19 CFR Parts 201 and 210

[Docket No. MISC-022]

Rules of General Application and Adjudication and Enforcement

AGENCY: International Trade Commission.

ACTION: Final rule.

SUMMARY: The United States International Trade Commission ("Commission") amends its Rules of Practice and Procedure concerning rules of general application, adjudication, and enforcement. The amendments are necessary to make certain technical corrections, to clarify certain provisions, to harmonize different parts of the Commission's rules, and to address concerns that have arisen in Commission practice.

DATES: This regulation is effective August 6, 2008.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

Background

Section 335 of the Tariff Act of 1930 (19 U.S.C. 1335) authorizes the Commission to adopt such reasonable procedures, rules, and regulations as it deems necessary to carry out its functions and duties. This rulemaking seeks to update certain outdated provisions and improve other provisions of the Commission's existing Rules of Practice and Procedure. The Commission is amending its rules covering investigations under section 337 of the Tariff Act of 1930 (19 U.S.C. 1337) ("section 337") in order to increase the efficiency of its section 337 investigations. The Commission published a notice of proposed rulemaking (NPR) in the Federal Register at 72 FR 72280 (Dec. 20, 2007), proposing to amend the Commission's Rules of Practice and Procedure to make certain changes to rules of general application, adjudication, and enforcement.

Although the Commission considers these rules to be procedural rules which are excepted from notice-and-comment under 5 U.S.C. 553(b)(3)(A), the Commission invited the public to comment on all the proposed rules amendments. The NPR requested public comment on the proposed rules within 60 days of publication of the NPR. Subsequently, the Commission extended the deadline for submitting comments by six weeks. 73 FR 8836 (Feb. 15, 2008). Further, in response to a request from the Embassy of the People's Republic of China, the Chairman granted an extension by letter of March 20, 2008, to the Chinese government and relative Chinese enterprises to submit comments until April 30, 2008. The Commission received a total of five sets of comments, one each from the ITC Trial Lawyer's Association (ITCTLA), the Intellectual Property Owners Association (IPO), the American Intellectual Property Law Association (AIPLA), the law firm of Adduci, Mastriani & Schaumberg LLP (AMS), and the Ministry of Commerce of the People's Republic of China (MOFCOM).

The Commission carefully considered all comments that it received. The Commission's response is provided below in a section-by-section analysis. The Commission appreciates the time and effort the commentators devoted to the task.

As required by the Regulatory Flexibility Act, the Commission certifies that these regulatory amendments will not have a significant impact on small business entities.

Overview of the Amendments to the Regulations

The final regulations contain four changes from those proposed in the NPR. These changes are summarized here.

First, with regard to § 210.11(b), relating to the service of the complaint, the Commission has substituted the word "complainant" for "party". Second, with regard to § 210.12(a)(9)(viii), the Commission has determined to require that complainants provide claim charts with the filing of the complaint to specify the allegations of infringement with regard to each independent patent claim asserted, rather than just one exemplary claim per patent.

Third, with regard to § 210.39, the Commission adopted the commentators' suggestion to require the parties to notify the Commission of the issuance or dissolution of a stay of a parallel district court proceeding only if the issuance or dissolution actually occurs, and to provide ten days for the parties to notify the Commission.

Fourth, the Commission has withdrawn its proposal to eliminate reference to the position of chief administrative law judge in §§ 210.15, 210.20, 210.58, and 210.75.

A comprehensive explanation of the rule changes is provided in the section-by-section analysis below. The section-by-section analysis includes a discussion of all eleven modifications suggested by the commentators. Many positive comments were received for the majority of the 50 specific proposals in the NPR. The proposals for which only positive comments were received are unchanged.

Section-by-Section Analysis

19 CFR Part 201

Subpart B—Initiation and Conduct of Investigations

Section 201.16 (Service by Overnight Delivery)

The NPR proposed to amend § 201.16 to allow all parties one extra day to respond to documents served by overnight delivery, and to conform § 201.16 to §§ 210.6 and 210.7. AMS supports the proposed revision. MOFCOM suggests that the Commission amend 19 CFR 201.16 to clarify whether or not all the parties should be served via the same method. MOFCOM suggests that persons located in a foreign country continue to be afforded ten additional calendar days to respond under 19 CFR 201.16, as the rule currently allows. The current rule, however, allows ten extra days to persons located in a foreign country when service is by first-class mail, and the proposed amendment does not affect this provision. Therefore, the rule is unchanged from the proposed rule.

19 CFR Part 210

Subpart A—Rules of General Applicability

Section 210.7(b)

The NPR proposed to amend § 210.7 to require that each party designate one attorney or agent to receive service of process. The ITCTLA proposes that a party designate a single attorney to receive service from the Commission and from the Office of Unfair Import Investigations ("OUII") of hard copies of all papers, but that the private parties also be authorized to agree to serve several co-counsel for the same parties using either electronic or hard copy means. The Commission has not adopted this proposal because the parties currently may agree to serve extra copies on each other by electronic or hard copy means; this practice would not be disturbed by the Commission rule. MOFCOM objects to the proposed amendment on the basis that it would take extra time for the attorney or agent who is served a document to share that documents with the rest of the party's team. AMS supports the proposed revision. The Commission believes that the saving of paper, time, and labor for the Commission and the parties by designating one attorney or agent to receive service of process is beneficial and would not prejudice parties receiving documents. Therefore, the rule is unchanged from the proposed rule.

Subpart B—Commencement of Preinstitution Proceedings and Investigations

Section 210.11(b)

The NOPR proposed to amend § 210.11(b) relating to service of the complaint. The proposed amendment does not alter the existing regulatory language which describes the ability of a party to effect personal service: "With leave from the presiding administrative law judge, a party may attempt to effect personal service of the complaint and notice of investigation upon a respondent, if the Secretary's efforts to serve the respondent have been unsuccessful. If the party succeeds in serving the respondent by personal service, the party must notify the administrative law judge and file proof of such service with the Secretary." The term "party" is defined in § 201.2 as "any person who has filed a complaint or petition on the basis of which an investigation has been instituted, or any person whose entry of appearance has been accepted pursuant to § 201.11(a) or (c)." Given this definition, MOFCOM states that it is unclear what "a party" refers to in § 210.11(b). In light of this comment, the word "complainant" is substituted for the term "party" in order to clarify the persons affected.

Subpart C—Pleadings

Section 210.12(a)(9)(iv), (a)(10)(i), (a)(10)(ii) (Submission of License Agreements)

The NOPR further proposed amending § 210.12 by adding new paragraphs (a)(9)(iv) and (a)(10)(i) and (a)(10)(ii) to reduce the number of copies of license agreements that complainants must file, and by amending paragraphs (c)(1), (d), (f), and (g), such that the submission of license agreements would be required only in those instances where (i) the complainant relies upon its status as a licensee for purposes of standing or (ii) the complainant relies upon the domestic activities of a licensee in support of its domestic industry contentions, and that in these instances, the license be submitted as an exhibit to the complaint (which would ultimately be served upon the respondents), rather than as an appendix item, and that all licensees of the asserted rights would also have to be identified in the complaint. The ITCTLA states that it supports the amendment of section 210.12(c)(1); the ITCTLA did not submit any comments with regard to sections 210.12(d), (f), and (g). AMS supports the proposed revisions. MOFCOM objects to the proposed amendment, arguing that respondents will typically ask for license agreements during discovery anyway. Because the license agreements may contain business information which is not essential to the allegations made against the respondents, the Commission has determined that the balance of interests favors waiting until identified respondents designate specific representatives to sign the administrative protective order before serving license agreements which are not essential to the understanding of the allegations made against them. Because the respondents will still receive the license agreements in discovery in a timely fashion, the Commission has determined to issue the rule unchanged from the proposed rule.

Section 210.12(a)(9)(viii)

The NOPR proposed to revise § 210.12(a) to require claim charts to be filed with the complaint to specify both allegations of infringement by any respondents and satisfaction of the domestic injury requirement by the complainant. The ITCTLA states that it supports the Commission's clarification that there should be a separate requirement for domestic industry claim charts and infringement claim charts. AMS supports the proposed revision. MOFCOM suggests that the Commission investigative attorney and the administrative law judges should "pre-review" complaints to make a "preliminary assessment of the scope of the claims" and to determine whether there is prima facie evidence of violation.

The Commission agrees that clarification of the scope of the claims at an early stage of the investigation will foster earlier resolution of disputes. Therefore, the Commission has determined to require a separate claim chart to demonstrate the allegations of infringement by respondents with regard to each independent claim, rather than just one exemplary claim per asserted patent. The Commission believes that the rule would not add to the burden that the complainant must already undertake in order to fulfill its obligations to file a non-frivolous complaint under existing Commission Rules 210.4(c)–(d), 19 CFR 210.4(c)–(d), which are modeled in part on Rule 11 of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure. See, e.g., 59 FR 39023–25 (August 1, 1994). In addition, the Commission believes that this rule would help identify the issues at an early stage for all parties concerned, and foster early settlement or disposition of disputes.

Subpart D—Motions

Subpart H—Temporary Relief

Subpart I—Enforcement Procedures and Advisory Opinions

Sections 210.15, 210.20, 210.58, and 210.75 (The Position of Chief Administrative Law Judge)

The NOPR proposed to amend §§ 210.15, 210.20(a), 210.58, and 210.75(b)(3) by eliminating reference to the chief administrative law judge. AMS does not support the proposed revision. The ITCTLA notes that, although there is not at present a chief administrative law judge, there may be a need or desire to designate a chief administrative law judge as the number of administrative law judges increases, and therefore the Commission may wish to retain this reference. The AIPLA has the same concerns as AMS and the ITCTLA, and notes that, in view of the growing caseload, the Commission has advertised a position for a fifth administrative law judge. The AIPLA observes that a chief administrative law judge could coordinate a reply from the administrative law judges to any suggestion posed to them. IPO suggests that a chief administrative law judge could increase the efficiency of the Commission and could aid in the training of new administrative law judges, could aid in consistent application of the Commission's rules, and could speak on behalf of the administrative law judges on matters such as requests for resources. AMS submits that the references to a chief administrative law judge do not cause harm or confusion even though there currently is no chief administrative law judge, and suggests that the rule should be maintained in order to provide the Commission flexibility to appoint a chief administrative law judge in the future. AMS notes that the Commission might find a chief administrative law judge to be a helpful representative for the administrative law judges to speak on their behalf on particular matters, receive suggestions or concerns, and possibly coordinate responsibility for certain matters relating to administrative law judges.

The proposed amendments and revisions pertaining to eliminating the references to chief administrative law judge are withdrawn.

Subpart E—Discovery and Compulsory Process

Section 210.28

The NOPR proposed to amend § 210.28 to conform with the practice in the U.S. district courts under the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure whereby the stenographer is given the responsibility of serving copies of a deposition on all parties to the case. Under current Commission practice, the party taking the deposition is given this responsibility, and the only party currently required to be served with a copy is the Commission investigative attorney. AMS supports the proposed revision. MOFCOM comments that it is unclear under the proposed rule when a party will be notified that a transcript of a deposition is available, how a party can obtain a copy, and how much money the party should pay. No other specific comments were received. Because the rule charges the stenographic reporter with the distribution of the transcripts, and the concomitant responsibility of notifying the parties of the availability of the transcripts and their cost, the rule is unchanged.

Subpart F—Prehearing Conferences and Hearings

Section 210.39

The NOPR proposed to amend § 210.39(b) to require the filing of written notice with the Secretary whenever (1) a section 337 party/civil action litigant asks the court to issue an order staying the civil action, and (2) whenever the district court issues an order dissolving the stay and directing the Commission to transmit all or part of the record to the court. The proposed amendment requires that a party file written notice with the Commission on the same day that it asks the district court to stay the civil proceeding. The purpose of the proposed amendment is to clarify current Commission rule 210.39(b) and to make the rule more consistent with 28 U.S.C. 1659(b).

The ITCTLA agrees with clarifying § 210.39(b) and making it consistent with 28 U.S.C. 1659(b), but suggests that a party be required to notify the Commission only if the district court issues a stay of its proceedings or dissolves such a stay, stating that it would not be necessary to notify the Commission of a motion for a stay because a motion could be withdrawn or superseded by other events. The ITCTLA suggests an amendment to require parties to notify the Commission within ten days of the issuance or dissolution of a stay by the district court. AMS supports the ITCTLA's proposed amendment.

The ITCTLA suggestion would require the parties to notify the Commission only if there were an actual change in the status of the district court proceeding, and would clarify the time for parties to notify the Commission of the imposition of the stay or dissolution of the stay. Because the Commission finds this clarification to be beneficial, the commentator's suggestion is adopted in the rule.

Sections 210.42, 210.43, and 210.51 (Setting Target Dates)

The NOPR proposed to amend § 210.42(a)(1)(i) to provide that the administrative law judge would issue his final initial determination no later than four months before the target date for completion of the investigation, regardless of whether the target date has been set at over 15 months as the current rule provides. The NOPR proposed to amend §§ 210.42(h)(2) and 210.43(d)(1) to provide that the Commission will have two months to determine whether to review a final initial determination and two months for final disposition of the investigation in all investigations. The NOPR further proposed to amend § 210.51(a) by providing that if the target date set by order of the administrative law judge does not exceed 16 months from the date of institution, the order of the administrative law judge shall be final.

The ITCTLA comments that it believes the proposed rule would create a default target date for completion of most investigations of 16 months. The ITCTLA contends that the proposed rule would be counter to the legislative history of the current statutory guidance on time for completion of investigations. The ITCTLA cites a Federal Register notice from twelve years ago, well before the current surge in filings, in which the Commission stated that target dates for completion of section 337 investigations should rarely exceed 15 months. 61 FR 43432 (Aug. 13, 1996). The ITCTLA comments that the role that the Commission has achieved in section 337 investigations as one of the key forums for protection of valuable U.S. intellectual property rights rests on the speed and high quality of its adjudicatory process. The ITCTLA suggests that rather than lengthening the target date for section 337 investigations, the Commission instead devote additional resources to meet the current deadlines.

IPO comments that it believes the current rules are adequate to provide efficient resolution of section 337 proceedings while at the same time allowing for extensions of time when necessary. IPO adds that its members place much value in the Commission's prompt and effective resolution of section 337 investigations "particularly when compared to the pace of typical intellectual property disputes in the U.S. District Court system." IPO comments that the proposed rule would turn the exception into the rule, contrary to the stated goal of efficiency. IPO expresses concern that the proposed rule would also open the door to further expansion of time limits in future, and hence would "proceed down a slippery slope." IPO relies on section 337 and its legislative history. IPO suggests the hiring of additional administrative law judges and supports the filling of any vacant administrative law judge positions.

AMS does not support the revision, contending that it would effectively lengthen the time for completion of these investigations by one month, and AMS believes the proposed revision runs counter to the goal expressed in section 337 and its legislative history to resolve investigations "at the earliest practicable time." AMS understands that the increasing number and complexity of investigations have made it difficult to complete all investigations in 12 to 15 months but suggested that the Commission keep the current practice of granting itself additional time on a case-by-case basis. AIPLA's comments identify the same concerns as AMS, the ITCTLA, and IPO.

The Commission believes that the proposal to allow the administrative law judge to set a target date of 16 months by order rather than by initial determination would not set 16 months as the default length for every case nor change the current length of investigations, but would merely allow the administrative law judge to set 16 months as a target date by order where necessary. The Commission acknowledges that there have been certain investigations recently which have exceeded 15 months due to such factors as stays pending other proceedings and reassignment of cases due to the retirement of an administrative law judge, as well as the resource constraints relative to the recent surge in caseload. The Commission has been working to hire additional administrative law judges and staff and intends to revisit this rule after additional personnel and resources have been made available to the Office of Administrative Law Judges, including the hiring of additional administrative law judges.

The Commission notes that historically, the statute allowed 18 months for “more complicated” cases. “More complicated” referred to investigations “of an involved nature owing to the subject matter, difficulty in obtaining information, the large number of parties involved, or other significant factors.” 19 CFR 210.59(a) (1993). Typically these were investigations that required greater discovery because they (1) included multiple patents (and claims), (2) involved complex technology, and/or (3) included multiple respondents. See, e.g., Certain Static Random Access Memories and Integrated Circuits Devices Containing Same, Processes for Making Same, Components Thereof, and Products Containing Same, Inv. No. 337-TA-325, Order No. 5, 1991 WL 788641 (May 9, 1991) (“The ITC, however, must adjudicate all four patents and do so in a fraction of the time which will be available in the District Court in Texas. An additional six months is, therefore, not only advisable but clearly essential. In sum, as with other Section 337 investigations involving semiconductors which have been designated as ‘complicated’ by the Commission, this case should also be designated ‘more complicated’ in order to develop an adequate record.”), unreviewed by Commission Notice, 56 FR 28173 (June 19, 1991).

Historical practice shows that the “more complicated” designation was used only where necessary. See Certain Integrated Circuit Telecommunication Chips and Products Containing Same, Including Dialing Apparatus, Inv. No. 337-TA-337, Order No. 52, 1992 WL 811697 (Aug. 5, 1992) (recognizing that the Commission would not designate every case “more complicated”) (“The ‘more complicated’ designation should be used sparingly and only when clearly required.”), unreviewed by Commission Notice, 57 FR 40922 (Sept. 8, 1992). A majority of the cases filed today meet the criteria for “more complicated” case under former Commission rule § 210.59(a) (1993). We also note the importance of administrative judges allowing sufficient time for discovery.

The amendment to allow investigation target dates to be set at 16 months by order was proposed in view of the proposed four-month period for the Commission to complete its review. However, nothing in the proposed rule mandates a 16-month target date in every case, and the Commission does not expect the judges to set a 16-month target date in every investigation. Moreover, the administrative law judges currently have authority to set target dates by initial determination longer than 15 months. Therefore, we do not expect that this change will increase the number of investigations with target dates longer than 15 months. The rule change, however, will streamline Commission practice by making it less likely that the Commission will need to extend its “whether to review” deadline. Moreover, the parties will have a more predictable date for responding to Commission requests for any briefing on review when the Commission deadline for determining whether to review a final ID is 60 days in every investigation. Therefore, the rule is unchanged from the proposed rule.

Section 210.43(b)(1)

The NOPR proposed to amend § 210.43(b)(1) to require that any petition for review exceeding 50 pages in length be accompanied by a summary not to exceed ten pages, that responses to petitions should similarly contain such summaries, and that there be a 100-page limit exclusive of the summaries for the length of petitions for review of final initial determinations on a matter other than temporary relief. The ITCTLA opposes the proposed rule because initial determinations and their associated findings of fact may themselves be hundreds of pages and hence would be hard to address in a 100-page petition for review. In this connection, the ITCTLA notes that the technology itself may be complex and difficult to address in 100 pages, and that under current § 210.43(b)(3), issues not addressed in a petition for review will be deemed waived. AIPLA makes similar observations and further notes that some investigations involve multiple parties, multiple patents, multiple claims and claim limitations, and contested issues of claim construction, validity, and infringement. AIPLA supports the proposal that a party must include a summary to provide an overview of longer petitions for review. AMS comments that it does not support the proposed rule because some complex investigations have initial determinations which would be too lengthy to address in a 100-page petition for review. AMS also notes that it would be necessary to address an issue to preserve it for an appeal to the Federal Circuit, as reflected in the proposed amendment to § 210.43(b)(3). MOFCOM also comments that it believes 100 pages are insufficient.

The commentators’ main concern is the need for the parties to preserve issues for appeal before the Commission and the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Federal Circuit. Yet the Federal Rules of Appellate Procedure, which apply to the Federal Circuit, limit principal briefs to 30 pages, 14,000 words, or 1,300 lines of text if monospaced. Rule 7(A), (B). Given the court’s page limitations, the Commission believes it is reasonable to conclude that a 100-page petition for review could accommodate all issues which a party may wish to preserve for a possible appeal to the Federal Circuit. Moreover, the Commission believes that the page limits will increase the quality of analysis by encouraging the parties to focus on what they perceive to be reversible errors. Therefore, the rules are unchanged from the proposed rule.

Subpart I—Enforcement Procedures and Advisory Opinions

Section 210.71, 210.75, and 210.79

The NOPR proposed to amend § 210.71 and 210.79 and to further amend § 210.75 to clarify the procedures for the analysis of changed conditions, for the filing of enforcement proceedings, and for requests for advisory opinions. Specifically, the NOPR proposed to amend § 210.75 relating to enforcement of Commission orders to clarify that under section 337, the Commission may impose its own civil penalty which it may enforce in district court rather than having to have the district court impose the civil penalty in the first instance. MOFCOM comments that “it is confusing that the ITC, as an administrative authority, is permitted to initiate a civil action based on an administrative order.” Section 210.75 is based on the statutory authority granted by Congress to the Commission to bring civil actions in U.S. district court to enforce its orders and in aid of its jurisdiction under 19 U.S.C. 1333(c) and 1337(f)(2). The role of the courts in the enforcement of agency orders is important to agencies where necessary to ensure compliance with the administration of statutory schemes by agencies. AMS supports the revisions. No other comments were received. Therefore, the rules are unchanged.

Other Suggestions

MOFCOM also suggests that the Commission establish a procedure to suspend Commission investigations at the request of a respondent when the USPTO has instituted a reexamination proceeding of a patent at issue. MOFCOM further suggests that the Commission analyze the effect of recent jurisprudence in eBay Inc v. MercExchange, L.L.C. on the general exclusion order procedure. In addition, AIPLA suggests that the Commission promulgate a rule to govern the manner in which parties serve each other with documents electronically, whereas the Commission currently allows the parties to stipulate rules for electronic service among themselves. The Commission appreciates the suggestions for further areas of rulemaking. However, because these issues were not the subject of any proposed rule, they will not be addressed in this rulemaking.

Subpart H—Temporary Relief

- 29. Revise § 210.54 to read as follows:

§ 210.54 Service of motion by the complainant.

Notwithstanding the provisions of § 210.11 regarding service of the complaint by the Commission upon institution of an investigation, on the day the complainant files a complaint with the Commission (see § 210.8(a)(1) and § 210.8(a)(2) of subpart B of this part), the complainant must serve non-confidential copies of both documents (as well as non-confidential copies of all materials or documents attached thereto) on all proposed respondents and on the embassy in Washington, DC of the country in which each proposed respondent is located as indicated in the Complaint. If a complainant files any supplemental information with the Commission prior to institution, nonconfidential copies of that supplemental information must be served on all proposed respondents and on the embassy in Washington, DC of the country in which each proposed respondent is located as indicated in the complaint. The complaint, motion, and supplemental information, if any, shall be served by messenger, overnight delivery, or equivalent means. A signed certificate of service must accompany the complaint and motion for temporary relief. If the certificate does not accompany the complaint and the motion, the Secretary shall not accept the complaint or the motion and shall promptly notify the submitter. Actual proof of service on each respondent and embassy (e.g., certified mail return receipts, messenger, or overnight delivery receipts, or other proof of delivery)—or proof of a serious but unsuccessful effort to make such service—must be filed within 10 days after the filing of the complaint and motion. BILLING CODE 7020-02-P

ENVIRONMENTAL PROTECTION AGENCY

40 CFR Part 52

[EPA-R05-OAR-2007-0183; FRL-8575-3]

Approval and Promulgation of Air Quality Implementation Plans; Illinois; Revisions to Emission Reduction Market System

AGENCY: Environmental Protection Agency (EPA).

ACTION: Final rule.

SUMMARY: In 1997, Illinois adopted and submitted rules establishing a cap and trade program regulating emissions of volatile organic compounds (VOC). The program, known as the Emission Reduction Market System (ERMS), was designed to address VOC sources in the Chicago area with potential to emit at least 25 tons per year. Then, in 2004, the Chicago ozone nonattainment area was in effect reclassified from severe to moderate, which according to EPA guidance revised the applicable definition of major sources from 25 tons per year to 100 tons per year. This "reclassification" could have resulted in the program no longer including sources with potential to emit more than 25 but less than 100 tons per year. Instead, Illinois adopted rule revisions, submitted to EPA on January 10, 2007, which required that these sources remain part of the program. Illinois' rule revisions also addressed other potential ramifications of the "reclassification." EPA is approving these rule revisions.

DATES: This final rule is effective August 6, 2008.

I. Description and Review of Illinois' Submittal

On January 10, 2007, Illinois submitted revisions to Part 205 of Title 35 of the Illinois Administrative Code, entitled "Emissions Reduction Market System" (ERMS). ERMS is a cap and trade program addressing VOC emissions in the Chicago area. Under ERMS, Illinois issues allowances equivalent to 12 percent less than baseline VOC emission levels, and requires affected sources to hold allowances equivalent to their VOC emissions during the ozone season. The program thereby requires overall VOC emission levels to be reduced to 12 percent below baseline levels. Illinois adopted the original rules for this program on November 20, 1997, and submitted the rules to EPA on December 16, 1997. EPA approved those rules on October 15, 2001, at 66 FR 52359.

Part 205 requires participation of all major VOC sources in the Chicago area. More specifically, the version of Section 205.200 that Illinois adopted in 1997 stated that "The requirements of this Part shall apply to any source * * * located in the Chicago ozone nonattainment area that is required to obtain a [Title V permit], and [has VOC emissions during the ozone season of at least 10 tons]." The requirement for a Title V operating permit applies to major sources. Since the Chicago area at that time was classified as a severe ozone nonattainment area, major sources were defined to include sources with the potential to emit 25 tons per year or more of VOC.

In 2004, EPA classified the Chicago ozone nonattainment area as moderate for the 8-hour ozone standard, and effective in 2005 rescinded the severe classification for the 1-hour ozone standard. The definition of major sources for moderate ozone nonattainment areas includes sources with the potential to emit 100 tons per year or more of VOC. According to EPA guidance (see 69 FR 23951, April 30, 2004), the replacement of the prior classification of severe with a classification of moderate thus meant that sources with potential to emit at least 25 tons per year but less than 100 tons per year of VOC would no longer be major sources and would no longer be required to have Title V operating permits. As a result, the sources in the Chicago area in this size range would no longer be subject to the ERMS requirements, given the applicability criteria in section 205.200 as quoted above.

Illinois estimated that the loss of these intermediate sized sources from ERMS would result in a loss of 330 tons of VOC emission reduction per ozone season associated with these sources. Illinois sought to avoid this loss of sources from the program. Consequently, Illinois revised section 205.200 to redefine applicability to include sources with potential to emit at least 25 tons of VOC (and sources otherwise required to have a Title V permit) and at least 10 tons of VOC emissions during the ozone season. By this means, Illinois revised its applicability provisions to include the same set of sources as were included in 1997, notwithstanding the change in the classification of the Chicago ozone nonattainment area.

Under the 1997 rules, since by definition all the affected sources had a Title V permit, Illinois used the Title V permits to establish several elements of the ERMS program. Most notably, Illinois used the source's Title V permit to specify the number of allowances to be issued to the source (Cf. section 205.315) and the source-specific VOC monitoring methods (Cf. section 205.330).

Since (under EPA's guidance) sources with potential emissions between 25 and 100 tons per year were no longer subject to a requirement for a Title V permit, the State needed an alternative means of specifying source-specific ERMS provisions. Illinois therefore adopted section 205.316, to provide that sources included in ERMS but not required to obtain a Title V permit were required either to request a Title V permit anyway or to apply for a federally enforceable state operating
