

MR. [TOBY] MOFFETT [of Connecticut]: I cannot yield, Mr. Speaker?

THE SPEAKER: The motion is pending. . . .

The Chair will put the question.

The question is on the motion offered by the gentleman from Michigan (Mr. Dingell) to limit the debate to 2 hours. . . .

[The motion was agreed to.]

THE SPEAKER: The question is on the motion offered by the gentleman from Michigan (Mr. Dingell) that the House resolve itself into the Committee of the Whole House.

The motion was agreed to.

Parliamentarian's Note: A motion to resolve into Committee of the Whole for consideration of a concurrent resolution disapproving an agency action is highly privileged and may be offered before the third day on which its report thereon is available since, Rule XI, the requirement of class 2(l)(6) of that rule that committee reports be available to Members for three days is not applicable to a measure disapproving a decision by a government.<sup>(9)</sup>

Although it would not be in order by motion in the House to close the debate prior to the expiration of the time previously fixed by the House, a unanimous-consent agreement may so provide, either in the House or in the Committee itself.<sup>(13)</sup>

Where the managers of a bill agree between themselves to close general debate prior to the time fixed by the House, they may yield back their remaining time without obtaining unanimous consent.<sup>(14)</sup>

On Sept. 26, 1966,<sup>(16)</sup> the Committee of the Whole was proceeding with general debate on H.R. 15111, Economic Opportunity Act Amendments, pursuant to House Resolution 923, providing eight hours of debate. The managers of the bill were Mr. Sam M. Gibbons, of Florida, and Mr. Albert H. Quie, of Minnesota. Chairman Jack B. Brooks, of Texas, indicated that the managers could agree between themselves not to use all of the allotted time and that such an agreement was not for the Committee of the Whole to decide but for the managers to decide:

MR. GIBBONS: Mr. Chairman, do I understand we have reached an agreement now that on both sides we will yield back time to where we only have 2 hours of general debate tomorrow? That has been done, as I understand it. Is that correct?

THE CHAIRMAN: In reply to the request of the gentleman from Florida, I think it would be fair to state the agreement as to yielding time is between you and the gentleman from Minnesota.

MR. GIBBONS: Then, of course, the only other question is to get unanimous consent to come in at 11 o'clock tomorrow.

THE CHAIRMAN: As to any agreement as to when the House comes back tomorrow, that will be settled, of course, when the Committee rises.

MR. GIBBONS: Mr. Chairman, I move that the Committee do now rise.

On Sept. 27, 1966,<sup>(17)</sup> the House resolved itself into the Committee of the Whole for the further consideration of H.R. 15111, Economic Opportunity Act Amendments, whose consideration had been discontinued on the prior day. Prior to the Committee's rising on the prior day, the managers of the bill, Mr. Sam M. Gibbons, of Florida, and Mr. Albert H. Quie, of Minnesota, had indicated they would not use all of the eight hours of debate allotted to them under the special order, but would yield back some of their time (see § 76.1, supra). Accord-

When the Committee rose on yesterday, the gentleman from New York [Mr. Powell] had 3 hours and 12 minutes remaining, and the gentleman from Ohio [Mr. Ayres] had 2 hours and 29 minutes remaining.

Before the Committee rose, the gentleman from Florida [Mr. Gibbons] and the gentleman from Minnesota [Mr. Quie] had agreed to limit further general debate to 4 hours, to be equally divided and controlled by the majority and the minority.

Accordingly, the Chair will recognize the gentleman from New York [Mr. Powell] for 2 hours, and the gentleman from Minnesota [Mr. Quie] for 2 hours.

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from New York.

Closing General Debate by Motion in the House

§ 76.3 In the House, a motion to fix general debate on an appropriation bill prior to resolving into the Committee of the Whole is not in order, but after there has been debate in the Committee of the Whole and the Committee rises, the motion is in order.

MR. [JOHN] TABER [of New York]: Mr. Speaker, I move that the House resolve itself into the Committee of the Whole House on the State of the Union for the consideration of the bill (H.R. 1968) making appropriations to supply urgent deficiencies in certain appropriations for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1947, and for other purposes; and pending that motion, Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that general debate be limited to 1 hour, to be equally divided and controlled by the gentleman from Missouri [Mr. Cannon] and myself.

THE SPEAKER: Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from New York?

MR. [VITO] MARCANTONIO [of New York]: Mr. Speaker, reserving the right to object, is this the bill that contains the cuts of appropriations for OPA?

MR. TABER: Yes.

MR. MARCANTONIO: Then I object, Mr. Speaker.

MR. TABER: Mr. Speaker, a parliamentary inquiry.

THE SPEAKER: The gentleman will state it.

MR. TABER: The House may go into the Committee of the Whole and later, after debate has occurred, rise, and then a motion would be in order to close debate; but otherwise a motion would not be in order at this time to close?

THE SPEAKER: The gentleman from New York states the situation accurately. The House must first go into Committee and have general debate, and then rise and fix the time of debate by vote.

§ 76.4 The House can close debate on a bill by motion at any time after debate has been had in the Committee of the Whole even though the effect of adopting the motion to close debate would be to deprive Members of the time allotted to them.

On May 17, 1934,<sup>(19)</sup> general debate had been had in the Committee of the Whole on a bill and the Committee rose. Mr. Vincent L. Palmisano, of Maryland, moved that the House resolve again into the Committee and moved that debate on the bill close instantaneously. Speaker Henry T. Rainey, of Illinois, overruled a point of order against the motion:

MR. PALMISANO: Mr. Speaker, I move that the House resolve itself into the Committee of the Whole House on the state of the Union for the further consideration of the bill (H.R. 4548) to provide old-age securities for persons over 60 years of age residing in the District of Columbia, and for other purposes, and pending that motion I move that debate upon the bill do now close, and on that I demand the previous question.

because time has already been allotted in the committee to certain gentlemen whose full time has not expired.

THE SPEAKER: The House can close debate at any time after debate has been had in the Committee of the Whole.

§ 76.5 After two hours of general debate in the Committee of the Whole, the Committee rose; pending a motion to resolve again into the Committee of the Whole, the House adopted a motion that general debate close instant.

On July 27, 1937,<sup>(20)</sup> the Committee of the Whole was conducting general debate, under the hour rule, on H.R. 7730, to authorize the President to appoint six administrative assistants. No time had been fixed for general debate. The Committee rose after two hours of such debate. Mr. J. W. Robinson, of Utah, then moved that the House resolve itself again into the Committee and also moved, pending that motion, that all debate on the bill close, on which motion he moved the previous question. The House adopted the motion:

House on the state of the Union for the further consideration of the bill (H.R. 7730) to authorize the President to appoint not to exceed six administrative assistants; and pending that motion, I move that all debate on the bill do now close, and on that I move the previous question.

THE SPEAKER:<sup>(1)</sup> The gentleman from Utah moves that the House resolve itself into the Committee of the Whole House on the state of the Union for the further consideration of the bill H.R. 7730; and pending that motion, the gentleman from Utah moves that all debate on the bill do now close. Upon that he moves the previous question.

The question is, Shall the previous question be ordered?

The previous question was ordered.

THE SPEAKER: The question is on the motion of the gentleman from Utah that all debate on the bill H.R. 7730 do now close.

MR. [JOHN] TABER [of New York]: Mr. Speaker, on that I demand the yeas and nays.

The yeas and nays were ordered.

The question was taken; and there were—yeas 255, nays 79, answered “present” 1, not voting 96. . . .

Closing General Debate by Unanimous Consent

§ 76.6 The House agreed by unanimous consent to dispense with general debate on an appropriation bill in the Committee of the Whole.

1. William B. Bankhead (Ala.).

On July 5, 1945,<sup>(2)</sup> the House agreed to a unanimous-consent request by Mr. Clarence Cannon, of Missouri, dispensing with general debate on a bill in the Committee of the Whole:

Mr. Speaker, I move that the House resolve itself into the Committee of the Whole House on the State of the Union for the consideration of the bill (H.R. 3649), making appropriations for war agencies for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1946, and for other purposes; and pending that motion, Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to dispense with general debate in the Committee of the Whole.

In response to parliamentary inquiries, Speaker Sam Rayburn, of Texas, stated that under a procedure allowing no general debate, points of order against paragraphs in the bill should be made when the relevant paragraph was read for amendment in the Committee of the Whole.

Parliamentarian's Note: A motion to dispense with general debate would not have been in order, since a motion to limit debate may not be made in the House until general debate has commenced in the Committee of the Whole.

On June 27, 1968,<sup>(3)</sup> the Committee of the Whole had risen after consuming a portion of the three hours of general debate on S. 1166 (Gas Pipeline Safety Act), which time was provided for in House Resolution 1215. The House agreed to a unanimous-consent request further limiting debate in the Committee of the Whole on the bill:

MR. [HARLEY O.] STAGGERS [of West Virginia]: Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that when the Committee of the Whole continues the consideration of the bill (S. 1166) to authorize the Secretary of Transportation to prescribe safety standards for the transportation of natural and other gas by pipeline, and for other purposes, that the time for general debate be limited to 30 minutes with 15 minutes for the minority and 15 minutes for the majority side.

There was no objection.

On Apr. 9, 1963,<sup>(5)</sup> Mr. Albert Thomas, of Texas, moved that the House resolve itself into the Committee of the Whole and made a unanimous-consent request on the time for general debate, which request was agreed to by the House:

Mr. Speaker, I move that the House resolve itself into the Committee of the Whole House on the State of the Union for the consideration of the bill H.R. 5517, making supplemental appropriations for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1963, and for other purposes; and, pending that motion, Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that general debate on the bill be concluded not later than 5 p.m. today, one-half of the time to be controlled by the gentleman from Ohio [Mr. Bow], and one-half by myself, and that at the conclusion of general debate today the Committee will rise. . . .

Effect of Special Rule

§ 76.9 Where the Committee of the Whole is proceeding in general debate on a bill pursuant to a special rule adopted by the House, a motion in the Committee that such debate be closed instantly is not in order.

On Sept. 25, 1951,<sup>(7)</sup> the Committee of the Whole was conducting general debate on H.R. 39, the Marketing Facilities Act. Chairman Lindley Beckworth, of Texas, stated that under the special rule adopted by the House for consideration of the bill, Mr. Harold D. Cooley, of North Carolina, had 30 minutes of debate and Mr. Clifford R. Hope, of Kansas, 30 minutes. Mr. Paul W. Shafer, of Michigan, made a point of order and then withdrew it, but also moved that debate be closed "now" and that "we vote on the bill." The Chairman ruled that the motion was not in order.

On July 5, 1939,<sup>(8)</sup> the Committee of the Whole was conducting general debate on a bill, the House having fixed time for debate at two hours, to be divided by two Members. Chairman Lawrence Lewis, of Colorado, stated that the Committee of the Whole could by unanimous consent further limit the time for general debate:

THE CHAIRMAN: The gentleman is entitled to an hour and the gentleman from New York [Mr. Bloom] is entitled to an hour.

MR. [SOL] BLOOM: I understand that. The gentleman is entitled to an hour and I am entitled to an hour, but I am asking the gentleman if we cannot agree on less time so we can get through with this bill. If the gentleman desires to use his full hour, then he does not want to agree on time. That is up to him.

MR. [ANDREW C.] SCHIFFLER [of West Virginia]: But we cannot agree at this time.

MR. [CASSIUS C.] DOWELL [of Iowa]: Mr. Chairman, that agreement should have been made in the House instead of in Committee of the Whole. We are now under the rule. That is a rule of the House and the time should have been fixed in the House before the House went into Committee.

THE CHAIRMAN: The Committee can limit time by unanimous consent if it so desires.

Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from New York?

MR. [FRANK E.] HOOK [of Michigan]: Mr. Chairman, I object.

Motion That the Committee Rise

§ 76.11 When the House has limited general debate to a time certain and provided for the Committee of the Whole to rise at the expiration of that time, the Chairman of the Committee announces the arrival of the time and the Committee rises without a motion being made.

On Apr. 9, 1963,<sup>(9)</sup> the House agreed to a motion by Mr. Albert Thomas, of Texas, that the House resolve itself into the Committee of the Whole for the consideration of a bill and agreed to his unanimous-consent request that debate conclude at a time certain, at which time the Committee would rise. When the appointed time arrived in the Committee, Chairman Richard Bolling, of Missouri, announced that the Committee rise under the previous order, and the Committee rose accordingly, without a motion being made to that effect.

§ 76.12 The motion that the Committee of the Whole rise (thereby cutting off debate) is not debatable and is always within the discretion of the Member handling the bill before the Committee.

On June 16, 1948,<sup>(10)</sup> Mr. Walter G. Andrews, of New York, was handling the consideration of H.R. 6401 in the Committee of the Whole. He moved that the Committee rise, and Chairman Francis H. Case, of South Dakota, ruled that the motion was within Mr. Andrews' discretion:

MR. ANDREWS of New York: Mr. Chairman, in view of the fact that two or three Members who have time are not here, I move that the Committee do now rise.

THE CHAIRMAN: The question is on the motion offered by the gentleman from New York [Mr. Andrews].

MR. [GEORGE A.] SMATHERS [of Florida]: Mr. Chairman, I would like to be heard on that.

THE CHAIRMAN: That is not a debatable motion. It is always within the discretion of the gentleman handling the bill to move that the Committee rise.

On Feb. 22, 1950,<sup>(11)</sup> Mr. Howard W. Smith, of Virginia, moved, in time yielded him in the Committee of the Whole by Mr. Adam C. Powell, Jr., of New York, for general debate, that the Committee rise. Chairman Francis E. Walter, of Pennsylvania, ruled that the motion was not in order, since Mr. Powell had control of the time and since he had not yielded time to Mr. Smith for the making of the motion. Mr. Hugo S. Sims, Jr., of South Carolina, was then yielded time for debate by Mr. Powell and yielded to Mr. Smith who again moved that the Committee rise, stating he had "some time of my own." The Chairman ruled that the motion was not in order, since Mr. Sims was yielded time for general debate and could not yield to Mr. Smith for the making of the motion.

On appeal, the Chairman's ruling was sustained.<sup>(12)</sup>

Parliamentarian's Note: When the House has vested control of general debate in the Committee of the Whole in the chairman and ranking minority member of the committee reporting a bill, their control of general debate may not be abrogated by another Member moving that the Committee rise—unless they yield for that purpose.

§ 77. Five-minute Debate

Debate under the five-minute rule in the Committee of the Whole is provided for by Rule XXIII clause 5:

When general debate is closed by order of the House, any Member shall be allowed five minutes to explain any amendment he may offer, after which the Member who shall first obtain the floor shall be allowed to speak five minutes in opposition to it, and there shall be no further debate thereon, but the same privilege of debate shall be allowed in favor of and against any amendment that may be offered to an amendment; and neither an amendment nor an amendment to an amendment shall be withdrawn by the mover thereof unless by the unanimous consent of the committee.<sup>(13)</sup>

13. House Rules and Manual § 870 (1995). See also id. at §§ 872, 873 for the five-minute rule and pro forma amendments.

A special rule adopted by the House for the consideration of a bill may alter the normal effect of the five-minute rule. For example, a special rule permitting only committee or designated amendments to be offered requires that there be only two five-minute speeches on each such amendment without extension of time or pro forma amendments.<sup>(14)</sup>

The pro forma amendment, such as moving to “strike the last word” or to strike “the requisite number of words,” although technically an amendment, is used for purposes of debate or explanation under the five-minute rule where it is not intended by the mover to offer a substantive amendment. A Member who has debated an amendment may offer or speak in opposition to a pro forma amendment, and a Member who has offered an amendment may speak in opposition to a pro forma amendment thereto, without violating the prohibition against speaking twice on the same amendment.<sup>(15)</sup> But a Member may not twice offer pro forma amendments to gain extensions of time on the same amendment.<sup>(16)</sup>
