Background

On February 28, 1995, the Department published its final results of administrative reviews of the antidumping duty orders on antifriction bearings (other than tapered roller bearings) and parts thereof from France, Germany, Italy, Japan, Singapore, Sweden, and the United Kingdom, covering the period May 1, 1992, through April 30, 1993 (60 FR 10900) (AFBs 4). The classes or kinds of merchandise covered by these reviews are ball bearings and parts thereof (BBs), cylindrical roller bearings and parts thereof (CRBs), and spherical plain bearings and parts thereof (SPBs). Subsequently, one domestic producer (The Torrington Company), NSK Ltd., NTN Corporation (NTN), and Koyo Seiko Co., Ltd. (Koyo), filed lawsuits with the U.S. Court of International Trade (CIT) challenging the final results. These lawsuits were consolidated and litigated at the CIT and the United States Court of Appeals for the Federal Circuit (CAFC). The CIT and CAFC affirmed the Department's final remand results for AFBs 4 with respect to all companies except NTN, Koyo, and Honda Motor Company Limited (Honda) in the proceedings concerning antifriction bearings from Japan.
