed with the House Clerk. The Supplemental Appendix contains the State of Florida's Audit Report of the Election Systems and Software, Inc.'s iVotronic Voting System in the 2006 General Election for Sarasota County Florida, dated Feb. 2007 ("Audit Report", Supp. App., Tab 1.) and the Software Review and Security Analysis of the ES&S iVotronic 8.0.1.2 Voting Machine Firmware, dated Feb. 23, 2007 ("SAIT Report", Supp. App., Tab 2). The Audit Report and SAIT Report are briefly discussed in relation to Question 3, below.

presumption of legality and correctness and may not be disturbed absent proof of some fraud or irregularity. The ruling of Florida's state courts are entitled to no less deference.

Given the above, the question presented, respectfully, is not whether there exists compelling reasons for the Task Force not to undertake investigation at this time but, rather, should be whether there is a compelling reason to disregard decades of clear, controlling and unwavering House precedent that: (i) mandates deference to, not circumvention of, the State elections process and remedies; and (ii) requires a contest to survive dismissal before an investigation may commence and discovery can be allowed. Congressman Buchanan submits that such a compelling reason does not exist and that his Motion to Dismiss should be granted for the reasons stated therein.

2. Discovery: "If the task force authorizes discovery under the Federal Contested Election Act, what discovery do the parties anticipate undertaking?"

Given the above, we believe that discovery conducted outside of the currently pending state court litigation is not necessary. The state contest proceeding affords the Contestant full discovery opportunity to develop and seek proof for her claims. However, should the Task Force authorize discovery at this time, Congressman Buchanan contemplates taking relatively little affirmative discovery with most, if not all, directed towards rebutting any discovery taken by the Contestant. Areas may include: (i) certification and testing of the iVotronic machines at issue; (ii) Sarasota County's procedures, protocols and practices in preparing for and conducting the election, including recounts; (iii) direct evidence of voter experiences and actions at the polls; (iv) direct evidence of poll work accounts of poll operations; (v) methodology and execution of the State's audit and source code review; (vi) statistical survey and analysis; and (vii) testing of various hypothesis proffered as potential causes of the undervotes. Congressman Buchanan expressly reserves the right to conduct all discovery necessary and authorized under the FCEA.

3. Voting Machines/Source Code/Software: “Whether the task force can rely and if so, to what extent, on the tests conducted by Florida authorities and their experts? Is there need for additional testing and, if so, the nature and reasons for additional tests. How can the task force protect the proprietary interests of the voting machine vendor/manufacturer should discovery entail an examination of trade secrets?”

(a) The Task Force Can and Should Rely Upon Florida's Testing of the Election System.

The Task Force can and should rely upon the pre- and post-election testing conducted by the Florida authorities. Such testing was conducted pursuant to and in accordance with Florida law and, as discussed above, is entitled to a strong presumption of legality and correctness absent a showing of fraud or irregularity. No such showing has yet been attempted nor made. In order to disregard Florida's testing, it is not enough that Ms. Jennings believes it to be inadequate. Rather, she must show, and this Task Force must find, specific credible evidence sufficient to rebut the strong presumption afforded Florida's elections officials and their official acts.

On November 9, 2006, the Florida Secretary of State directed the Florida Division of Elections/Bureau of Voting Systems Certification to conduct an audit of the 2006 General Election held in Sarasota County. The audit consisted of three major components: (1) parallel testing on Sarasota County's ES&S iVotronic voting systems; (2) an examination of the Sarasota County Supervisor of Elections office's election conduct, procedures, results, and certified voting system; and (3) an independent source code review of the iVotronic voting system firmware. The Audit Report was released in February, 2007. See Supp. App.

The parallel testing was conducted on November 28, 2006 and December 1, 2006 in Sarasota County. As originally reported in the Parallel Test Summary Report, dated December 18, 2006, the audit team concluded that the iVotronic direct recording devices correctly captured the voters' selections and accurately recorded the votes cast as displayed to the voters on the review touch screens with 100% accuracy. Supp. App. Tab 1, App. C, Parallel Test Summary Report, p. 8. Likewise, with regard to the audit team's examination of election procedures and practices, in the certified voting system, the "audit team found that the Sarasota County Supervisor of Elections and staff conducted themselves in conformance with established procedures and documented well their processes for elections conduct, with a few noted exceptions." Supp. App. Tab 1, Audit Report, p. 3. The Audit Report concluded:

The audit team found no evidence to suggest or conclude that the official certified election results did not reflect the actual votes cast. The audit team also found no evidence of election procedural error, no evidence of unapproved or unauthorized software/firmware installation, manipulation or alternation, no evidence of machine malfunction, and no evidence of elections' staff misconduct that could have contributed to the higher than expected under-vote reported in the U.S. Congressional District 13 race.

Supp. App. Tab 1, Audit Report, p. 3 (emphasis added).

To complete the final phase of the Audit, on December 15, 2006, the Florida Secretary of State commissioned Florida State University's Security and Assurance in Information Technology (SAIT) Laboratory to conduct a software code review. The team was comprised of eight independent experts from Florida State University, the University of California, Berkeley, University of California at Davis, and the Carnegie Mellon University. The team members come from a variety of backgrounds and are among the foremost experts in their respective fields; copies of their biographies are attached at Tab A.³ The team members were selected “because of their complimentary skill sets” in such disciplines as electronic voting systems, information security, and code review, as well as their computer architecture, compiler and hardware interface expertise. Supp. App. Tab 2, SAIT Report, p. 3.

The sole purpose of the source code review was to “conduct a scientifically rigorous static software analysis on the iVotronics version 8.0.1.2 firmware source code to determine and identify flaws, vulnerabilities or anomalies, if any, that may have potentially caused, contributed to or otherwise created the higher than expected under-vote rate in the District 13 Race.” Supp. App., Tab 2, SAIT Report, p. 3. Guided by numerous reports of possible causes for the CD 13 undervote rate in Sarasota County, the team “produced an extensive list of scenarios that might have resulted in the observed undervote, and this list formed our investigation to systematically rule out each scenario.” Supp. App., Tab 2, SAIT Report, p. 6. The team specifically analyzed hypotheses proffered by Ms. Jennings and her experts, as well as those discussed by other academics and the media. Id., SAIT Report, p. 8-9 (identifying “speculated causes for the undervote”). The team “received all requested access to iVotronic terminals, PEBs, elections officials, ballot definitions, development engineers, and documentation.” Id., SAIT Report, p. 3. Each investigator’s source code review was “unrestricted” and that the machine manufacturer

“responded promptly and comprehensively” to requests for “technical detail, documentation, or clarification....” Id., SAIT Report, p. 6.⁴

After conducting hundreds of hours of manual code review, the eight independent experts concluded: “The team’s unanimous opinion is that the iVotronic firmware, including faults that we identified, did not cause or contribute to the CD 13 undervote.” Supp. App., Tab 2, Report, p. 3 (emphasis in the original). With respect to the malfunction theory posited by Ms. Jennings, the team unequivocally stated: “We are confident that no iVotronic firmware bug contributed to the CD 13 undervote.” Id., SAIT Report p. 53. The State’s independent experts also unanimously found:

- (1) No evidence of any defects in the code that would cause anything less than a complete ballot to be presented to the voter, id., SAIT Report p. 45;
- (2) No evidence of any defects in the code that would cause the display screens presented to the voter to inaccurately reflect the ballot from the PEB or the selection made by the voter, id., SAIT Report p. 46;
- (3) No evidence “of any defects in the code that would cause the ballot images recorded to terminal flash when the voter casts her ballot to incorrectly reflect the selection made by the voter,” id.;
- (4) That the CD 13 race was present on the ballot and if the voter did not make a selection in CD 13 race, the review screen displayed the message “NO SELECTION MADE” in the CD 13 race, id.;
- (5) No sign of any malicious logic deliberately introduced in to the code to rig the election by falsely recording undervotes, id.;
- (6) No evidence “that a selection (or lack of a selection) in any race affected any other race or question on the ballot in any way,” id.;
- (7) “[N]o evidence was found of any serial defect between voters,” id.;
- (8) No evidence “of any time-sensitive code that would cause the machine to behave differently on Election Day than at any other time,” id.; and ⁴ Subsequently, the team unanimously confirmed: “No one from either ES&S or the Florida Department of State attempted to influence the team’s work or its report in any way other than to offer/provide resources as we recorded in the final report.” Statement by the SAIT Laboratory CD13 Software Review Team of March 25, 2007, attached at Tab B.

- (9) No evidence that an “Invalid vote PEB” log event “would cause the CD-13 race not to be displayed to the voter, cause a selection to be altered or cause a valid selection to be recorded as an undervote,” id.

The State of Florida’s audit consisted of (1) parallel testing based upon actual voting day behavior; (2) an examination of the Sarasota County Supervisor of Elections office’s election conduct, procedures, results, and certified voting system; and (3) an independent source code review of the iVotronic voting system firmware. Such a comprehensive publicly reported audit, conducted pursuant to and in accordance with state law, is unprecedented and entitled to a strong presumption of correctness and legality. As such, the Task Force can take great confidence in relying upon the audit and testing conducted by the Florida authorities.

(b) Additional Testing.

Congressman Buchanan submits that no further testing of the iVotronic machines is required. The state audit and testing was thorough, in-depth and reliable. Neither the contestant nor any recognized expert has provided any evidence that the audit and testing conducted by the State are not credible or reliable.

Additional testing, if any, should be no less independent than that conducted by the State of Florida and its independent experts. As an initial matter, such testing should only be conducted by a team of non-partisan, highly trained experts from all required disciplines (e.g., electronic voting technology, computer/information security, computer architecture, etc.). Selection of the team should be mutually agreeable to both parties. This will serve several important functions: (i) ensure a balanced, unbiased team that can focus on the task at hand, rather than posture for a particular party’s benefit, (ii) avoid a costly battle of experts that will likely not aid in resolving this matter, and (iii) greatly assist in protecting the manufacturer's trade secrets by limiting the pool of participants.

(c) Protection of Manufacturer Trade Secrets.

Questions concerning protection of the manufacturer's trade secrets are dependent on the nature and use of the information being contemplated and should be directed to the machine manufacturer. However, use of a single team of mutually agreeable experts should greatly aid protecting the manufacturer's trade secrets. Stringent confidentiality agreements should be employed, as well as security protocols such as the use of "clean rooms" and the like. Congressman Buchanan is amenable to discussion of deploying the strongest protections possible and, given the interests at stake, suggests that the manufacturer be included in this specific aspect.

CONCLUSION

Congressman Buchanan respectfully submits that: (i) the State certified election results are correct; (ii) the State of Florida's unprecedented and extensive auditing of the Sarasota County iVotronic system confirms that the machines operated properly and accurately recorded the votes cast; and, (iii) based upon clear and controlling House precedent this contest should be dismissed. Should an investigation and discovery proceed, however, Congressman Buchanan and his counsel are dedicated to working with the Task Force, Ms. Jennings and her counsel in a cooperative, bi-partisan manner to fully, effectively, and efficiently adjudicate this contest.

Software

1. LALR1T, an LALR(1) parser generator, 1977.
2. AGRAPT, an S-attributed grammar preprocessor and table generator, and FMT, a formatter for parsing and attribute-processing tables, 1983. These programs were used to do the syntactic analysis and code generation phases of the FSU/AFATL Ada compiler (see below). They were later also used to implement one of the first commercial Pascal compilers for the Apple Macintosh, by TML Enterprises.
3. FSU/AFATL Ada compiler (with G.A. Riccardi and students), 1980-1985.
This is a cross compiler, from a CDC Cyber 170-760 computer under the NOS operating system to a bare Zilog Z8002 microprocessor system, written in Pascal. The compiler's development was supported by the USAF Armament laboratory as a tool for experimenting with Ada in real-time embedded systems

- development. It successfully completed official Version 1.6 ACVC testing in September, 1985, and was delivered to the Air Force. This was one of the very first Ada compilers for an embedded microprocessor.
4. Corset and Lace, 1986-88
These are prototype retargetable runtime environments for Ada, designed to support a multiprocessor architecture. They were paid for by Boeing.
 5. TARTE, 1988
This is a further development of Lace, produced for the STARS (Software Technology for Adaptable Reliable Systems) Foundations repository, under contract to the U.S. Naval Research Laboratory. It was placed in the repository.
 6. Agenda-based and Featherweight Task execution models (with students), 1990
These are experimental tools for evaluating several Ada scheduling models being considered by Boeing Aerospace and Electronics (BAE), done under Baker's supervision by students at FSU under contract to BAE. They were developed further by BAE staff.
 7. RTK (with students), 1991
This is a run-time kernel for Ada, based on a virtual processor concept. It incorporates a priority ceiling resource locking mechanism, to bound priority inversion. The work was done with support from the Florida High Technology Industry Commission, the U.S. Army CECOM, and Texas Instruments. It proved several scheduling concepts and served to train several students. The RTK interface later became the basis for the Intermetrics-developed Ada compiler for the Patriot missile ground-control system. RTK was implemented in both a unix version and a multi-processor bare-machine version.
 8. POSIX Real-Time Ada tasking runtime system (directed Edward W. Giering III, post-doctoral research associate, Pratit Santiprabhob, Frank Mueller, and other students) 1991-1993
This is an implementation of POSIX threads, and a full Ada tasking runtime system built on top of that. The Ada RTS is a plug-compatible substitute for the Verdix/Sun SPARC Ada runtime system, and can pass the tasking tests of the ACVC Version 11. The threads library has been very successful. There are many subscribers to the bug-fix list, and the library is the basis of ports to several other operating systems.
 9. GNARL – the Gnu Ada Runtime Library (directing Edward W. Giering III, post-doctoral research associate, and students) 1993-2000
GNARL is the first complete implementation of Ada'95 multitasking, and the first to be validated on for the Real-Time Systems and Systems-Programming annexes. It is designed as a layer over the standard POSIX threads interface, and provides support for the POSIX Ada-language API bindings. It is a part of the GNAT system. GNAT is the Gnu Ada'95 compiler, developed by a team of faculty and students at NYU. GNAT has been productized by Silicon Graphics, Inc., and it is the standard Ada'95 compiler for VAX/VMS and Siemens/Nixdorf computers. In recent years we have ported it to the Java Virtual Machine and to the RT Linux execution environment.
 10. Florist – the FSU implementation of the POSIX.5 and POSIX.5b Ada bindings 1996-1999.
This started with a complete new implementation of the POSIX Ada bindings, in summer 1996. It replaced the rapid prototypes done earlier by FSU students Wan-Hua Lin and Yi-Gang Li, and (it Forest), a non-standard POSIX Ada binding done by K. Almquist of AT&T. It is distributed as free software, by FSU and by Ada Core Technologies, Inc. as part of the Gnat compiler and tool set.
 11. POSIX.5b Test Suite 1998-1999.
This is a validation test suite for IEEE Std 1003.5b. It was paid for by the Defense Information Systems Agency, for intended use in certification. It is distributed with Florist and GNARL, as part of the Gnat compiler and tool set.

Student Papers and Under-Published Work

The following are some ideas I worked on that I think are useful and deserve some attention, but which never made it into mainstream publications.

1. Around 1990, while doing tool development for our first Ada compiler, I implemented an optimized re-hashing scheme, based on an idea originally published by Gonet & Munro, to store the state transition tables of the lexer, parser, and code generator. Some details of that implementation go beyond the published algorithm. The code appeared in our compiler, which was open source, but I have not seen this technique get much play in the literature. It is a good technique, and some day I should write up a short paper on it, so that the technique is not lost.
2. In 1982, while working on the front end of our first Ada compiler, I invented a scheme for passing

- attributes from left to right using the stack of an LR parser, based on attributed grammars. I assigned the implementation and testing to Thomas Leonard, whose thesis An extended attribute processor for bottom-up parsing appeared in 1983. Tom and I submitted a paper on this, containing the proofs, to ACM POPL around the same time. It was rejected. It was submitted to a journal. The reviewer's comments asked for more explanation of the relationship to prior work on "affix grammars". It could have been revised and resubmitted, but Tom left town and I was too busy trying to get our compiler validated to take the job over for him. Some day I'll scan in his thesis and post a link to it here.
3. In 1987, for an Ada kernel that we did for the STARS Foundations program, I developed a fast priority queue structure, which I called a D-tree. It is a variant of the implicit binary-tree structured heap, that allows faster deletions. Two students did performance studies of D-trees compared with other priority queue implementations, as master's projects. The first of these was Rajiv Maheshwari, who did a thesis Analysis of Priority Queue Algorithms in 1990. The second was Nikhil Mhatre, who did a master's project on aA Comparative Performance Analysis of Real-Time Priority Queues (download PDF copy). These papers both include a description of the D-tree structure and the associated algorithms. The link above is to Nikhil's paper. Some day I'll scan in Rajiv's paper and put a link to that also.
 4. In 1990, I figured out a way of implementing a multi-processor version of a semaphore locking protocol that I called the "Stack Resource Policy". Chi-Sing Chen implemented and tested this in the context of a real-time kernel we were developing at the time, assisted by another student, Pratit Santiprabhob. This is mentioned in a paper, cited above, presented at a minor conference, the Software Engineering Research Forum, in 1991. This is a good technique, which should have been reported more widely. Some day I'll scan in the paper and post it here.

Teaching

- COP 4613/COP 5642 Real-Time Systems, Fall Term 2006.
- talk for CIS 5935, Introduction to Research, Fall Term 2006
- CIS 4930/5641 Linux Kernel & Device Driver Programming, Summer B Term 2006
- COP 4020 Programming Languages, Fall Term 2005
- talk for CIS 5935, Introduction to Research, Fall Term 2005

Theodore P. Baker

*Professor
Ph.D., Computer Science, Cornell University, 1974.*

Professor Baker's first research was in theoretical computer science. His best known work in this area is related to the $P=NP$ question and polynomial-time relative computability. He has also published research in pattern matching and parsing algorithms, compilation techniques, and in real-time programming languages, scheduling and operating systems.

Starting in 1979, Professor Baker became involved with the development of the the Ada programming language. A group he organized at FSU (including Professor Riccardi) produced one of the first validated Ada cross-compilers for embedded systems.

After the completion of the FSU/AFATL Ada compiler project, Professor Baker concentrated on problems connected with using Ada in real-time embedded computing applications, focusing on the Ada runtime environment, and how to produce systems that verifiably meet hard timing constraints. This work was supported by contracts from several sources, including the Boeing Companies, the U.S. Army (Fort Monmouth), and U.S. Navy (ONR, NRL/STARS-Foundations, NCSC). It has involved design, implementation, and testing of a series of runtime systems that are suitable for use in multiprocessor shared-memory environment, as well as the FSU Pthreads library.

In 1991, as Domain Expert for the real-time systems and systems programming for the Ada9X Mapping-Revision Team, Professor Baker played a significant role in drafting the real-time systems and systems programming sections of the Ada 95 reference manual, which has been adopted in 1995 as the international standard for the Ada programming language.

Professor Baker directed a project at FSU to develop the multi-tasking runtime system for the Gnu NYU Ada 95 Translator (GNAT). This is believed to have been the first validatable implementation of Ada 95 tasking for a non-embedded system, and is probably the most portable, successful, and widely used of all Ada 95 implementations. Professor Baker subsequently directed the porting of the GNAT multi-tasking implementation to a variety of platforms, including the Java VM and RT Linux.

Professor Baker has also done some basic research on real-time scheduling, worst-case execution time prediction, and concurrency control, working with several graduate students, and has served on the program committees of several conferences on this subject.

Professor Baker has been active in software standards related to real-time operating systems and programming languages. Besides editing the POSIX.5b and POSIX.5c standards, he worked with students to develop a portable implementation and a set of validation tests for these standards, with funds provided by the U.S. Department of Defense, Defense Information Systems Agency.

From 1998 to 2002, Dr. Baker served as Chair of the Department of Computer Science at Florida State University. Under his leadership, the department implemented what may be the first ABET-accredited distance learning degree program in Computer Science, approximately doubled in faculty size, and more than doubled its external research funding. A part of this growth initiative was development of a research group and graduate educational program in information assurance, including computer security and cryptography. For this development, the department was recognized in 2000 as a Center of Educational Excellence in Information Assurance.

Dr. Baker's current research interests are multi-processor real-time scheduling and device driver architecture.

Vita: Mike Burmester – Summary

1. Personal details

Name: Michael Vladimir Demetrius BURMESTER (married, two children).
 Citizenship: British.
 Address : Department of Computer Science, 269 Love Building
 Florida State University,
 Tallahassee, FL32306 – 4530
 Telephone : (850) 644 6410
 Email : burmester@cs.fsu.edu
 Url : <http://www.cs.fsu.edu/~burmeste>

2. Highest degree

Dott. Mat. (summa cum laude), University of Rome “La Sapienza”, 1966 (Supervisor B. Segre).

3. Present positions

Harris Professor, Department of Computer Science, Florida State University, Dec 2000 – .
 Courtesy Professor, Computer & Information Sciences, Florida A&M University, May 2006 – .

4. Professional activities and Society memberships

Program Co-Chair, Mobile Ad-hoc Networks and Sensors (MADNESS '05), Singapore, Sept 20-22.
 Co-Organizer, FSU Summer School on Information Security 2005, May 3-6.
 Co-Organizer, FSU Summer School on Information Security 2004, May 5-7.
 Co-Organizer, FSU Summer School on Information Security 2003, May 13-23.
 Chair WCIP 2003 (Workshop on Critical Infrastructure Protection), FSU, Feb 12, 2003.
 Program Co-Chair, WSAAN2003 (Workshop on Security and Assurance in Ad hoc Networks), Orlando, Jan 28, 2003.
 General Chair, PKC2003 (International Conference on Practice and Theory in Public Key Cryptography), Miami, Jan 6-8, 2003.
Program Committees
 SWPWN 2006, TrustBus 2006, ARES 2006, ISC 2005, 2nd European PKI Workshop 2005, CNIS2005, ACISP05, ICICS 2005, DEXA 2005, IWAP 2004, 1st European PKI Workshop 2004, TrustBus 2004, CNIS 2003, EC-Web2003, DEXA2002, WISA2002, ACISP 2002, ECWeb'2001, RSA'2001, Asiacypt'99, Eurocrypt'99, Eurocrypt'97, Eurocrypt'95, Auscrypt'92.
Editor
 JMC, The Journal of Mathematical Cryptology; IJIS, International Journal of Information Security; IJSN, International Journal of Security and Networks; IJICS, International Journal of Information and Computer Security.
Reviewer
 Designs Codes and Cryptography; IEE Proceedings; IEEE Transactions on Information Theory; Information Processing Letters; Electronics Letters; IEEE Journal on Selected Areas of Communication and other journals.
Societies
 Fellow of the Institute of Mathematics and its Applications (FIMA), the Hellenic Mathematical Society. Member of IEEE Computer Society and the International Association of Cryptological Research (IACR).

5. Areas of research

Cryptography, Network Security, MANETs and Sensor networks, Security issues in Pervasive/Ubiquitous systems, Privacy/Uncoercibility, Public Key and Trust Infrastructures, Watermarking/Fingerprinting, Mobile Agents, Information Hiding.

6. Publications

29 in refereed journals, 70 in proceedings of international conferences, 1 Book, 3 Book Chapters, 2 Book Chapters in press, 12 in proceedings of national conferences, 15 non-refereed publications, 6 publications submitted to journals, 2 submitted to conferences, 2 Books in preparation.

7. Keynote lectures
10 Keynote lectures, 30 invited international lectures and 30 papers presented at international seminars/conferences.
8. Teaching experience
Undergraduate: Computer Security, Algorithms and Data Structures, Linear Programming, Discrete Mathematics, Error Correcting Codes, Game Theory, Information Theory.
Graduate: Computer Security, Cryptography, Complexity Theory, Formal Methods, Information and Coding theory.
9. Funding
$4M since 2002.
10. Graduate students
3 PhD students starting 2002 (USA) (5 PhD students prior to 2002 in UK).
11. Date: January 15, 2007.

3.2 Other Proposals

1. NSA Center of Excellence of Academic Excellence in Information Assurance Education, Re-designation awarded April 2003.
The expanded FSU Curriculum was re-designated by NSA as a center of Academic Excellence in Information Assurance Education. The original designation was awarded in Spring 2000.
FSU is the only such center in Florida.
This designation is necessary in order to participate in the Scholarship for Service programs of the NSF and the DoD.

3.3 Funded collaboration (UK, 1997–2001)

1. Secure Network Applications, University of Piraeus, Piraeus, Greece (Euro 9,000).
2. Compliant Cryptography, Queensland University of Technology, 2000, Brisbane, Australia ($2,000).
3. Tracing cheaters in the Information Society, EPSRC GR/N23301, 2000 ($5,000).

5 Keynote lectures

5.1 Keynote lectures at international conferences/workshops

(Title/Venue/Date)

1. Towards provable security for ubiquitous applications – 11th Annual Australasian Conference on Information Security and Privacy ACISP, Melbourne, Australia, July 4, 2006.
2. Provable Security for MANETs – NSF International Workshop on Research in Security and Privacy for Mobile and Wireless Networks (WSPWN 2006), Miami, March 15, 2006.
3. Theory of Information, Cryptography and the Internet – Panhellenic Conference on Mathematical Education, The Hellenic Mathematical Society, Lamia, 19th November 2005.
4. Extreme Security – Network-centric Information Systems, One-day Workshop, University of Piraeus, Piraeus, Greece, 10 June 2005
5. Securing Ad hoc Networks – 3rd Annual Conference on Information Security: From Theory to Practice, Nicosia, Cyprus, 24 October 2003
6. A survey of Key distribution – 5th Annual Australasian Conference on Information Security and Privacy ACISP, Brisbane, Australia – July 2000
7. Security over the Internet – 5th Panhellenic Congress in Mathematical Education, Athens, Greece, June 2000.
8. Trust & Security: A new look at the Byzantine Generals Problem – Internationales Begegnungs und Forschungszentrum für Informatik (Cryptography), Schloss Dagstuhl, St Wadern, Germany – 22 September 1997.
9. Multiplicative Sharing Schemes and Threshold Cryptography – Conference #916: Cryptography – C.I.R.M. Luminy, Marseille, France – 27 September 1995.
10. A Secure and Efficient Key Distribution System – Internationales Begegnungs und Forschungszentrum für Informatik (Cryptography), Schloss Dagstuhl, St Wadern, Germany – 27 September 1993.

5.2 Invited talks (security)

(Title/Venue/Date)

1. Lightweight, Uncloenable, Anonymous RFID Devices – Security Mobility Forum, NSA, Tampa, November 15, 2006.
2. Tracing malicious behavior in wireless mobile environments – 15th Mobile and Wireless Summit, Mykonos, Greece, June 4–8, 2006.
3. The advent of trusted Computing: impact on digital forensics – Ionian University, Corfu, Greece, May 31, 2006.
4. Adaptive gossip protocols – School of Electrical Engineering, Cornell University, Ithaca, NY, April 15, 2006.
5. Reactive and Proactive approaches to Secure Routing in MANETs – NSF International Workshop on Research in Security and Privacy for Mobile and Wireless Networks (WSPWN 2006), Miami, March 15, 2006.
6. Provable Security in wireless mobile networks – CERIAS, Purdue University, West Lafayette, Indiana, February 15, 2006.
7. Using wireless overlay networks for the secure management of network resources and to prevent extreme attacks – NATO Advanced Study Institute, Network Security and Intrusion Detection – Yerevan, Armenia, 10th Oct, 2005
8. Computer Security, theory and practice – University of the Ionian, Corfu, Greece, 17 May 2005

9. Network Security, from models to practice – University of the Ionian, Corfu, Greece, 23 May 2005
10. Trust Infrastructure Models for Mobile Environments, E-Business Forum: Trust and Confidence in a Fast and Mobile environment, Athens, Greece, July 2nd, 2004.
11. Network Security? – 6th Florida Communication Policy Symposium, College of Communication – FSU, April 15, 2004.
12. Security issues in ad hoc networks – University of Maryland, Feb 26, 2004.
13. Group Key Exchange – Summer School on Information Security, SAIT Laboratory, Florida State University, May 15, 2003.
14. Securing Public Key Infrastructures – University of West Virginia, Morgantown WV, November 5, 2002
15. Secret sharing and its application to distributed systems – Center for Secure Information Systems, George Mason University, Washington, DC, June 25, 2002
16. Secure Role delegation for Mobile Agents – Center for Secure Information Systems, George Mason University, Washington, DC, June 25, 2002
17. Aspects of key distribution – Florida State University, Tallahassee, Florida – March 2001.
18. Security of Public Key Infrastructures – Queensland University of Technology, Brisbane, Australia – August 2000
19. A tracing algorithm for the KD traceability Scheme – Queensland University of Technology, Brisbane, Australia – August 2000
20. Strong Forward Secrecy – University of Wollongong, Wollongong, Australia – June 2000
21. Trust and Security in Open Networks – TAO Telecommunications, Tokyo – 11 May 1998.
22. Conference key Distribution systems – Tokyo Institute of Technology – 8 May 1998.
23. Key Distribution – Japan Advanced Institute of Science and Technology – 20 April 1998.
24. Geometric Cryptography: Identification by angle trisection – University of Wisconsin, Milwaukee – 20 February 1998.
25. Trust and Security, The Byzantine Generals strike again – Security Group Seminar, Computer Lab – Cambridge, UK – 5 November 1996.
26. The protection of information – Mathematics in Education and Society, First Panhellenic congress in mathematical education – Athens, Greece – October 23 1996.
27. Verifiable secret sharing – DIA, Saarbruecken – 1 February 1996.
28. Security measures in Information Theory – University of Piraeus – 5 November 1994.
29. Security problems in commercial key distribution systems – University of Wisconsin, Milwaukee – 16 September 1994.
30. The protection of Information – University of Piraeus – 16 March 1994.
31. Recent developments in efficient zero-knowledge proofs – Université Catholique de Louvain, Louvain-la-Neuve – 8 June 1993.
32. An efficient public key based authentication system – University of Wisconsin, Milwaukee – 27 March 1992.
33. Practical vs. formal aspects of zero-knowledge proofs – University of Aarhus, Denmark – 2 October 1992.

5.3 Papers presented at seminars/conferences (security)

(Title/Venue/Date)

1. Reactive and Proactive approaches to Secure Routing in MANETs – NSF International Workshop on Research Challenges in Security and Privacy for Mobile Wireless Networks – Miami, March 15-16, 2006.
2. Community-centric vanilla-rollback access, or: How I stopped worrying and learned to love my computer – Thirteenth International Workshop on Security Protocols, Cambridge, England – 20-22 April 2005.
3. Weathering the storm: managing redundancy and security in ad hoc networks – Third International Conference on Ad hoc and Wireless networks, ADHOC-NOW'04 – Vancouver, British Columbia, July 20-22, 2004,
4. Responsible Privacy – International Workshop on Security Protocols – Cambridge, England – April 26-28, 2004.
5. M. Burmester and A. Yasinsac. Modelling trust in ad hoc networks. Proceedings of the 6th International Conference on Telecommunications and Informatics, May 12-15, 2004.
6. M. Burmester and Tri van Le. Secure Multipath Communication in Mobile Ad hoc Networks, Proceedings, International Conference on Information Technology Coding and Computing, Las Vegas, Nevada, April 5-7, 2004.
7. Tracing Byzantine faults in ad hoc networks – (IASTED) Computer, Network and Information Security 2003, New York – December 11 2003.
8. A Critical Analysis of Models for Fault-Tolerant and Secure Computation – (IASTED) Computer, Network and Information Security 2003, New York – December 11 2003.
9. Short c-secure Fingerprinting Codes – 6th Information Security Conference (ISC'03), Bristol, UK – October 2 2003.
10. Strong Forward Security – 16th International Conference on Information Security, IFIP/TC11, Paris, France – June 2001.
11. Securing Large E-Commerce Networks – 5th Annual Australasian Conference on Information Security and Privacy ACISP, Brisbane, Australia – July 2000
12. Secure Transactions with Mobile Agents in Hostile environments – 5th Annual Australasian Conference on Information Security and Privacy ACISP, Brisbane, Australia – July 2000
13. Secure Communication in an Unknown Network Using Certificates – Singapore 99 – 16th November 1999.
14. Conference keys: a dynamic approach – University of Athens – Greece – 5th December 1997.
15. Hash Codes – ISIT'1997 – Ulm, Germany – 2nd July 1997.
16. A network security threat in general, even when cryptography is used – DIMACS Workshop on Network Threat – Newark NY, USA – 5th Dec 1996.
17. New directions in Mathematics: the management and protection of information – Mathematics in Education and Society, Panhellenic Congress – Athens, Greece – 24 October 1996.
18. Linking trust with network reliability, DIMACS Workshop on Trust Management in Networks, Newark NY, USA – 1st Oct 1996.
19. Efficient and provably secure key agreement – IFIP SEC '96 – Samos, Greece – 22nd May 1996.
20. Efficient Multiplicative Sharing Schemes – Eurocrypt '96 – Zaragoza, Spain – 15th May 1996.
21. Homomorphisms of Secret Sharing Schemes: a Tool for Verifiable Signature Sharing – Eurocrypt '96 – Zaragoza, Spain – 14th May 1996.

22. Verifiable secret sharing – Digital Identification & Authentication Conference – Saarbruecken – 1 February 1996.
23. Key agreement protocols: two efficient models for provable security – 5th Panhellenic Conference on Information Theory – Athens, Greece – 8th December 1995.
24. On the risk of opening distributed keys – Crypto '94 – Santa Barbara, USA – 24th August 1994.
25. A secure and efficient conference key distribution system – Eurocrypt '94 – Perugia, Italy – 3rd May 1994.
26. Towards practical 'proven secure' authenticated key distribution – 1st ACM Conference on Computer and Communications Security – Fairfax, Virginia – 5th November 1993.
27. Cryptanalysis of the Chang-Wu-Chen key distribution system – Eurocrypt '93 – Lofthus, Norway – 26th May 1993.
28. A secure key distribution system – 3rd Symposium on the State and Progress of Research in Cryptography – Rome – 16th February 1993.
29. Zero-knowledge Based Identification: From a Theoretical Concept Towards a Practical Token – IFIP 12th World Computer Congress – Madrid – 10th September 1992.
30. An efficient public key distribution system – IFIP 12th World Computer Congress – Madrid, 10th September 1992.
31. Non-existence of homomorphic general sharing schemes for some key spaces – Crypto '92 – Santa-Barbara, California, U.S.A – 15 August 1992.

Bio statement

I joined the faculty of the Computer Science Department at Florida State University after completing a Ph.D. degree in Computer Science from The Johns Hopkins University (2004). My published research includes works on privacy-preserving protocols for medical transactions, group signatures schemes, identity-based cryptographic primitives with applications to e-auctions, and on distributed certified e-mail. Some of my current research interests are in the areas of elliptic-curve applications, secret sharing schemes, provably secure ubiquitous systems, and privacy-enhanced protocols and services.

Research Projects

Provably Secure Ubiquitous Systems

In this project we (Mike Burmester, Tri van Le, and me) investigate the security of pervasive systems with focus on availability issues in the presence of Byzantine faults. Our goal is to formulate rigorous simulation frameworks for analyzing security objectives; and more importantly to design novel mechanisms and algorithms that achieve proven availability, uninterrupted services, high efficiency, and low overhead in such systems. Whenever possible, we favor approaches that integrate security into existing protocols that are well established in the literature. Our focus will be on securing MANET and RFID applications.

Secret Locking

Biometric key encapsulation (BKE) is a technique for protection against cryptographic key exposure. BKE is a software-based technique that uses a large, but imprecisely known master secret (such as a biometric reading, isolated or in combination with a password) to enable probabilistic recovery of a small secret, for instance, a cryptographic key.

The focus of this project (in collaboration with Susanne Wetzel and Seny Kamara) is on secret locking, a BKE mechanism that was proposed in combination with an implemented biometric feature extractor. The project's goals are to analyze the security of existing secret locking constructions, to design and analyze new constructions, and to explore connections between secret locking and other aspects of cryptography.

Privacy and Anonymity-Oriented Applications

Privacy (specially in what regards anonymity) is a peculiar aspect of security. It is often in contradiction with other, more fundamental security requirements, such as authentication and/or access control. However, after deeper consideration, anonymity is a re-inforcer of security:

- (1) It forces one to use the rule of least-privilege whenever possible, clearly demarcating the boundaries of each role's prerogatives and requirements, so that authentication may be based on credentials as opposed to identities.
- (2) It reduces the need to use strong, identity-bound and unrevocable authenticators (social security numbers, biometrics) in low-value transactions.
- (3) It protects the system against malicious actions by privileged insiders, such as rogue system administrators.

The objective of this project is to design new cryptographic primitives and security protocols that add capabilities and flexibility to anonymity-supporting secure systems. I have collaborated with Giuseppe Ateniese, Jan Camenisch, Reza Curtmola, Darren Davis, and Susan Hohenberger in research related to this project.

New Directions in Elliptic Curve Cryptography

Elliptic curves (EC) are highly optimized and flexible settings for public-key cryptography. The development of new EC-based cryptographic techniques expands the applicability scenarios of cryptography, including: new security paradigms (such as identity-based cryptography), new application settings (such as constrained devices), and new privacy-oriented primitives. The research in this project also impacts both our work on ubiquitous systems and on privacy-oriented applications. I have collaborated with Giuseppe Ateniese, Lucas Ballard, Jan Camenisch, Matthew Green, Susan Hohenberger, and Fabian Monrose within the context of this research.

Education

A.B. (1968) Princeton University (Physics). Thesis: "An Absorber Theory of Gravitational Radiation". Advisor: John A. Wheeler.

M.A. (1970) Vassar College (Physics). Thesis: "An Absorber Theory of Acoustical Radiation." Advisor: Morton A. Tavel.

M.S. (1972) American University (Technology of Management).

M.S. (1973) Yale University (Computer Science).

M.Phil. (1974) Yale University (Computer Science).

Ph.D. (1978) Yale University (Computer Science). Thesis: "Computational Geometry". Thesis committee: David Dobkin, Martin H. Schultz, Stanley C. Eisenstat.

J.D. (1981) Duquesne University, cum laude.

Foreign Languages

French, Russian (good reading and technical translation skills, fair conversational ability).

Academic Experience

Distinguished Career Professor, Institute for Software Research International and Language Technologies Institute, School of Computer Science, Carnegie Mellon University (2001-). Principal Systems Scientist (1998-2001). Principal Lecturer (2002-2003). Teaching Professor (2003-). Faculty, Tepper School of Business, Carnegie Mellon University (1999-).

Co-Director, Carnegie Mellon Institute for eCommerce (1998-). Vice-Chair, University Research Council (2000-2002), Director, eBusiness Technology degree program (2003-).

Director, Universal Library, Carnegie Mellon University (1998-).

Visiting Professor, Department of Electrical and Electronic Engineering, The University of Hong Kong (2001-).

Adjunct Faculty, Carnegie Mellon University, Department of Computer Science (1981-1998).
Formerly Assistant Professor, Carnegie Mellon University, Departments of Computer Science and Mathematics (1975-81), Dept. of Statistics (1978-81).

Recent courses taught (Carnegie Mellon):

Algorithm Design and Analysis 15-451 (Comp. Sci.)
Intellectual Capital and its Protection 45-886 (MBA)
Ecommerce Technology 20-751 (MSEC program)
Electronic Payment Systems 20-753 (MSEC program), 96-774 (MSIT program)
Ecommerce Law and Regulation 46-840 (MSEC program)
Electronic Voting 17-803
Ubiquitous Computing, 96-761

Honors and Awards

Fellow, Society of the Sigma Xi (1974-83).

IBM Fellowship, Yale University (1974-75).

SIAM National Lecturer (1977-78).

Distinguished Lecturer (computer science), University of Rochester (1978); McGill University (1979).

Duquesne University Law Review (1980-81).

Black & White Scotch Achiever's Award (first annual, 1991, for contributions to bagpipe musicography).

Industry Service Award of the Billiard and Bowling Institute of America, 1996 (for contributions to billiard history).

Billiard Worldcup Association official referee (2001-)

Editorships

Editor-in-Chief, Journal of Privacy Technology
(2003-2006).

Member of Editorial Board, Pittsburgh Journal of Technology, Law and Policy (1999-2003).

Dr. Shamos has reviewed scientific papers for Communications of the ACM, Mathematical Reviews, IEEE Computer, IEEE Transactions on Computers, Information Processing Letters, Journal of the ACM and the Journal of Computational Physics.

Contributing Editor, Billiards Digest magazine
(1990-).

Legal Experience

Special Counsel, Reed Smith LLP (2000-2003), electronic commerce law.

Shareholder, The Webb Law Firm (1996-2000), intellectual property law. Associate (1990-95).

Private practice of law (1987-90), intellectual property

Associate, law firm of Buchanan, Ingersoll, P. C.
(1985-87), Emerging Companies Department.

General Counsel, Carnegie Group, Inc. (1983-85), artificial intelligence company.

Private practice of law (1981-83), computer law.

Bar Admissions

Arbitration

Dr. Shamos has served as an arbitrator in computer-related disputes for the American Arbitration Association.

Electronic Voting

Dr. Shamos has served as an examiner of electronic voting systems and consultant on electronic voting.

Consultant to the Pennsylvania Secretary of the Commonwealth (2004-).

Project SERVE Security Peer Review Group (2003).

Attorney General's Designee for electronic voting examinations, State of Texas (1987-2000).

Attorney for Counsel to the Secretary of the Commonwealth, Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. (1998-2000, 2004-); Statutory Examiner for electronic voting, Commonwealth of Pennsylvania (1980-1996).

Consultant to Montgomery County, Pennsylvania (1996).

Consultant to the Secretary of State of Nevada (1996).

Consultant to the Delaware Legislature (1989).

Business Experience

President, Unus, Inc., database publishing software (formerly Unilogic, Ltd.) (1979-1987)

President, Lexeme Corporation (1984-87), software language translation products.

Managing Partner, Shamos and Tchen (1978-82), computer consulting firm.

Supervisory Programmer, National Cancer Institute

(1970-72), while a commissioned officer in the United States Public Health Service (O-3).

Associate Engineer, IBM Corporation (1968-70), design of manufacturing information systems.

Consulting

Morgan Stanley Dean Witter (2000-2002). Contact: Stephanie Homes.

McKinsey & Co. (1999-2001). Contact: Will Draper (BTO Stamford)

Bell Atlantic Corporation (1999-). Contact: John Martin.

LG-CNS, South Korea (2002-). Project to automate the Korean court system.

Directorships

Unilogic, Ltd. (1979-87) (later Unus, Inc. d/b/a Cygnet Publishing Technologies, 1987-). Database publishing software.

The Billiard Archive (1983-). Historical nonprofit foundation.

Lexeme Corporation (1984-1987). Computer source language translation.

Insurance Technology Corporation (1992-1995). IT consulting for the insurance industry.

Personal Data

Date of birth: April 21, 1947.

Married to Julie Shamos (formerly Julie Van Allen), August 12, 1973.

Children: Josselyn (born May 20, 1982), Alexander (born August 3, 1984).

Military Status: Veteran (Commissioned Officer, U.S. Public Health Service, 1970-72).

Michael Shamos's Points Against Voter Verified Paper Ballot

1. "Voter-verifiable paper ballot" is a contradiction in terms. It's true that the voter can see how he voted, but he still has no guarantee that the paper ballot he sees going into the box will still be there when a recount is performed. The chance that the ballot box will be stuffed or that ballots will be removed is VASTLY more likely than the possibility of a hacker performing some undetectable tampering.

2. It's really UNDETECTABLE tampering we have to worry about, not tampering itself. Anyone can tamper with a voting machine, and machines are sometimes vandalized. People damage the ballot face, inject glue below the buttons to make it impossible to depress them, hit the machine with hammers, etc. This is detected and the machine is replaced. No one has ever demonstrated, despite the offer of prize money, that it is possible to alter vote totals in a DRE voting machine.

3. Machines break down, people use them wrong, people set them up wrong, etc. The use of machines does not guarantee an error-free election any more than not using machines would. The question is whether any of the failures result in alteration of votes or failure to count them. This question is settled, as it is with ALL machines, by testing.

4. The opponents of DREs assert that a clever programmer could fix up a machine so it would pass all possible tests conducted outside the actual hours when the polls are open, but be programmed to switch votes during the actual election. Let us assume for a moment that this is even true (it isn't, actually, since the existence of the time-detection code could itself be detected, but let's give them the benefit of the doubt). The response to this is very simple. Let's actually test a small random sample of machines during the actual election. That is, remove them from service after they are turned on and initialized, and cast votes on them just as if they were being used in the election (except these votes will not count officially). This does not involve putting the machine into any kind of special "test" mode or anything out of the ordinary. If the machine is rigged, this test will reveal it.

5. It is quite feasible to have an independent organization (that is, independent of the voting system vendor), build an "audit" device that would sit inside each voting machine and INDEPENDENTLY record ballot images before the voting machine itself gets its hand on them. If there is any fiddling with the votes by the machine, then a simple comparison with the audit trail will reveal it. The problems in the past has been that the voting system vendor has been required to provide his own audit capability, which is not independent. So if he rigs the machine he can also rig the audit trail. With an independent watchdog this can't happen. This solution is MUCH simpler than any kind of paper audit trail, which by its nature is subject to tampering.

6. Paper, paper! The public reliance on it is seriously misplaced. Paper can be lost, altered, replaced, stolen or invalidated. It is fragile, can decay, fall apart or even look different to the human eye than it does to a machine (a serious problem with opscan equipment).

7. David Chaum has a complex scheme which supposedly allows a voter to verify AFTER an election that his vote has been tabulated properly in such a way that he does not have to reveal his vote. It's based on some complicated mathematics and a very tricky two-part ballot. Let's even assume it works and that it could be used in practice. It provides no protection whatsoever to the voter. Even if he sees that his vote was counted right, he has no idea how many phony votes were added to the totals. If he sees that his vote was NOT counted, it's not clear what recourse he has. He can petition a court to add one vote to the loser's total, but it would take a groundswell of individual petitions to make any difference in the election, and all of these people would then have to reveal their choices. So it just doesn't work in a real election setting.

Professor of Computer Science at Carnegie Melon and has twenty years of experience with computerized voting.

University of California, Berkeley

Research interests. Computer security, especially security of large-scale systems and networks. Applications of static and dynamic program analysis to computer security. I am currently working on software security, electronic voting, wireless security, sensor network security, cryptography, and other topics. I participate in the TRUST and ACCURATE centers. In the past, I was a co-founder of the ISAAC research group.

Publications. My technical papers and publications are all available online. Some of my technical talks are also available, too.

Teaching. I am on sabbatical in Fall 2006 and Spring 2007. See also my past teaching.

Students. I'm lucky to have the chance to work with a group of outstanding graduate students: Karl Chen, Arel Cordero, Chris Karlof, Adrian Mettler, David Molnar, Naveen Sastry, and Ka-Ping Yee. See also the students I've graduated.

Contacting me. See my contact information for my address and other details.

Professional activities. I'm currently involved with the 2007 USENIX/ACCURATE Electronic Voting Technology Workshop (program committee co-chair) and the IAVoSS Workshop On Trustworthy Elections \(WOTE 2007\) (program committee member). Submit your best work!

Software. Available: CQual++, a tool for type inference analysis of C and C++ code; MOES, a tool for verifying security properties of C code; and BOON, a tool for finding buffer overrun vulnerabilities in C code.

Resources I maintain. Information on collecting randomness for cryptographic purposes. A large list of the home pages of some crypto and security researchers.

- Cryptanalysis of a Cognitive Authentication Scheme (Extended Abstract)
Philippe Golle and David Wagner. To appear at IEEE Security & Privacy 2007. (Earlier version: IACR ePrint Archive, Report 2006/258, July 31, 2006.)
- From Weak to Strong Watermarking
Nicholas Hopper, David Molnar, and David Wagner. TCC 2007. (Full version: IACR ePrint Archive, Report 2006/430, November 18, 2006.)
- Prerendered User Interfaces for Higher-Assurance Electronic Voting
Ka-Ping Yee, David Wagner, Marti Hearst, and Steven M. Bellovin. USENIX/ACCURATE Electronic Voting Technology Workshop, August 1, 2006. [html]
- The Role of Dice in Election Audits -- Extended Abstract
Arel Cordero, David Wagner, and David Dill. IAVoSS Workshop On Trustworthy Elections (WOTE 2006), June 29, 2006.
- Security considerations for incremental hash functions based on pair block chaining Raphael C.-W. Phan and David Wagner. Computers & Security, 25(2):131-136, 2006.
- Designing voting machines for verification
Naveen Sastry, Tadayoshi Kohno, and David Wagner. Usenix Security 2006, August 4, 2006. [pdf]
- Private Circuits II: Keeping Secrets in Tamperable Circuits
Yuval Ishai, Manoj Prabhakaran, Amit Sahai, and David Wagner. Eurocrypt 2006, May 31, 2006.
- Tamper-Evident, History-Independent, Subliminal-Free Data Structures on PROM Storage -or- How to Store Ballots on a Voting Machine (Extended Abstract)
David Molnar, Tadayoshi Kohno, Naveen Sastry, and David Wagner. 2006 IEEE Symposium on Security and Privacy, May 24, 2006. [ps]
- Generic On-line/Off-line Threshold Signatures
Chris Crutchfield, David Molnar, David Turner, and David Wagner. Public Key Cryptography (PKC) 2006, April 24, 2006. [ps]
- Preventing Secret Leakage from fork(): Securing Privilege-Separated Applications
Umesh Shankar and David Wagner. Proceedings of the 2006 IEEE International Conference on Communications (Network Security and Information Assurance Symposium at ICC 2006), June 2006. [ps]
- Statewide Databases of Registered Voters: Study Of Accuracy, Privacy, Usability, Security, and Reliability Issues
Paula Hawthorn, Barbara Simons, Chris Clifton, David Wagner, Steven M. Bellovin, Rebecca N. Wright, Arnon Rosenthal, Ralph Spencer Poore, Lillie Coney, Robert Gellman, Harry Hochheiser. Study commissioned by the U.S. Public Policy Committee of the Association for Computing Machinery, February 16, 2006. [overview; local copy]
- Security Analysis of the Diebold AccuBasic Interpreter
David Wagner, David Jefferson, Matt Bishop, Chris Karlof, Naveen Sastry. Report of the California Secretary of State's Voting Systems Technology Assessment Advisory Board

- (VSTAAB), February 14, 2006. [local copy]
- Analysis of Volume Testing of the AccuVote TSx/AccuView
Matt Bishop, Loretta Guarino, David Jefferson, David Wagner. Report of the California Secretary of State's Voting Systems Technology Assessment Advisory Board (VSTAAB), October 11, 2005. [local copy]
- The Program Counter Security Model: Automatic Detection and Removal of Control-Flow Side Channel Attacks
David Molnar, Matt Piotrowski, David Schultz, and David Wagner. ICISC 2005, December 1, 2005. [proceedings version (abridged): pdf, ps]
- Model Checking An Entire Linux Distribution for Security Violations
Benjamin Schwarz, Hao Chen, David Wagner, Geoff Morrison, Jacob West, Jeremy Lin, and Wei Tu. ACSAC 2005, December 6, 2005. [ps] [proceedings version (abridged): pdf, ps]
- Fault Attacks on Dual-Rail Encoded Systems
Jason Waddle and David Wagner. ACSAC 2005, December 8, 2005. [ps]
- A class of polynomially solvable range constraints for interval analysis without widenings
Zhendong Su and David Wagner. Theoretical Computer Science, November 21, 2005, pp.122-138. [TCS web page]
- Privacy For RFID Through Trusted Computing (Short Paper)
David Molnar, Andrea Soppera, and David Wagner. WPES 2005, November 7, 2005. [ps]
- A Scalable, Delegatable Pseudonym Protocol Enabling Ownership Transfer of RFID Tags
David Molnar, Andrea Soppera, and David Wagner. SAC 2005, August 11-12, 2005. [ps]
- Killing, Recoding, and Beyond
David Molnar, Ross Stapleton-Gray, and David Wagner. Chapter 23 of RFID Applications, Security and Privacy, Addison Wesley Professional, July 6, 2005. [ps]
- Security and Privacy Issues in E-passports
Ari Juels, David Molnar, and David Wagner. Proceedings of SECURECOMM 2005, September 6, 2005. [ps]
- Fixing Races for Fun and Profit: How to abuse atime
Nikita Borisov, Rob Johnson, Naveen Sastry, and David Wagner. Proceedings of the Fourteenth USENIX Security Symposium (USENIX Security 2005), August 5, 2005. [ps]
- Cryptographic Voting Protocols: A Systems Perspective
Chris Karlof, Naveen Sastry, and David Wagner. Proceedings of the Fourteenth USENIX Security Symposium (USENIX Security 2005), August 3, 2005. [ps]
- The Promise of Cryptographic Voting Protocols
Chris Karlof, Naveen Sastry, and David Wagner. June 2005. [ps]

Research. The following paragraphs summarize research efforts in four areas with selected publication title and venues included. Other interest areas include computer forensics and intrusion detection. Complete bibliography entries are included in the publications section beginning on the second page.

Wireless and Mobile Security. Mobility brings many security challenges to distributed applications. This work focuses on cryptographic approaches suitable to resource constrained environments. We also introduce a new obfuscation paradigm called "Program Encryption".

"Limitations of Simulation for MANET Research", accepted to IEEE Computer

"Taxonomy for Defining Mobile Agent Security", accepted to ACM Computing Surveys

"Protocols for a Dynamic Key Exchange System for Ad Hoc Networks", LNCS 3364

"Weathering the Storm: Managing Redundancy and Security in Ad hoc Networks", LNCS 3158

"Of Unicorns and Random Programs", CCN 2005

Security Protocols. The foundation of my research is security protocols. The primary emphases are formal verification and proper application of cryptography.

"Formal Analysis of Modern Security Protocols", Information Sciences

"An Environment for Security Protocol Intrusion Detection", Journal of Computer Security

Privacy. Fundamental societal rights, such as that of ownership, depend on our ability to keep certain information confidential. Conversely, privacy and anonymity tools are often misused to cover criminal activity or circumvent deterrence. We investigate issues of using privacy responsibly.

"Security or Privacy, Must We Choose?" Symposium on Critical Infrastructure Protection & the Law

"Accountable Privacy", Twelfth International Workshop on Security Protocols

Security Education. With the introduction of many information security workforce development funding programs, fundamental technical and pedagogical issues are investigated and introduced.

"Centers of Academic Excellence: A Case Study", IEEE Security and Privacy Magazine

"Security-Aware Coding", 39th Annual Hawaii International Conference On System Sciences

"Computer Forensics Education", IEEE Security and Privacy

Statement by the SAIT Laboratory CD13 Software Review Team of March 25, 2007

Yesterday, the SAIT Lab team was made aware of a letter sent by ES&S to the Florida Secretary of State on December 15th, 2006 detailing proposed conditions under which ES&S would voluntarily provide source code for review. This letter is now posted on the Internet and questions regarding whether it had any impact on our review have been raised. The following is the SAIT Review team's unanimous response:

"This letter was not provided, or its terms presented, to the SAIT review team before or during the software review. No member of the team agreed to the terms of the letter either before, during or after the review, and no member was or is bound by those terms.

"The official Statement of Work deviates significantly from the guidelines. Moreover, there were no terms or limitations on the team beyond those established and publicly posted in the official Statement of Work:

(<http://election.dos.state.fl.us/pdf/FSUstatementWork.pdf>).

"No one from either ES&S or the Florida Department of State attempted to influence the team's work or its report in any way other than to offer/provide resources as we recorded in the final report:

(<http://election.dos.state.fl.us/pdf/FinalAudRepSAIT.pdf>)."

Dear Chairman Gonzalez:

On behalf of Congressman Vern Buchanan we provide the following response to your letter dated June 15, 2007.

1. The Prior Testing Of The Electronic Voting Machines Was Adequate And Confirmed That The Machines Accurately Recorded The Voters' Selections As Presented On The Summary Screens.

The voting machines at issue have undergone extensive testing, certification and analysis -- perhaps more so than any other election system to date. Those machines have conclusively demonstrated the accurate recording of the votes cast at every phase.¹ Such testing included:

- Pre-purchase testing and certification conducted by duly authorized elections officials of the State of Florida in accordance with Florida law;
- Pre-election logic and accuracy testing conducted by duly authorize elections officials as required by Florida law;
- Post-election auditing, which included:
 - parallel testing conducted by duly authorized elections officials in accordance with Florida law; and ¹ For a more detailed discussion of these issues, the Chairman is respectfully directed to Congressman Buchanan's Motion to Dismiss, dated January 19, 2007, pp. 7-10, 11-13, and Status Conference Memorandum, dated April 13, 2007, pp. 7-12.

- an extensive source code audit conducted by a team of independent, nationally recognized experts retained by the State of Florida in accordance with Florida law.

2. Additional Testing Is Not Necessary

After conducting hundreds of hours of manual code review, the eight independent experts concluded: “The team’s unanimous opinion is that the iVotronic firmware, including faults that we identified, did not cause or contribute to the CD 13 undervote.” Supp. App., Tab 2, Report, p. 3 (emphasis in the original).² With respect to the malfunction theory posited by the Contestant, the team unequivocally stated: “We are confident that no iVotronic firmware bug contributed to the CD 13 undervote.” Id., SAIT Report p. 53.

The post-election Audit Report, conducted and prepared in accordance with Florida law, concluded:

The audit team found no evidence to suggest or conclude that the official certified election results did not reflect the actual votes cast. The audit team also found no evidence of election procedural error, no evidence of unapproved or unauthorized software/firmware installation, manipulation or alternation, no evidence of machine malfunction, and no evidence of elections’ staff misconduct that could have contributed to the higher than expected under-vote reported in the U.S. Congressional District 13 race.

Supp. App. Tab 1, Audit Report, p. 3 (emphasis added).

As discussed above the pre-purchase testing and certification, pre-election logic and accuracy testing, and the post-election audit were conducted in accordance with Florida law by duly appointed elections officials and/or independent, nationally recognized experts. Seven months have passed since the election and there has been no showing that any of the above-described tests and certifications were not completed lawfully and in the good faith execution of official duties, nor that they are the result of bias, negligence, or malfeasance. Similarly, there has been no showing that any of the testing and certifications were insufficient in achieving their designed purpose, i.e., to determine whether the voting machines accurately record each vote cast. Absent such a showing, the testing, certification and election-management actions of the Florida elections officials -- as well as the certified election result -- are entitled to deference by this Body. See, e.g., Deschler, Ch. 9 §§ 57.3, 59.1 (discussing Oliver v. Hale, H.R. REP. NO. 85-2482 (1958) and Roush v. Chambers, H.R. REP. NO. 87-513 (1961)). Accordingly, no additional testing is necessary.

3. Protocols For Additional Testing

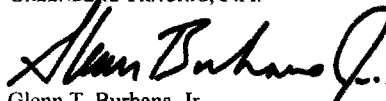

Additional testing, if any, should be no less independent than that conducted by the State of Florida and its independent experts. Such testing should only be conducted by a team of non-partisan, highly trained experts from all required disciplines (e.g., electronic voting technology, computer/information security, computer architecture, etc.). Those experts must exercise their duties here using scientifically reliable techniques and in accordance with the best practices and standards requisite of their respective fields of expertise.

While the parties should be given access to monitor each phase and all proceedings of the testing, the independent expert team must remain free from any external influences. Lastly, any additional testing should focus on the specific issue here -- an alleged machine malfunction that caused a sufficient number of votes for the Contestant not to be counted such that the election result would have been different.

Thank you for the opportunity to address the Committee on these important issues.

Respectfully,

GREENBERG TRAURIG, P.A.

Dear Chairman Gonzalez, Congresswoman Lofgren, and Congressman McCarthy:

In response to your letter of June 15, 2007, we are hereby submitting our comments on the Engagement Plan prepared by the United States Government Accountability Office (GAO).

As you know from our prior submissions — especially our April 13, 2007 Memorandum with Exhibits and Appendices — Ms. Jennings strongly believes that the prior tests of Sarasota County's iVotronic paperless touchscreen voting system were deeply flawed and that additional tests are needed.

We recognize that the central purpose of a Federal Contested Elections Act suit is to ensure that the will of the majority is respected and that the people of the congressional district in question are represented in the House by the candidate of their choice. Here, the political-science and statistical experts for both sides in the state-court litigation agreed that the great bulk of Sarasota County's 18,000 undervotes were unintended and that, had those voters' intended votes been properly counted, Ms. Jennings would have won the election by about 3,000 votes. Arguably, those facts alone should resolve this election contest.

But there is more at stake here than who won or lost; it is critically important for the people of Florida's Thirteenth District, and of the entire Nation, to learn once and for all precisely what went wrong in this election. None of the testing to date has been able to explain the problems experienced and reported by thousands of voters, poll workers, and poll watchers in the District. Therefore, although the ultimate question of which candidate truly won majority support in this election should no longer be in doubt, additional tests of the iVotronic system, to determine precisely why the majority's will has, to date, been frustrated, are very much needed.

election; it is about whether all Americans will have fair and accurate elections at this critical juncture in our country's history.

Given the inadequacies in the prior tests that we have already described in great detail in our prior submissions, we fully expect GAO to conclude that additional tests must be conducted. We therefore turn directly to the final question that we have been asked to address: In conducting additional tests to determine the iVotronic system's contribution to Sarasota County's undervote, what test environment and test protocols should be used, and what resources will be needed?

Resources Needed for Additional Testing

Gathering the right resources is critically important to accomplishing GAO's ultimate objectives. As we explained in detail in our April 13 Memorandum, the failure to gather the right resources under one roof and then subject them to testing by one unified team has crippled the tests previously conducted by Florida's election officials. At the risk of oversimplifying, the problem was this: Those who tested the hardware didn't have access to the software, and those who tested the software didn't have access to the hardware. That error must now be rectified.

Exhibit D to our April 13 Memorandum provides a detailed list of the 18 specific items — hardware, software, and documentation — needed to conduct a comprehensive, balanced, and speedy investigation into this contested election. For your convenience, we have attached a copy of that Appendix to this letter. (The specific quantities for most items listed in Exhibit D can be reduced by two-thirds, since items would now be delivered solely to GAO and not to the parties.) Basically, the items fall into three broad categories.

First, the County must provide at least 20 iVotronic machines that Sarasota County voters actually used in the 2006 general election and related items (including PEBs, compact flash cards, and the election-specific ballot-definition files programmed by the County). Most, but not all, of these machines should come from high-undervote precincts. These items have been kept under seal and sequestered in a warehouse in Sarasota pursuant to a February 21, 2007 state-court order to which all parties consented. Because the County or State plans to sell some or all of these items at some point, the Task Force should not rely solely on the state-court order but rather should actively take steps now — and should not wait until the GAO has presented its initial findings later this summer — to ensure that these items remain under seal, safeguarded for eventual testing by GAO.

Second, the State must provide the source code and binary software images allegedly used in Sarasota County's iVotronic machines. This source code is the same code that the State already provided to the contractors who conducted the source-code review at Florida State University's Security and Assurance in Information Technology laboratory (SAIT).

Third, the machines' manufacturer, Elections Systems & Software, Inc. (ES&S) must provide documentation for the hardware and software, as well as copies of the iVotronic software-version repository, the iVotronic bug-tracking database, and the build environment actually used by the iVotronic system's developers. ES&S could readily load all of these items onto a single computer and deliver it to GAO.

Gathering these materials should take days, not weeks or months, if — and this may be a big “if” — the County, the State, and ES&S give the GAO their full, prompt, and voluntary cooperation, as the Task Force has requested.

Protocols for Additional Testing

Once GAO has gathered these materials, the question of how to conduct the tests comes to the fore. Unfortunately, debugging a computer system is usually not a linear process, as defects often are triggered by the confluence of multiple inputs. (For more details, see the paper by Professors Dan Wallach and David Dill that was attached to the April 13 Memorandum as Exhibit A.)

Investigating allegations of computer malfunction is an interactive process. When a piece of source code looks questionable, an expert can use one of the iVotronic machines from Sarasota County to observe how that source-code command might manifest itself. Conversely, if an iVotronic machine exhibits anomalous behavior, an expert can look to the part of the source code where that behavior is coded to see what the problem might be. A GAO team member's discovery of an anomaly in one part of the system may lead the GAO team to target another part of the system that otherwise might have gone unexamined. That, after all, is the whole point of placing both the hardware and the software under the control of one unified testing team. Indeed, computer scientists routinely distinguish simple “static” software reviews, such as reading source code without ever seeing how it executes on actual hardware (e.g., SAIT's static source-code review), from more rigorous “dynamic” testing that examines how different parts of the software manifest themselves when executed on the actual hardware.

Because much of the dynamic testing of the iVotronic system will be a process of trial and error as the experts work through the various interactions among the voters, the hardware, and the software, it is not possible to identify a priori exactly which tests GAO's experts will need to perform. But certain minimum requirements can be identified, and we have done so in the following list.

Therefore, the following list represents key aspects of a comprehensive investigation, not a chronological list of “steps.” Although we have organized the list below under subheadings for the readers’ convenience, in actual practice GAO must avoid replicating the key error of the State’s audit: compartmentalizing its investigation by erecting artificial “walls” between different parts of the testing regime. Ultimately, erecting those walls will only retard the discovery of what really went wrong with the iVotronic system.

With these principles in mind, here are the minimum requirements for any comprehensive investigation into the iVotronic system’s contribution to Sarasota County’s undervote — with a special emphasis on areas that were inadequately tested, or not tested at all, by the State:

Zeroing in on Problems Already Known to ES&S

To expedite and target the GAO investigation, GAO should review ES&S’s bug-tracking or issue-tracking databases for all software versions of the iVotronic system, to find potential clues about what may have contributed to Sarasota County’s large undervote. For example, the smoothing-filter bug should be recorded in these databases.

To expedite and target the GAO investigation, GAO should review ES&S’s software-version repositories containing earlier and later versions of the iVotronic software, to find potential clues about what may have contributed to Sarasota County’s large undervote. For example, iVotronic version 8.0.1.2, which was used by Sarasota County in the 2006 general election and which has the smoothing-filter bug, should be compared with earlier and later versions of the iVotronic software that do not have the smoothing-filter bug.

When examining ES&S’s databases of reported problems with software and hardware, and ES&S’s software-version repositories tracking the design changes made to respond to these problems, GAO should pay particularly close attention to aspects of the iVotronic system that have exhibited problems repeatedly and to software bugs that ES&S repaired in versions of the iVotronic software subsequent to the version that Sarasota County used (version 8.0.1.2).

Miscalibration and Smoothing-Filter/Response-Time Issues

GAO’s additional testing should focus on the specific problems reported in the sworn affidavits and e-mail and fax complaints submitted by voters; the Election Day “Zone Tech Log Sheets” completed by Sarasota County technicians; the Incident Report Forms from the Sarasota County Supervisor of Elections’ office; the Incident Report Forms from the Jennings campaign; and the Poll Watcher Incident Report Forms. Hundreds of these reports can be found in the two-volume “Documentation of Voting Machine Malfunction Appendix” that Ms. Jennings submitted to the Task Force on April 13, 2007; and they are indexed in Exhibit F to the April 13 Memorandum. To the extent that additional information is needed from county election officials and workers, including the election supervisor's IT staff, GAO investigators should interview or depose them.

GAO should test whether hurriedly or sloppily conducting the "clearing and testing" of each iVotronic machine prior to Election Day, including the recalibration of the touchscreens, could have contributed to Sarasota County's large undervote. As MIT Professor Charles Stewart has conclusively shown, the date when an iVotronic machine was "cleared and tested" by Sarasota County election workers or their contractors (as reflected by "Event Code 01" in the machine's audit log) correlated strongly with the machine's congressional undervote rate. Machines prepared in the final days before the deadline for completing all such preparations exhibited higher congressional undervote rates. And machines "cleared and tested" on dates when the County's staff or consultants were busiest, clearing and testing more machines in a single day, also exhibited higher congressional undervote rates.

GAO should test whether crowding a large number of contests or a large number of candidates onto a single ballot screen (for example, placing two congressional candidates and seven gubernatorial selections on Page 2 of the 2006 Sarasota County ballot) reduces the size of the "zone" that a voter must press in order to select his or her preferred candidate, increases the potential significance of any touchscreen miscalibration, creates a problematic interaction between the election-specific ballot-definition file and the generic source code contained in all iVotronic machines, inadvertently invokes the source-code commands that should apply only to multi-page races, and/or triggers other bugs or defects in the iVotronic system.

GAO should test for potential interactions between human error and machine error, such as problems with miscalibration, touchscreen response times, and multiple simultaneous touchscreen contacts. GAO should test whether calibration is thrown off when a voter rests one hand on the screen while pressing vote selections with the other hand.

GAO should test Sarasota County's iVotronic touchscreens to determine how accurately they were calibrated. Comparing machines from the same precinct, GAO should determine whether the inaccuracy of a machine's calibration correlates with the percentage of congressional ballots recorded as undervotes on that machine.

GAO should examine the source code to better understand how the calibration process works internally, how finger presses are converted to coordinates, and what consequences there might be if an iVotronic machine is poorly calibrated.

GAO should deliberately miscalibrate some iVotronic machines, and then videotape and analyze the behavior of a variety of test voters using those miscalibrated machines with a standard 2006 Sarasota County ballot.

GAO should systematically test for interface timing problems. For example, try touching different zones on different ballot screens for various lengths of time to study the delays imposed by the smoothing filter, and note whether those delays vary with voter demographics, voter behavior, ballot design, touchscreen calibration, or other factors.

GAO should analyze the software that performs the smoothing filter to better understand its defects and to determine how it might interact with other parts of the iVotronic software in an unexpected fashion.

GAO should determine why the effects of the defective smoothing filter are non-deterministic, varying from machine to machine, from voter to voter, and from ballot screen to ballot screen.

GAO should focus on any observed non-deterministic behavior by the machines, including the sometimes delayed touchscreen response times apparently triggered by the faulty smoothing filter, as well as the various specific programming practices that may lead to non-deterministic behavior and that were identified in the redacted or unredacted appendices to the SAIT report.

Firmware-Compiling and Build-Environment Issues

GAO should test whether the tools used to build the (machine readable) executable firmware image from the (human readable) source code worked correctly, complied with the ANSI C programming language standard, and had no bugs or unexpected behavior.

GAO should reconstruct the executable firmware image, to ensure that the firmware compilation environment worked correctly.

GAO should test whether the firmware image provided to GAO is the same as the firmware image provided to the SAIT team.

GAO should test whether the source code provided to GAO is the same as the source code provided to the SAIT team.

GAO should test whether the software used on Sarasota County's iVotronic machines was generated from the same source code that was provided to GAO and to the SAIT team.

GAO should test whether the software present on the internal EPROM (erasable programmable read-only memory) of Sarasota County's iVotronic machines was the software originally certified.

GAO should test whether the firmware image provided to GAO and to the SAIT team was compiled correctly from the source code provided to GAO and to the SAIT team.

GAO should test whether the firmware image provided to GAO and to the SAIT team was the firmware image that actually was executed by the iVotronic machines in Sarasota County on Election Day.

If the source code does not correspond to the compiled executable firmware image, GAO should test for indications of potential malicious attacks.

GAO should examine the actual machine code generated by the compiler to see whether the asynchronously updated global variables that were not declared to be volatile may have led the compiler to perform unsafe optimizations on these variables (e.g., suppression of apparently redundant load and store operations).

GAO should instrument the source code to artificially induce a variety of failures while the system is running, to determine whether these failures might have contributed to Sarasota County's large undervote. Such changes might include deliberately changing the global variables or emulating software interrupts and other non-deterministic effects.

GAO should instrument the source program to print or log interesting events, to improve the understanding of the progression of events that occur as the code executes.

GAO should instrument the code to carefully study the interaction between the code and the hardware, possibly detecting flaws in the hardware itself.

In addition to compiling and executing the software on iVotronic hardware, GAO should extract portions of the software from the main application (e.g., the portions dealing with touchscreen calibration) and then execute those portions in a "test harness" where their behavior can be studied systematically.

GAO should execute the iVotronic software using debugging or simulation tools.

"Commercial Off-the-Shelf" Component Issues

GAO should test the iVotronic system's "commercial off-the-shelf" components, including the microprocessor, the various controller chips, and the software drivers, especially the software driver for the touchscreen.

Security, Virus-Vulnerability, and Malicious-Code Issues

GAO should test vulnerabilities, including but not limited to those identified in the redacted or unredacted appendices to the SAIT report, that could allow for the creation of a voting-machine virus that might spread from one voting machine to another machine, via the PEBs (personal electronic ballots) or otherwise. GAO should examine the actual iVotronic machines, PEBs, and compact-flash cards for evidence of such an attack.

Using commercial tools developed to identify and repair such problems, GAO should detect whether buffer-overflow problems or array out-of-bounds errors or integer-overflow vulnerabilities or other security holes may have manifested themselves in Sarasota County's 2006 general election.

GAO should test the bugs described in the SAIT report's redacted or unredacted appendices, to determine independently whether these bugs might have contributed to Sarasota County's large undervote.

Other Memory and Hardware Issues

GAO should test whether prematurely removing compact-flash cards when closing the polls (as reportedly happened with many iVotronic machines in North Port) alters the votes recorded in memory. See Todd Ruger, "Dent Explains Why Election Results Were Delayed," Sarasota Herald-Tribune, Nov. 9, 2006.

GAO should test whether leaving the external communications pack attached during the election affects how votes are recorded in memory.

GAO should test whether the touchscreen controllers and programmable interrupt controllers (PICs) can fail without the failure being immediately detected.

Mock Elections (or "Parallel" Testing)

GAO should conduct additional mock elections (or "parallel tests," as they sometimes have been mistakenly called) to replicate, as closely as possible, actual Election Day conditions. Specifically:

- use a large enough sample of Sarasota County's iVotronic machines and cast a large enough number of mock voters and mock votes to render the results statistically significant;
- mount the iVotronic touchscreen machines horizontally, on their normal, ES&S-provided stands, rather than hanging them vertically on a wall, which minimizes the chance that a mock voter would touch two or more parts of the screen simultaneously or would touch the screen at a point slightly off-center from his or her intended target;

- include in the mock election some of the touchscreens that were not well calibrated;
- use a broad and representative sample of mock voters (including senior citizens and retirees) who have no conflicts of interest, rather than a small group drawn from current employees of the Florida Division of Elections;
- use a large enough sample of mock voters that they do not all become “experts” in how to efficiently input their selections on the iVotronic machines;
- in addition to the “non-expert” mock voters, also allow the computer scientists and engineers involved in the software review to cast mock votes on machines actually used in Sarasota County’s 2006 general election;
- have some of the mock voters input their vote selections rapidly, rather than having all of them proceed slowly and deliberately;
- ask some of the mock voters deliberately to try to “confuse” the machines;
- ask some of the mock voters deliberately to press the screen at different angles;
- script some, but not all, of the vote patterns;
- do not limit the mock voters to using unnatural “vote patterns,” such as the ten patterns listed on page 5 of the State’s December 18, 2006 “Parallel Test Summary Report”;
- test vote patterns that start with an initial congressional selection of Mr. Buchanan, rather than always starting with an initial selection of Ms. Jennings or of neither candidate; and
- test various touch patterns not only for the ballot’s congressional contest, but also for other contests on the ballot.

GAO should videotape and analyze all anomalies in the voting machines’ behavior, including:

- vote selections not registering the first time the screen is touched;
- inconsistencies in the amount of time required to touch the screen or the amount of pressure needed before a touch registers;
- initial vote selections not being accurately presented on the review screens; and
- vote selections presented on the review screens not being accurately recorded in the machines’ memory.

We are confident that if GAO acquires the resources and conducts the tests described above, the House of Representatives and the American people finally will learn precisely how Sarasota County’s iVotronic machines frustrated the will of the majority in Florida’s Thirteenth Congressional District.

Lastly, we want to thank the Committee, the Task Force, and the GAO for proceeding expeditiously with this investigation. We were, frankly, stunned and disappointed to see Mr. Buchanan's representative referring to this congressional investigation, in supposed contrast with the state-court litigation, as "purely politics." See "Court Denies Jennings Access to Voting Machine Code," Bradenton (Fla.) Herald, June 19, 2007 (quoting Mr. Buchanan's attorney). We reject that characterization entirely and will do everything in our power to fully and promptly cooperate with the GAO as it moves forward with this critically important, independent investigation.

Please do not hesitate to contact us, or to directly contact our lead computer-science expert Professor Dan Wallach (who is currently at Stanford University), if we can be of any further assistance.

Sincerely,

Sam Hirsch

LIST OF PROPOSED ITEMS FOR PANEL SUBPOENAS
[EXHIBIT D TO MS. JENNINGS'S APRIL 13, 2007 MEMORANDUM]

The following items are needed to conduct a comprehensive, balanced, and speedy investigation into this contested election. After each item, the entities that are believed to possess the item and therefore could be subpoenaed for the item are indicated in square brackets, using the following abbreviations: C for the Sarasota County Supervisor of Elections' Office in Sarasota, Florida; S for the Florida Department of State (and its Division of Elections) in Tallahassee, Florida; and E for Election Systems & Software, Inc. ("ES&S"), in Omaha, Nebraska. The numbers of items specified below would allow the subpoenaed materials to be divided into three equivalent sets and then distributed among the Panel, Ms. Jennings's expert team, and Mr. Buchanan's expert team.

1. Sixty (60) of the ES&S "iVotronic machines" used in the November 2006 election in Sarasota County and referred to in Paragraph 1-A of the Stipulation Agreement that Florida Circuit Judge William L. Gary approved on February 21, 2007 [hereinafter "the Stipulation Agreement"], along with the carrying cases, power adaptors, and other apparatus to set up the voting booths for these iVotronic machines. The Panel will select the 60 iVotronic machines, by serial number, from the list of iVotronic machines attached to the Stipulation Agreement as "Exhibit A." [C]
2. One hundred and twenty (120) of the ES&S personal electronic ballots ("PEBs") used in the November 2006 election in Sarasota County and referred to in Paragraphs 1-A and 1-D of the Stipulation Agreement. The Panel will select the 120 PEBs, by serial number, from the list of PEBs attached to the Stipulation Agreement as "Exhibit B." [C]
3. Sixty (60) of the ES&S Master PEBs and all twelve (12) ES&S Qualification PEBs used in the November 2006 election in Sarasota County. [C]
4. All "[compact] 'flash cards'" referred to in Paragraph 1-A of the Stipulation Agreement and used in the November 2006 election in Sarasota County in connection with the 60 iVotronic machines specified above, in Paragraph 1 of this list. [C]
5. Three full copies, delivered in electronic form on CD-ROMs, of all "software" referred to in Paragraph 1-A of the Stipulation Agreement and used in the November 2006 election in Sarasota County in connection with the 60 iVotronic machines specified above, in Paragraph 1 of this list. [C]
6. All "hard drives" referred to in Paragraph 1-C of the Stipulation Agreement (except for the "new hard drives for the March 2007 Election"), plus two complete bit-for-bit copies of each of those hard drives, along with the passwords and other information needed to read them. (The Panel could keep the original hard drives and distribute the copies to the two parties' expert teams.) [C]

7. Three complete bit-for-bit copies of the "back-up of all information on the server used to collect and store the votes" in the November 2006 election in Sarasota County, referred to in Paragraph 1-C of the Stipulation Agreement, along with the passwords and other information needed to read the backed-up information. [C]

8. Three standard ES&S Communications Packs (containing three thermal printers and all necessary cabling). [C]

9. Three PEB readers/serial port interfaces for transferring data from an ES&S PEB to a standard personal computer. [C]

10. Three full copies, in electronic form, of all files that were loaded onto any or all of the 60 iVotronic machines (specified above, in Paragraph 1 of this list) and/or onto any or all of the PEBs (specified above, in Paragraphs 2 and 3 of this list) as part of the "ballot programming" or "ballot definition" or "election generation" process, for early voting and/or for Election Day voting, including but not limited to ballot-definition files and audio files, for the November 2006 election in Sarasota County. [C, S]

11. Three full copies of all items (including but not limited to software and documentation) that were provided to the Florida State University-SAIT team to assist the team in producing the report entitled "Software Review and Security Analysis of the ES&S iVotronic 8.0.1.2 Voting Machine Firmware," issued by the Florida Department of State on February 23, 2007. [C, S, E]

12. Three full copies of the unredacted Appendices E, F, and G to the report entitled "Software Review and Security Analysis of the ES&S iVotronic 8.0.1.2 Voting Machine Firmware," issued by the Florida Department of State on February 23, 2007. [S]

13. Three full copies of all items (including but not limited to software and documentation) that were provided to the team that produced the report entitled "Audit Report of the Elections Systems and Software, Inc.'s iVotronic Voting System in the 2006 General Election for Sarasota County, Florida," issued by the Florida Department of State on February 23, 2007. [C, S, E]

14. Three full copies of all ES&S source code and binary software images to the iVotronic system, the PEBs, and the Unity election-management system, used in the November 2006 election in Sarasota County, in the same electronic form that ES&S's developers use. [S, E]

15. Three full copies, in electronic form, of all documentation and technical documents packages for the ES&S products and source code specified above, in Paragraph 14 of this list, including but not limited to all user manuals, operator manuals, training materials, and other documentation related to the use, operation, or maintenance of any part of ES&S's iVotronic system, ES&S's Unity system or any of its elements, and ES&S's PEBs, that were used in the November 2006 election in Sarasota County. [C, S, E]

16. Three full copies of all documentation and tools necessary to extract and read the “three redundant memories” contained within each ES&S iVotronic machine used in the November 2006 election in Sarasota County. [C, S, E]

17. Three computers loaded with the entire ES&S Unity system used in the November 2006 election in Sarasota County fully installed, along with the passwords and other information needed to operate the installed software. Each computer’s hardware configuration (including memory and hard-disk size) should meet or exceed the specifications of the computer that the Sarasota County Supervisor of Elections’ Office used in November 2006 to run the ES&S Unity system. [E]

18. Three computers loaded with the following software and data fully installed, along with the passwords and other information needed to operate them:

- full copies of all source code to “all software versions” (that is, ES&S’s complete software version repository, regardless of whether the versions were used in Sarasota County or elsewhere) of ES&S’s iVotronic and Unity systems since January 1, 2000 (whether or not they have been submitted to an “independent testing authority” and/or to the Florida Division of Elections’ Bureau of Voting Systems Certification), and instructions for how to retrieve, and determine the date of, each of the software versions in this repository;
- full copies of the build environment actually used by ES&S’s developers to create, debug, test, and ultimately ship distributions of all software versions of ES&S’s iVotronic and Unity systems since January 1, 2000; and
- full copies of ES&S’s bug-tracking or issue-tracking database for all software versions of ES&S’s iVotronic and Unity systems since January 1, 2000. [E]

Sec. 381. Definitions

For purposes of this chapter:

(1) The term "election" means an official general or special election to choose a Representative in, or Delegate or Resident Commissioner to, the Congress, but that term does not include a primary election, or a caucus or convention of a political party.

(2) The term "candidate" means an individual (A) whose name is printed on the official ballot for election to the office of Representative in, or Delegate or Resident Commissioner to, the Congress, or (B) notwithstanding his name is not printed on such ballot, who seeks election to the office of Representative in, or Delegate or Resident Commissioner to, the Congress by write-in votes, provided that he is qualified for such office and that, under the law of the State in which the congressional district is located, write-in voting for such office is permitted and he is eligible to receive write-in votes in such election.

(3) The term "contestant" means an individual who contests the election of a Member of the House of Representatives under this chapter.

(4) The term "contestee" means a Member of the House of Representatives whose election is contested under this chapter.

(5) The term "Member of the House of Representatives" means an incumbent Representative in, or Delegate or Resident Commissioner to, the Congress, or an individual who has been elected to such office but has not taken the oath of office.

(6) The term "Clerk" means the Clerk of the House of Representatives.

(7) The term "committee" means the Committee on House Oversight of the House of Representatives.

(8) The term "State" means a State of the United States and any territory or possession of the United States.

(9) The term "write-in vote" means a vote cast for a person whose name does not appear on the official ballot by writing in the name of such person on such ballot or by any other method prescribed by the law of the State in which the election is held.

AMENDMENTS

1996 - Pub. L. 104-186, Sec. 211(1)(A)-(C), substituted "chapter:" for "chapter - " in introductory provisions, redesignated subdivs. (a) to (i) as pars. (1) to (9), respectively, and realigned margins of pars. (1) to (9).

Par. (1). Pub. L. 104-186, Sec. 211(2)(A), substituted ", or Delegate or Resident Commissioner to, the Congress, but that term" for "or Resident Commissioner to the Congress of the United States, but".

Par. (2). Pub. L. 104-186, Sec. 211(2)(B), substituted "office of Representative in, or Delegate or Resident Commissioner to, the Congress" for "House of Representatives of the United States" in subpar. (A) and "House of Representatives" in subpar. (B).

Pub. L. 104-186, Sec. 211(1)(D), redesignated pars. (1) and (2) as subpars. (A) and (B), respectively.

Pars. (3), (4). Pub. L. 104-186, Sec. 211(2)(C), (D), struck out "of the United States" after "House of Representatives".

Par. (5). Pub. L. 104-186, Sec. 211(2)(E), substituted "term 'Member of the House of Representatives' means an incumbent Representative in, or Delegate or Resident Commissioner to, the Congress, or an individual who has been elected to such office" for "term 'Member' means an incumbent Representative in or Resident Commissioner to the Congress of the United States, or an individual who has been elected to either of such offices".

Par. (6). Pub. L. 104-186, Sec. 211(2)(F), struck out "of the United States" after "House of Representatives".

Par. (7). Pub. L. 104-186, Sec. 211(2)(G), substituted "House Oversight of the House of Representatives" for "House Administration of the House of Representatives of the United States".

Par. (8). Pub. L. 104-186, Sec. 211(2)(H), substituted "means a State of the United States and any territory or" for "includes territory and".

Par. (9). Pub. L. 104-186, Sec. 211(1)(A), (C), redesignated former subsec. (i) as par. (9).

CHANGE OF NAME

Committee on House Oversight of House of Representatives changed to Committee on House Administration of House of Representatives by House Resolution No. 5, One Hundred Sixth Congress, Jan. 6, 1999.

EFFECTIVE DATE

Section 19 of Pub. L. 91-138 provided that: "The provisions of, and the repeals made by, this Act [enacting this chapter and repealing sections 201 to 226 of this title] shall apply with respect to any general or special election for Representative in, or Resident Commissioner to, the Congress of the United States occurring after the date of enactment of this Act [Dec. 5, 1969]."

SHORT TITLE

Pub. L. 91-138, Sec. 1, Dec. 5, 1969, 83 Stat. 284, provided that: "This Act [enacting this chapter and repealing sections 201 to 226 of this title] may be cited as the 'Federal Contested Election Act'."

Sec. 382. Notice of contest

(a) Filing of notice

Whoever, having been a candidate for election in the last preceding election and claiming a right to such office, intends to contest the election of a Member of the House of Representatives, shall, within thirty days after the result of such election shall have been declared by the officer of Board of Canvassers authorized by law to declare such result, file with the Clerk and serve upon the contestee written notice of his intention to contest such election.

(b) Contents and form of notice

Such notice shall state with particularity the grounds upon which contestant contests the election and shall state that an answer thereto must be served upon contestant under section 383 of this title within thirty days after service of such notice. Such notice shall be signed by contestant and verified by his oath or affirmation.

(c) Service of notice; proof of service

Service of the notice of contest upon contestee shall be made as follows:

- (1) by delivering a copy to him personally;
- (2) by leaving a copy at his dwelling house or usual place of abode with a person of discretion not less than sixteen years of age then residing therein;
- (3) by leaving a copy at his principal office or place of business with some person then in charge thereof;
- (4) by delivering a copy to an agent authorized by appointment to receive service of such notice;
- (5) by mailing a copy by registered or certified mail addressed to contestee at his residence or principal office or place of business. Service by mail is complete upon mailing; or
- (6) the verified return by the person so serving such notice, setting forth the time and manner of such service shall be proof of same, and the return post office receipt shall be proof of the service of said notice mailed by registered or certified mail as aforesaid. Proof of service shall be made to the Clerk promptly and in any event within the time during which the contestee must answer the notice of contest. Failure to make proof of service does not affect the validity of the service.

AMENDMENTS

1996 - Subsec. (a). Pub. L. 104-186, Sec. 211(3)(A), struck out "to the House of Representatives" after "for election".

Subsec. (c)(4), (5). Pub. L. 104-186, Sec. 211(3)(B), struck out "or" at end of par. (4) and inserted "or" at end of par. (5).

Sec. 383. Response of contestee

(a) Answer

Any contestee upon whom a notice of contest as described in section 382 of this title shall be served, shall, within thirty days after the service thereof, serve upon contestant a written answer to such notice, admitting or denying the averments upon which contestant relies. If contestee is without knowledge or information sufficient to form a belief as to the truth of an averment, he shall so state and this shall have the effect of a denial. Such answer shall set forth affirmatively any other defenses, in law or fact, on which contestee relies. Contestee shall sign and verify such answer by oath or affirmation.

(b) Defenses by motion prior to answer

At the option of contestee, the following defenses may be made by motion served upon contestant prior to contestee's answer:

- (1) Insufficiency of service of notice of contest.
- (2) Lack of standing of contestant.
- (3) Failure of notice of contest to state grounds sufficient to change result of election.
- (4) Failure of contestant to claim right to contestee's seat.

(c) Motion for more definite statement

If a notice of contest to which an answer is required is so vague or ambiguous that the contestee cannot reasonably be required to frame a responsive answer, he may move for a more definite statement before interposing his answer. The motion shall point out the defects complained of and the details desired. If the motion is granted and the order of the committee is not obeyed within ten days after notice of the order or within such other time as the committee may fix, the committee may dismiss the action, or make such order as it deems just.

(d) Time for serving answer after service of motion

Service of a motion permitted under this section alters the time for serving the answer as follows, unless a different time is fixed by order of the committee: If the committee denies the motion or postpones its disposition until the hearing on the merits, the answer shall be served within ten days after notice of such action. If the committee grants a motion for a more definite statement the answer shall be served within ten days after service of the more definite statement.

Sec. 384. Service and filing of papers other than notice of contest

(a) Modes of service

Except for the notice of contest, every paper required to be served shall be served upon the attorney representing the party, or, if he is not represented by an attorney, upon the party himself. Service upon the attorney or upon a party shall be made:

- (1) by delivering a copy to him personally;
- (2) by leaving it at his principal office with some person then in charge thereof; or if the office is closed or the person to be served has no office, leaving it at his dwelling house or usual place of abode with a person of discretion not less than sixteen years of age then residing therein; or

(3) by mailing it addressed to the person to be served at his residence or principal office. Service by mail is complete upon mailing.

(b) Filing of papers with clerk

All papers subsequent to the notice of contest required to be served upon the opposing party shall be filed with the Clerk either before service or within a reasonable time thereafter.

(c) Proof of service

Papers filed subsequent to the notice of contest shall be accompanied by proof of service showing the time and manner of service, made by affidavit of the person making service or by certificate of an attorney representing the party in whose behalf service is made. Failure to make proof of service does not affect the validity of such service.

(Pub. L. 91-138, Sec. 5, Dec. 5, 1969, 83 Stat. 286.)

Sec. 385. Default of contestee

The failure of contestee to answer the notice of contest or to otherwise defend as provided by this chapter shall not be deemed an admission of the truth of the averments in the notice of contest. Notwithstanding such failure, the burden is upon contestant to prove that the election results entitle him to contestee's seat.

SOURCE

(Pub. L. 91-138, Sec. 6, Dec. 5, 1969, 83 Stat. 286.)

Sec. 386. Deposition

(a) Oral examination

Either party may take the testimony of any person, including the opposing party, by deposition upon oral examination for the purpose of discovery or for use as evidence in the contested election case, or for both purposes. Depositions shall be taken only within the time for the taking of testimony prescribed in this section.

(b) Scope of examination

Witnesses may be examined regarding any matter, not privileged, which is relevant to the subject matter involved in the pending contested election case, whether it relates to the claim or defense of the examining party or the claim or defense of the opposing party, including the existence, description, nature, custody, condition and location of any books, papers, documents, or other tangible things and the identity and location of persons having knowledge of relevant facts. After the examining party has examined the witness the opposing party may cross examine.

(c) Order and time of taking testimony

The order in which the parties may take testimony shall be as follows:

(1) Contestant may take testimony within thirty days after service of the answer, or, if no answer is served within the time provided in section 383 of this title, within thirty days after the time for answer has expired.

01/02/2006

(2) Contestee may take testimony within thirty days after contestant's time for taking testimony has expired.

(3) If contestee has taken any testimony or has filed testimonial affidavits or stipulations under section 387(c) of this title, contestant may take rebuttal testimony within ten days after contestee's time for taking testimony has expired.

(d) Officer before whom testimony may be taken

Testimony shall be taken before an officer authorized to administer oaths by the laws of the United States or of the place where the examination is held.

(e) Subpena

Attendance of witnesses may be compelled by subpoena as provided in section 388 of this title.

(f) Taking of testimony by party or his agent

At the taking of testimony, a party may appear and act in person, or by his agent or attorney.

(g) Conduct of examination; recordation of testimony; notation of objections; interrogatories

The officer before whom testimony is to be taken shall put the witness under oath and shall personally, or by someone acting under his direction and in his presence, record the testimony of the witness. The testimony shall be taken stenographically and transcribed. All objections made at the time of examination to the qualifications of the officer taking the deposition, or to the manner of taking it, or to the evidence presented, or the conduct of any party, and any other objection to the proceedings, shall be noted by the officer upon the deposition. Evidence objected to shall be taken subject to the objections. In lieu of participating in the oral examination, a party served with a notice of deposition may transmit written interrogatories to the officer, who shall propound them to the witness and record the answers verbatim.

(h) Examination of deposition by witness; signature of witness or officer; use of deposition

When the testimony is fully transcribed, the deposition shall be submitted to the witness for examination and shall be read to or by him, unless such examination and reading are waived by the witness and the parties. Any changes in the form or substance which the witness desires to make shall be entered upon the deposition by the officer with a statement of the reasons given by the witness for making them. The deposition shall be signed by the witness, unless the parties by stipulation waive the signing or the witness is ill or cannot be found or refuses to sign. If the deposition is not signed by the witness, the officer shall sign it and note on the deposition the fact of the waiver or of the illness or the absence of the witness or the fact of refusal to sign together with the reason, if any, given therefor; and the deposition may then be used as fully as though signed, unless on a motion to suppress, the committee rules that the reasons given for the refusal to sign require rejection of the deposition in whole or in part.

Sec. 387. Notice of depositions

(a) Time for service; form

01/02/2006

A party desiring to take the deposition of any person upon oral examination shall serve written notice on the opposing party not later than two days before the date of the examination. The notice shall state the time and place for taking the deposition and the name and address of each person to be examined. A copy of such notice, together with proof of such service thereof, shall be attached to the deposition when it is filed with the Clerk.

(b) Testimony by stipulation

By written stipulation of the parties, the deposition of a witness may be taken without notice. A copy of such stipulation shall be attached to the deposition when it is filed with the Clerk.

(c) Testimony by affidavit; time for filing

By written stipulation of the parties, the testimony of any witness of either party may be filed in the form of an affidavit by such witness or the parties may agree what a particular witness would testify to if his deposition were taken. Such testimonial affidavits or stipulations shall be filed within the time limits prescribed for the taking of testimony in section 386 of this title.

Sec. 388. Subpena for attendance at deposition

(a) Issuance

Upon application of any party, a subpena for attendance at a deposition shall be issued by:

- (1) a judge or clerk of the United States district court for the district in which the place of examination is located;
- (2) a judge or clerk of any court of record of the State in which the place of examination is located; or
- (3) a judge or clerk of any court of record of the county in which the place of examination is located.

(b) Time, method, and proof of service

Service of the subpena shall be made upon the witness no later than three days before the day on which his attendance is directed. A subpena may be served by any person who is not a party to the contested election case and is not less than eighteen years of age. Service of a subpena upon a person named therein shall be made by delivering a copy thereof to such person and by tendering to him the fee for one day's attendance and the mileage allowed by section 389 of this title. Written proof of service shall be made under oath by the person making same and shall be filed with the Clerk.

(c) Place of examination

A witness may be required to attend an examination only in the county wherein he resides or is employed, or transacts his business in person, or is served with a subpena, or within forty miles of the place of service.

(d) Form

Every subpena shall state the name and title of the officer issuing same and the title of the contested election case, and shall command each person to whom it is directed to attend and give testimony at a time and place and before an officer specified therein.

01/02/2006

(e) Production of documents

A subpoena may also command the person to whom it is directed to produce the books, papers, documents, or other tangible things designated therein, but the committee, upon motion promptly made and in any event at or before the time specified in the subpoena for compliance therewith, may (1) quash or modify the subpoena if it is unreasonable or oppressive, or (2) condition denial of the motion upon the advancement by the party in whose behalf the subpoena is issued of the reasonable cost of producing the books, papers, documents, or tangible things. In the case of public records or documents, copies thereof, certified by the person having official custody thereof, may be produced in lieu of the originals.

Sec. 391. Certification and filing of depositions

(a) Sealing of papers; deposit with clerk

The officer before whom any deposition is taken shall certify thereon that the witness was duly sworn by him and that the deposition is a true record of the testimony given by the witness. He shall then securely seal the deposition, together with any papers produced by the witness and the notice of deposition or stipulation, if the deposition was taken without notice, in an envelope endorsed with the title of the contested election case and marked "Deposition of (here insert name of witness)" and shall within thirty days after completion of the witness' testimony, file it with the Clerk.

(b) Notification of filing

After filing the deposition, the officer shall promptly notify the parties of its filing.

(c) Copy of deposition to parties or deponents

Upon payment of reasonable charges therefor, not to exceed the charges allowed in the district court of the United States for the district wherein the place of examination is located, the officer shall furnish a copy of deposition to any party or the deponent.

Sec. 392. Record

(a) Hearing on papers, depositions, and exhibits

Contested election cases shall be heard by the committee on the papers, depositions, and exhibits filed with the Clerk. Such papers, depositions, and exhibits shall constitute the record of the case.

(b) Appendix to contestant's brief

Contestant shall print as an appendix to his brief those portions of the record which he desires the committee to consider in order to decide the case and such other portions of the record as may be prescribed by the rules of the committee.

(c) Appendix to contestee's brief

Contestee shall print as an appendix to his brief those portions of the record not printed by contestant which contestee desires the committee to consider in order to decide the case.

(d) Contestant's brief; service on contestee

Within forty-five days after the time for both parties to take testimony has expired, contestant shall serve on contestee his printed brief of the facts and authorities relied on to establish his case together with his appendix.

(e) Contestee's brief; service on contestant

Within thirty days of service of contestant's brief and appendix, contestee shall serve on contestant his printed brief of the facts and authorities relied on to establish his case together with his appendix.

(f) Reply brief of contestant

Within ten days after service of contestee's brief and appendix, contestant may serve on contestee a printed reply brief.

(g) Form of briefs; number of copies served and filed

The form and length of the briefs, the form of the appendixes, and the number of copies to be served and filed shall be in accordance with such rules as the committee may prescribe.

Sec. 393. Filing of pleadings, motions, depositions, appendixes, briefs, and other papers

(a) Filings of pleadings, motions, depositions, appendixes, briefs, and other papers shall be accomplished by:

(1) delivering a copy thereof to the Clerk of the House of Representatives at his office in Washington, District of Columbia, or to a member of his staff at such office; or

(2) mailing a copy thereof, by registered or certified mail, addressed to the Clerk at the House of Representatives, Washington, District of Columbia: Provided, That if such copy is not actually received, another copy shall be filed within a reasonable time; and

(3) delivering or mailing, simultaneously with the delivery or mailing of a copy thereof under paragraphs (1) and (2) of this subsection, such additional copies as the committee may by rule prescribe.

(b) All papers filed with the Clerk pursuant to this chapter shall be promptly transmitted by him to the committee.

Sec. 394. Computation of time

(a) Method of computing time

In computing any period of time prescribed or allowed by this chapter or by the rules or any order of the committee, the day of the act, event, or default after which the designated period of time begins to run shall not be included. The last day of the period so computed shall be included, unless it is a Saturday, a Sunday, or a legal holiday, in which event the period shall run until the end of the next day which is neither a Saturday, a Sunday, nor a legal holiday. When the period of time prescribed or allowed is less than seven days, intermediate Saturdays, Sundays, and legal holidays shall be excluded in the computation. For the purposes of this chapter, "legal holiday" shall mean New Year's Day, Washington's Birthday, Memorial Day, Independence Day, Labor Day, Veterans Day, Thanksgiving Day, Christmas Day, and any other day appointed as a holiday by the President or the Congress of the United States.

(b) Service by mail

Whenever a party has the right or is required to do some act or take some proceeding within a prescribed period after the service of a pleading, motion, notice, brief, or other paper upon him, which is served upon him by mail, three days shall be added to the prescribed period.

(c) Enlargement of time

When by this chapter or by the rules or any order of the committee an act is required or allowed to be done at or within a specified time, the committee, for good cause shown, may at any time in its discretion (1) with or without motion or notice, order the period enlarged if request therefor is made before the expiration of the period originally prescribed or as extended by a previous order, or (2) upon motion made after the expiration of the specified period, permit the act to be done where the failure to act was the result of excusable neglect, but it shall not extend the time for serving and filing the notice of contest under section 382 of this title.
