BESTEA IS A GOOD BILL

(Mr. LIPINSKI asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. LIPINSKI. Mr. Speaker, today the House of Representatives will consider H.R. 2400, the surface transportation bill known as BESTEA. I rise today to simply say that BESTEA is agood, bipartisan bill. It will provide better, safer roads. It will provide new and improved public transit systems. It will improve air quality by reducing traffic congestion and by promoting public transit. It will provide good jobs for middle-class Americans. It will ensure America's future as a world leader by maintaining and improving our world class transportation system.

I strongly urge all of my colleagues to vote to invest in America's future and vote in favor of H.R. 2400 today.

TAX REFORM NOW

(Mr. GIBBONS asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. GIBBONS. Mr. Speaker, a recent survey asking Americans to rank the least three desirable situations, revealed the following: Number three was being called by your boss and saying you are fired. Number two, well, it was going to lunch at a nice restaurant and finding your spouse dining with an exboyfriend or girlfriend. And the first worst nightmare for Americans was going to the mailbox and finding a letter whose return address was the IRS.

These examples, think about it, while graphic, illustrate the growing fear and frustrations the American people have with our tax system. April 1st is a day that brings practical jokes to the minds of many, yet the clock ticks on toward April 15th, a day that brings fear and paralysis to all working men and women.

Mr. Speaker, only a few citizens are left in this country who can do their own taxes, and yet horror stories of IRS abuse are still mounting. The time to act is now. I urge my colleagues to join me in the tax reform effort, to make this the last April 1st where the American taxpayers are made out to be the fools.

HOUSE SHOULD DELAY PROPOSED TRANSPLANT RULES

(Mr. BOSWELL asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. BOSWELL. Mr. Speaker, I would like to take this opportunity this morning to bring forth the perilous condition of one of my youngest constituents, Mekenzie Lee of Ottumwa, Iowa, to your attention.

Little 5-year-old Mekenzie has liver cancer and desperately needs a liver transplant. Perhaps today, there are going to be proposed rules by HHS to make a major modification to how this system works.

While the stated purpose of the rule is admirable and I strongly support efforts to increase the donations, I fear this rule may in fact result in a number of unintended consequences.

It will take the decisionmaking process away from the physicians, those who are the most skilled and proficient to able to deal with this, who have got the expertise, and put it into the hands of some bureaucrats. Forcing a one-size-fits-all is questionable to me.

I would ask that members join the efforts to save Mekenzie and every transplant patient like her who may be harmed by this proposed rule by becoming a cosponsor, and delaying this process for one year and give us time to review it, to get input from the physicians and the places around the country that do this work, to be in play. So please join me in cosponsoring H.R. 3584.

SUPPORT BESTEA

(Mr. COOK asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. COOK. Mr. Speaker, it is not every day that we get to vote for legislation that will directly and tangibly improve the quality of life for every single American. That is what BESTEA does. BESTEA will repair and rebuild the highways and roads Americans use every day. BESTEA also restores trust with the American people.

BESTEA does what no highway bill has done in two decades; spends gas taxes for its intended purposes. BESTEA is also fiscally responsible. In fact, it is paid for twice. First, it only spends what the government takes in in gas taxes. Second, much of it will be offset by spending cuts.

Also, and often overlooked, BESTEA will save more lives than any other legislation we will act on this year.

This is a great bill for the future of America, and I urge all my colleagues to support it.

NEEDS OF NATIONAL SECURITY BRAIN TRUST

(Mr. TRAFICANT asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. TRAFICANT. Mr. Speaker, the Pentagon says China and Russia are engaged in a nuclear arms race. They say both China and Russia can hit every city in America with a ballistic missile.

Now, if that is not enough to cause you to fall on your sword, the Pentagon further says Russia and China are doing this with American dollars.

Unbelievable. Let us check this out. China gets $60 billion in MFN from Uncle Sam. Russia gets $15 billion in foreign aid from Uncle Sam. In exchange, Uncle Sam gets nuclear missiles pointed at our cities, two tape decks and three cases of vodka.

Beam me up. I say our national security brain trust needs a proctologist on staff.

EMERGENCY PHONES FOR EMERGENCIES

(Mr. KINGSTON asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. KINGSTON. Mr. Speaker, this morning while reading H.R. 4-1-98, I found hidden deep in the Senate appropriations bill a $60,000 expenditure to install telephones in the Members-only Congressional bathrooms. That is right, $60,000 for Members to conduct business while doing their business. Emergency phones for emergencies.

While Members have little time to waste, Mr. Speaker, that does not mean we have any more emergencies than the next guy. And, what is worse, this proposal calls for drilling holes in the historic mahogany shoeshine chair, which was donated to the House of Representatives by the Woodrow Wilson estate.

Mr. Speaker, this is not good waste management. Let us see this proposal, H.R. 4-1-98, for the joke that it is, or we would be a bunch of April fools.

DISARMING DRUNK DRIVERS

(Mr. BLUMENAUER asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. BLUMENAUER. Mr. Speaker, I was saddened that the Republican leadership, which Monday killed a chance for a vote on meaningful campaign spending reform, breaking Speaker GINGRICH's promise, last night voted to deny the House even the right to vote on the .08 provisions so passionately supported by the Mothers Against Drunk Drivers volunteers.

Fortunately, there is one element to reduce the carnage of repeat drunk drivers on our roads: Taking away their cars. Modeled on a program I started in Portland, which dramatically reduced the rate of repeat drunk drivers and is now used from North Carolina to Anchorage, H.R. 2400 provides incentives for all States to disarm these people who have no right on the road.

Take away the cars of repeat drunk drivers. Use these provisions to save the lives of American families.

GIVING HIGHWAY MONEY BACK TO THE STATES

(Mrs. LINDA SMITH of Washington asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend her remarks.)

Mrs. LINDA SMITH of Washington. Mr. Speaker, each day in every rural community and in every bustling community across this Nation, families pull up to the gas tank, fill their tank with gas, and pay 18 cents a gallon to the Federal Government for transportation projects. But, unfortunately, each year Congress has allocated nearly a third less of the money than they have paid for the transportation projects.

Many of us stood up against that last year, even in the budget. We would not vote for the general budget, and we would not vote for the transportation budget, because the plan was to take $65 billion out of the money that was to come back to the communities for their safe roads, and we held out.

Today we are going to have a vote to put the money back. We are going to have a vote to put the money back into communities for safe roads. Anybody who says they are for families and does not do something about the transportation projects is dooming them to spending hours in their cars instead of being home with their families.

The vote today is good. It is about the projects our communities need; about projects they need to keep their families safe and which will allow them to spend time with their families.

PRIORITY LEGISLATION NOT BEING PASSED

(Ms. DELAURO asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend her remarks.)

Ms. DELAURO. Mr. Speaker, when the gentleman from Georgia (Speaker GINGRICH) promised a fair and open debate on campaign finance reform, it must have been an April Fools' joke. Unfortunately, it was not the only joke the GOP has played on the American

In the 40 legislative days that this body has been in session this year, the House has failed to pass bills that the Republican leadership claimed were priorities. The American people have had no disaster relief, no IRS reform, no budget resolution and no campaign finance reform.

□ 1015

In addition, the Republicans have completely ignored other issues that the American public are clamoring for action on. They have had no managed care reform, and there is bipartisan support for managed care reform, no bills to improve our public schools, and no minimum wage increase.

Mr. Speaker, I only wish I could say this was an April Fools' joke. But it looks like the joke is on us and the American people.

BESTEA WILL CREATE JOBS, KEEP COMPETITIVE, NATION AND SAVE LIVES

(Mr. LATOURETTE asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. LATOURETTE. Mr. Speaker, over 40 years ago, President Eisenhower made a deal with the American public. If folks would pay gasoline taxes when they bought gas, the government would build and maintain highways so that they could travel to work, so that we could maintain our position in the world and move goods to market, and so that Americans could travel with their families on safe transportation systems.

Sadly, during the 1960s, when the unified budget was used to hide the cost of the Vietnam conflict, the trust fund, and I want to emphasize the word "trust" fund, was used to mask the size of that overspending. Since that time, we have failed to keep faith with the Americans who pay the tax with the expectation that we will keep that deal made so long ago.

Today, we have the opportunity to keep the contract with the American public by passing BESTEA. BESTEA will create jobs, it will keep our Nation competitive, and it will save lives.

Unfortunately, Mr. Speaker, there is criticism in some quarters that BESTEA falls outside the budget deal of last year. The Committee on Transportation and Infrastructure has worked hard to make sure that BESTEA not only comes within those budget caps but also restores truth in budgeting. It says that the Highway Trust Fund is a contract with the American people, and today we in this House must force Washington to keep its end of the bargain.

PASS BESTEA BILL AND INVEST IN NATION'S ECONOMY

(Mr. MASCARA asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. MASCARA. Mr. Speaker, one thing that get lost in the debate on BESTEA is the importance of our Nation's highway system. Nearly $6 trillion worth of goods are shipped each year over our country's highways. Seventy-five percent of the total value of our Nation's commodities are shipped interstate over our national highway system.

Our economy depends heavily on our transportation system. Yet we are watching it while it crumbles. Our country has long neglected its infra-structure needs. The condition of our roads and highways continue to de-

The Department of Transportation estimates that 59 percent of the Nation's highways are in disrepair. These road conditions, poor road conditions, cost American drivers over $23 billion a year, or equivalent to $132 for each driver.

Traffic on our highways has more than doubled in the past 25 years, while new road construction has stagnated. It is time to invest in our Nation's infrastructure. It is time to fix our roads. Join me in voting for H.R. 2400 and invest in our Nation's economy.

DOLLARS TO THE CLASSROOM

(Mr. PITTS asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. PITTS. Mr. Speaker, can we talk about education in this country without talking about the most important recipients of education, our kids? Someone should explain to us how Federal studies like "Channeling Your Donna Reed Syndrome" or "Cement, the Concrete Experience", even studies on researchers researching their research techniques have anything to do with kids learning their ABCs or basic skills. This is exactly the kind of waste that is produced in the bloated bureaucracy here in Washington, D.C.

Mr. Speaker, instead of sending our Federal tax dollars to parents, teachers and local educators, the dollars get lost in the abyss of the bureaucracy and on Federal studies. The Committee on Education and the Workforce estimates that, on the average, only 65 cents of every Federal education dollar gets into the classroom.

We now have the opportunity to send our Federal education tax dollars directly to the classrooms of the Nation. The Dollars to the Classroom Act ensures that 95 cents of every Federal education dollar goes directly to the classroom, to the hands of someone who knows your child's name. Mr. Speaker, this means microscopes, computers, books and not bureaucrats. Let us send the dollars to the classroom.

DEMOCRATS UNVEIL MANAGED CARE REFORM LEGISLATION

(Mr. PALLONE asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute.)

Mr. PALLONE. Mr. Speaker, today is April Fool's Day; and so it seems appropriate that the Republican leadership is having a rally to celebrate the achievements of the GOP Congress before Members leave Washington for the recess.

The Republican Congress has simply wasted time in 1998, producing no results to improve the lives of the average working American. Important issues like managed care reform, Medicare expansion for those 55 to 64, a minimum wage increase, school modernization and reduced class size have simply been neglected.

Democrats and President Clinton have prioritized these issues because they know they are important to the American people and will improve the quality of their lives. Just yesterday, Democrats unveiled their managed care reform legislative proposal with President Clinton's strong backing. But the Republican leadership, they just want to go home. They are incapable of addressing the issues of real concern to working Americans.
